HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Driven From Bed by Fire in House

Mr. and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson had narrow escapes from being either suffocated by smoke or burned to death when a fire broke out in their home at the corner of Andover and Harrison streets shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. The fire was caused by an overheated fireplace but was extinguished before much damage was done. The smoke in the house was so thick that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Thompson had a chance to dress themselves, and rushed into the street in light attire.

Inasmuch as the weather yesterday was rather damp, Mr. Thompson started a fire in the fireplace last night, but extinguished it before he retired for the night. The fire, however, got so hot that it heated the timbers underneath the fireplace and evidently burned until the header pin dropped off into a pile of kindling wood in the cellar and set that afire.

A woman who resides in the upper tenement of the building on the opposite corner was awakened by the strong odor of smoke and telephoning to the people who occupy the tenement below informed them that there was a fire across the street. The lower tenement is occupied by Mr. Edward A. Barnes and when the telephone bell sounded one of the occupants of the place tried to call Mr. Thompson on the telephone, but inasmuch as the blaze had burned the telephone wires there was no answer. Mrs. Barnes then sent in a telephone alarm and in a short space of time several pieces of apparatus were on the scene.

Dense clouds of smoke were pouring through the cellar windows when the department arrived and owing to the smoke the firemen had considerable difficulty in getting at the base of the fire. They were on the premises but a short time, however, when they had the fire under control but not before the contents of the cellar had been destroyed and one side of the house scorched.

Two valuable Boston terriers and a cat were suffocated by the smoke in the cellar.

The smoke awakened Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and they had considerable difficulty in making their escape from the building, not even having time to don more than a few articles of wearing apparel.

Fred C. Church held the insurance on the house of Perry D. Thompson, 185 Andover street.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

Blaze Broke Out in the Residence of John Anctil

The residence of John Anctil on the Dunstable road in Westford was destroyed by fire about midnight last night. The cause of the fire is unknown and the occupants of the house had to make a hurried exit in order to save their lives.

The building was a two-story wooden affair and the blaze got such a start before it was discovered that those who rushed to the assistance were unable to check the flames.

The insurance on the building and furniture was carried through the agency of Fred C. Church.

Police Board Places Ban on Moving Pictures of Her

The "Beattie Motion Pictures" will not be shown in Lowell.

The police commissioners today notified all the moving picture theatres of Lowell to that effect, and a word from the commissioners goes.

A few days ago Police Commissioner John J. Mullaney read in a newspaper that Beulah Binford, the woman in the case had posed for moving pictures in New York about the time that a Virginia jury was reporting a verdict of murder against her "friend" Beattie.

"So this Binford woman is going to display herself on the moving picture film is she?" said Commissioner Mullaney to a friend who was nearby. Then he added, "I think that all the decent women of Lowell have heard about all they want to about Beattie and Binford and have no desire to see her even through the medium of motion pictures."

"What are you going to do about it?" was asked.

"Nothing until I confer with Messrs. Hanson and Boulger and then perhaps you'll hear something."

The conference was held yesterday and this morning each picture show in town was notified that the police commissioners requested that no pictures of the Beattie case or of Miss Binford be shown in Lowell. It is understood that but for Commissioner Mullaney's action the pictures would be shown here in a short time.

Speaking of the case with a reporter of The Sun, Commissioner Mullaney said today: "Of course in a city of the size and cosmopolitan character of Lowell we have a community of diversified tastes and what one person would applaud another might look upon with horror. It is seldom that we take occasion to express our views to the picture show people as to what they shall run or shall not run. I have seen moving pictures that didn't appeal to me but which seemed to please the audience. On the other hand I have enjoyed pictures to which other people have objected. We placed the ban on the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures because of the popular objection to them. Now if these fight pictures were not proper for the public to witness certainly the pictures of this Binford woman are not proper and to exploit her on the film after what has been written about the case, in the opinion of this board, would be a rank insult to decent womanhood. There is no law on the statute books to prevent the picture being shown and some may say that we are assuming authority in our action. But the scope of the police commission is somewhat broader than the exclusive work of regulating the liquor traffic and if the board can do anything to preserve and protect the morals of the city it is going to do it."

JUDGE RYAN TALKS

Oregon Visitor Talks of the New Charter and Other Matters

Mr. James W. Ryan of 64 Tolman avenue has a very distinguished guest at his home in the person of his son, Judge Thomas F. Ryan of Oregon City, Oregon. Judge Ryan arrived in this city last Friday and every minute of his time has been taken up in visiting the different cities of this and neighboring states, including Fall River, Boston, Springfield, New Bedford, Providence, Woonsocket, R. I., and Hartford, Conn. While in Lowell the judge was also the guest of his sister, Mrs. Andrew Healey, who is making her home with her father.

Judge Ryan started today for Indianapolis, Ind., where he will attend the convention of the Sovereign Grand lodge of Odd Fellows, which will open Monday to be continued all week. On the following Monday he will attend the National Good Roads convention, and on Wednesday he will be a delegate to the National Conservation convention which will assemble in Kansas City.

The judge is an interesting speaker and a great politician. He is the owner of a large farm at Gladstone, between Oregon City and Portland, as well as a large ranch situated near Mt. Hood, 12,000 feet over the sea level, while his residence is in Salem. His farm in Oregon City is situated near where the proposed 1300 mile automobile road will be constructed through the state as part of a great highway from British Columbia to Mexico. The place is ideal for a home as there are all kinds of railroad facilities as well as steamboat convenience. Peaches are grown the most in that locality and 800 beautiful peach trees can be seen on the Ryan farm as well as several other kinds of fruit.

Judge Ryan is at the head of a large law business in Oregon City and has been connected with politics since his arrival in the west, 39 years ago. He has held several important offices, namely, mayor of Oregon City for five years, judge for 12 years and city recorder for a number of years. Now he is deputy state treasurer, a position he has held since last November, and at the coming election he will be a candidate for the position of treasurer, which position he said he lost by the toss of a coin last year. There were two candidates for that office on the same ticket and in order not to split the vote, the candidates tossed up a coin with the result that the judge was beaten.

Commission Charter in Portland

In talking about politics, the judge said that the state of Oregon cannot be beaten. Mr. W. S. U'Ren, father of the referendum and Australian ballot in this country, is a resident of Salem, and he is as much interested in political affairs as he ever was when he first introduced the Australian ballot in Salem. Baker City, a short distance from Portland, has adopted the new charter about on the same principle as the proposed Lowell charter. This new form of government was adopted two years ago and has already made its mark. It was so successful that at the last election in Portland, the voters of that city also adopted it. Portland has a population of about 280,000, and the legislators have nothing to do with the city charter. The city government under the new charter is composed of a mayor and two commissioners, the mayor receiving a salary of $6,000 a year, while the commissioners receive each $5,000. The three members of the commission are being elected for a term of two years, but it is so arranged that there is always a member of the last commission in office, one of the commissioners at the first election being chosen for one year.

Besides these officials, there are also several commissions such as the water, park, dock, harbor, police commissions, etc., which are named by the mayor. The licenses are controlled by the city government, the license fee being regulated by the state officials, while the licenses are given out by the city officials, this commission being separate from the police commission.

The Oregon legislators have practically put an end to the grafting business by passing a law entitled the "corrupt practice act," which forces the candidates to file an itemized list of their campaign expenses, the candidates not being allowed to spend more than 25 per cent. of a year's salary. Again they are stopped from contributing money for any movement or advertisement. The state issues a book in which the candidates can advertise, and a copy of this pamphlet is mailed to every voter of the state. The legislators receive a salary of $3 per day for 40 days and no more, even though the session would last one year.

The majority by 5 to 1 of the voters in Oregon are republicans, although the governor and the United States senator are of the other party.

Judge Ryan is the father of four children, two boys and two girls, and a boy triplets, the latter now deceased. He has been in Lowell on several occasions, but he says he would prefer the western life to Lowell, as the climate is far better than here, the temperature being the same all the year round.

ELECTION PUZZLE

Supreme Court Refuses Writ of Mandamus

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 16.—The supreme court announced yesterday its refusal to grant a premeptory writ of mandamus compelling County Clerk John T. Crosby of Hudson county to certify the name of Felix D. Tumulty as a candidate for the democratic nomination for sheriff. The decision was announced verbally by Chief Justice Gummere and was based primarily upon the ruling that the provision of the new corrupt practices act requiring candidates to certify the names of the members of the finance committee who will have charge of their campaigns is mandatory.

Failure to designate the finance committee within the required period, the court held, operates as a refusal on the part of the candidates to run. This ruling was held to be applicable not only where the candidate actually designates a committee but also where he elects to be his own campaign manager, which is permitted by the law. In either event, the chief justice said, the candidate must make public who is to handle his campaign funds.

The chief justice said that County Clerk Crosby had properly performed his official duty when he notified Tumulty that because of his failure to comply with the provisions of the law he must consider him as having failed to run. Several other points argued by counsel for Tumulty were dismissed by the court as being without merit. The effect of the decision will be that Tumulty, if he is to be a candidate for sheriff, will have to run as an independent.

The court also refused an application made Thursday by Frank McKee, a lawyer of Bridgeton, for a peremptory writ of mandamus compelling the city clerk to place his name on the primary ballots as a candidate for county committeeman. Chief Justice Gummere said that if any of the lawyers wished further information as to the reasons for the refusal they might consult the court. Two conflicting sections of the election laws were involved in the dispute, and it is believed the court is still uncertain as to which should prevail.

MISSION TO OPEN

At St. Peter's Church Tomorrow

A two weeks' mission will open at St. Peter's church tomorrow, the formal opening taking place at high mass. The mission will be preached by the Augustinian fathers and the first week will be for the women of the parish. The order of services for the retreat will be announced tomorrow.

DEFIES CAPTAIN

MAN WHO KIDNAPPED GIRL IS STILL AT LARGE

MANITOU, Sept. 16.—With over a thousand men searching the rough country covering an area of twenty miles between here and the border for the man who kidnapped Gladys Price, the young school teacher here, the fugitive has defied capture for three days. The girl positively identified yesterday the police photograph of a man known to the Winnipeg police as Wesley Osborne as her assailant. The identification was made easy by a livid scar on the man's face. Osborne was jailed at Winnipeg some weeks ago as a vagrant with a revolver in his possession. Apparently he is the man known in this locality as Henry Bill Wilson.

All border towns in the United States have received a description of this man with orders to hold him. The Canadian posses have orders to take him even if it is necessary to kill him.

A desperate patient by the name of A. Ness escaped from Brandon asylum some months ago and there is suspicion that the girl's assailant is this man, but if so he has received the scar since escaping.

Mounted police are being concentrated at the scene to aid in the search and many Indian and halfbreed trailers are out with bloodhounds.

THE JULIA BERKLE

IS SAFELY ANCHORED IN NANTASKET ROADS

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—After narrowly escaping destination on the ledges jutting out from Boston light, the schooner Julia Berkle is today safely anchored in Nantasket Roads. For six hours yesterday the four men on board faced what seemed to be probable death while the vessel pounded on the rocks. They had almost given up hope when the tug Orion came alongside and after three hours work succeeded in dragging the Berkle into deep water. The grounding was the culmination of a three days fight against furious gales and heavy seas. The schooner left Calais, Me., a week ago, loaded with lumber and shingles bound for Nantucket.

BOUGHT A STEAMER

BATH, Me., Sept. 16.—John Davis and William Sawyer of this city have purchased the steamer Merida, formerly owned by the Red D line of New York and South America. The steamer was built in Philadelphia in 1880. The first of the year a new steamer of the same name was built for the Red D line, since which time the old Merida has been tied up in this city.

PREMIER LAURIER

Will be Returned Without Opposition

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 16.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be returned for Quebec east by acclamation. R. Leduc, who was nominated to oppose him, has retired from the field.

IMPOSING CEREMONY

STATUE OF ST. ANTHONY TO BE BLESSED

An imposing ceremony will be held at Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street tomorrow evening when a statue of St. Anthony will be blessed. The ceremony will take place after vespers, which will be sung at 6.30 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Lamothe, O. M. I., pastor of the parish, to officiate.

The statue is a fine piece of work and is known as St. Anthony's Bread. It represents St. Anthony with the infant Jesus in his arms, while beside him stands an aged man receiving a loaf of bread from the saint. This magnificent piece of work was purchased with the receipts of a whist party recently given by some women of the parish.

GOVERNORS HOMEWARD BOUND

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 16.—With a solitary exception the last of the 20 governors in session here yesterday is homeward bound today. The exception was Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, who tarried to keep a dinner engagement with former Governor Fort of New Jersey.

FUNERAL NOTICES

BOLLS—The funeral of Bridget A. Bolls will take place Monday morning at 7 o'clock from the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons. The remains will be forwarded to Putnam, Conn., for burial. Burial will take place in St. Mary's cemetery. Services will be held at Putnam. J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

O'CONNOR—The funeral of the late Michael O'Connor will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his home, 22 Lagrange street. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. A mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

BASEBALL GAME POSTPONED

American at Philadelphia—Chicago-Philadelphia second game postponed, rain. Double header Monday.

MISS ANNA O'DAY

Chosen Dressmaker at Industrial School

Miss Anna O'Day of Central street, corner of Elm, a popular dressmaker, has been appointed to take charge of that department in the Morrill school. Miss O'Day learned her trade with the Misses Bonan, well known dressmakers, formerly of this city and now of Boston. She is a practical worker who can teach the art in all its branches. She has worked a great deal for Mrs. C. A. Stott, Mrs. Walter Parker and other prominent ladies in this city.

ROBBERY THE MOTIVE

For the Murder of Mrs. Giannette, the Police Say

CLIFTONDALE, Sept. 16.—Police officers yesterday made a search of the house where Mrs. Carmella Giannetti was murdered yesterday to see if they could find any of the $97 which her husband says she had secreted in the house. The chief found $12 under a lamp on a bureau. No trace could be found of the missing $85.

It has been the belief of the police that robbery was the motive of the murder.

This forenoon Giannetti was still held but the police said they intended to take him to court and ask for his discharge, as they are satisfied he had no knowledge of the crime.

THE SOCIALIST PARTY

Held State Convention and Nominated Candidates for Office

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The socialist party held its state convention in this city today, a large number of delegates being present.

The ticket was decided on today as follows:

Governor, James A. Carey, Haverhill; lieutenant governor, Walter S. Hutchins, Greenfield; secretary of state, Rose E. Fenner, Worcester; state treasurer, Sylvester McBride, Watertown; attorney general, George Roower, Jr., Boston.

These candidates were selected at a party convention held at Worcester early in August, but in order for the nominations to be legal it is necessary to hold a formal state convention to nominate the ticket and today's meeting will be merely in the nature of a formal ratification of the candidates selected at Worcester. The nominee at Worcester for the office of state treasurer was a Fitchburg man named Ryan but he declined the nomination and it is necessary for today's convention to select a candidate in his place.

The call for today's convention set four o'clock as the time for opening.

CREDITORS MEET

TRUSTEES NAMED FOR THE COMPANY

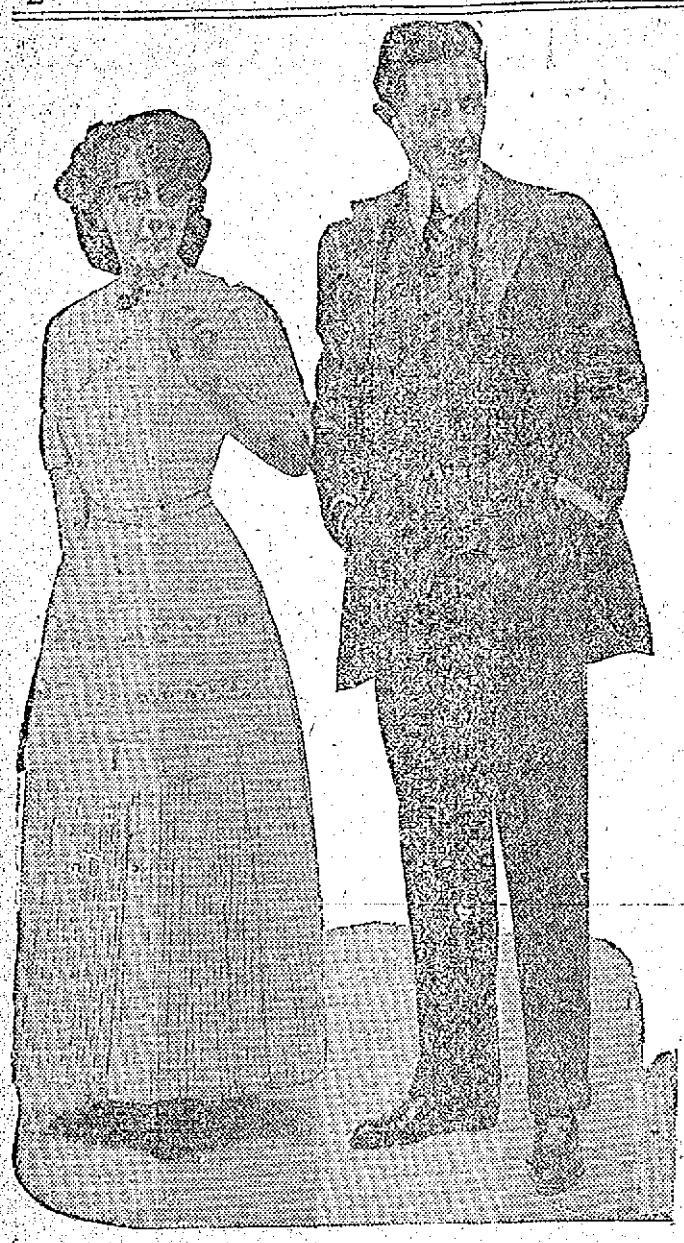

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 16.—The first meeting of the creditors of the United Wireless Telegraph Co. lately declared bankrupt, was held yesterday before Referee Lewis Pierce. Senator Bacon of New York, who has been named receiver; Philip G. Clifford and John H. Hall of Portland were appointed trustees and the bond fixed at $50,000.

Mr. Bacon moved for a postponement to adjust several important matters before the qualification of the trustees, mentioning specially litigation now pending in the English courts between the United and the Marconi companies and also raising the point that the receiver had not yet been able to get possession of the property in Washington, Louisiana, Texas and California.

Referee Pierce ruled that no further time could be allowed for the trustees to qualify beyond the statutory ten days, with five days additional at his discretion.

The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow morning, when claims of creditors will be heard.

LEADING CHARACTERS IN "THE CLIMAX"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Tonight is the last of the engagement of the Taylor Stock company at the Opera House and the play selected as the closing one is the sensational four act comedy drama "Just Struck Town" in which Harry Moore is seen in one of his best parts and the other members of the company are cast to good advantage. New vaudeville features will be seen between the acts. Prices for tonight are 10, 20 and 30 cents.—Adv.

"THE CLIMAX"

Every member of the cast of players which will give "The Climax" at the Opera House, Tuesday, Sept. 19, is not only an actor but also a piano player, singer, and especially an educated musician. Mr. Joe Weber, the producer, has had a great deal of difficulty in securing players who combine these talents. He is said to have seen over 1500 players before the proper material could be secured. Seats are now on sale.—Adv.

"HIS HONOR THE MAYOR"

Harry Kelly in the role of Deacon Flood which he has made famous throughout the country in the musical comedy "His Honor the Mayor," will be seen at the Opera house, on Thursday, Sept. 21, for one performance only.

This is one of the best entertainments of the season, as Mr. Kelly is surrounded by many of the original cast, many new musical numbers have been introduced with the old hits retained, new costumes and scenery and a chorus of pretty girls noted for their youth and beauty.—Adv.

"THE GIRL IN THE TAXI"

"The Girl in the Taxi," which comes to the Opera House, Sept. 22, for an engagement of two nights and matinee was first produced in Paris under the title "Le Fils a Papa," which might be rendered "Like Father Like Son." The piece created one of the greatest sensations the French metropolis has ever known and ran for more than 1,000 nights. It was originally written by Anthony Mars, that past master in the art of intrigue. The American adaptation was made by Stanislaus Stange, and holds the record for the long runs of any similar play in New York, Chicago and Boston. The locale has been changed from Paris to New York, but the play retains all the humor and atmosphere of midnight life which made it so popular abroad.—Adv.

"THE NEST EGG"

Two clever women have leaped into fame at a bound, one helping the other. Zelda Sears as a star and Anne Caldwell as authoress, and the happy medium was a play with the title of "The Nest Egg," which was successfully produced at the Bijou theatre, New York and eulogized with perfect accord by every critic of note in the big city.

The play is an American comedy and brightly scintillates with American humor, and by that is meant humor that is not typical, but new. It has a clever story, some very pretty and unconventional sentiment, the lines being unusually bright and there is not a dull moment in it, front start to finish. Miss Sears is a comedienne of rare and legitimate methods, never stooping to get a laugh by other than high class means and therefore all the more deserving of praise. She has been identified with the Clyde Fitch plays for a long time, in fact, Mr. Fitch never wrote a play in the past ten years that he did not write in a part for Zelda Sears, and so well did he have her measure, that she has never been identified with a failure.—Adv.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Remember the first of the Keith Sunday concerts will begin tomorrow and two performances will be given, at 2.15 and 8.15. The bill will include, besides five reels of new moving pictures on Pathe, Selig, Edison and S. and A. films four first-class acts, including J. K. Murray and Clara Lane in operatic selections; Flanagan and Edwards in a singing and talking act; Col. Sam Holdsworth, America's oldest professional singer, whose sweet tenor voice has charmed hundreds during the week and Gordon and Keys, the delightful colored performers. The prices for both afternoon and evening are: Second balcony, 10 cents; entire floor and first balcony, 20 cents. There will be no reserved seats and the first to come will get the best.

An exceptionally strong bill is offered for next week with Rose Coghlan, one of America's foremost actresses at the head. Miss Coghlan will appear in a new comedy drama written especially for her and entitled "Between Matinee and Night." The plot of this piece deals with a side of theatrical life with which the public in general is little acquainted, life in the dressing-room and behind the scenes. Miss Coghlan has the part of a prominent Broadway star who comes in contact with the stage-struck daughter of a millionaire. The girl is headstrong and refuses to listen to the advice of her parents, but the actress soon shows her the error of her ways, and sends the young woman home repentant. Miss Coghlan's daughter Rosalind will play the part of the millionaire daughter.

Leo Carello is a natural-born comedian and having had long newspaper experience knows human nature well, particularly its funny side. Mr. Carello is an imitator, illustrator and story-teller and dull care has no place within the hearing of his voice.

Miss Hilda Hawthorne stands at the head of female ventriloquists and her act is one of the finest of its kind in vaudeville. Thomas Moir and company do a remarkably funny skit entitled "The Ice Man." There is nothing frosty about the act except its name.

Cutter and Boulden do a great stunt with piano and banjo, while they sing and dance in inimitable manner.

Kit Karson is not only an expert performer but is also an expert marksman and does a shooting act while on the wire, a most difficult and unusual act. Then there is the Great Sawtelle in the pastimes of a Gladiator. Sawtelle not only juggles with tremendous weights but he also does many funny feats of strength. The bill as usual will conclude with a new reel for daylight pictures.

The box office is open daily from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. and seats may be ordered in advance by telephone 28.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Donald Meek stock company will offer as next week's attraction "The Barrier," a beautiful dramatization of Rex Beach's great novel of that title, considered one of the most interesting of latter day dramas. The play in the opinion of the critics is far superior to Faversham's great success, "The Squaw Man" and "The Girl from the Golden West," two great dramatic successes of similar atmosphere. "The Barrier" deals with life in a little mining town on the Yukon river about the time that gold was discovered when adventurers from all over the country sought the new-found El Dorado, and the love of a gallant young army officer for a beautiful daughter of the frontier who is supposed to be a half breed having been raised by a squaw, but who in reality is a white girl who was stolen from home while a baby by a former suitor of her mother. The girl believes the trader who stole her away and his squaw to be her parents and the fact of her nativity throws her lover into despair on account of the social barrier that exists between them. Love gets the better of discretion and he agrees to give up all hope of future advancement and marry his half-breed sweetheart while she, learning the sacrifice that a marriage to her would mean to him, refuses to become his wife. Meanwhile through a series of most thrilling events the girl's own father appears on the scene and the real facts of her birth are disclosed with a happy ending. From her childhood the girl is the companion of a rough, but big-hearted French-Canadian woodsman whom she regards as a brother, but who fain would marry her though he can never get the courage of the words to express his devotion. Toward the close he saves her life and restores her to her lover and then departs to seek a new country. The Frenchman is a most striking character, "Poleon of the Great Heart" as he is called and will be played by Mr. Donald Meek, whose versatility assures a most acceptable interpretation of the role. The character blends humor and pathos most delicately and Mr. Meek may be depended upon to make the most of the part. Mr. Rockliffe Fellowes will be seen to good advantage in the role of Meade Burrill, the young officer while a particularly congenial role is assigned to Miss Marie Horton who will present the role of "Necia," the half-breed girl. Miss Horton's part calls for much emotional acting in which she is at her best. Mr. Charles Stevens will assume the role of John Gale, the old trader and foster-father of Necia. Miss Hunt will play "Alluna" the foster-mother of Necia. The play will be elaborately staged, special attention having been given to the scenery and accessories. Seats are now on sale for next week's performances.—Adv.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The coming week at the Merrimack Square theatre marks the completion of the first year of this popular playhouse in Lowell, and to observe the event the management has secured a bill of unusual attractiveness for its patrons. On Wednesday evening a special program will be given, the feature of it being the rendition, for the first time, by the Merrimack Square Theatre Concert orchestra of "The Merrimack Square Theatre March," a recent composition by Phil M. Lederman.

Miss Mabel McKinley, niece of the late President William McKinley, will provide the feature attraction for the week, in presenting some of her latest song successes. Miss McKinley is a vocalist of recognized ability, her bookings in the past ranking with the best in the musical world. Besides being the possessor of an excellent soprano voice, she is a composer of merit, having written several songs that met with the general approval of the music-loving public. Among her most successful compositions were "Golden Rod," "Anona," "Feather Queen," "Karama," and several others. Miss McKinley is a pianist and generally accompanies herself in all of her songs.

Kendall Weston and his associate players of Our Stock company will appear in a delightful one-act play, "For Him," written by Henry D. Coolidge, clerk of the Massachusetts senate. The piece is a clever composition and should score heavily with the patrons. Mr. Weston will be found in a role best suited to his artistic accomplishments as an actor, and Miss Phelps and Mr. Reese will also be pleasantly cast. The staging of the play will be capably looked after.

Other contributors for the week will be Nelson and Milledge, in their laughable sketch "The Secret." Too much is known by theatregoers of this favorite pair's ability as entertainers to dwell on the fact at this time other than to give the assurance that they are as amusing as ever before. Ed Winchester will give a musical comedy act that is said to be one of the best in its line, and Miss Anna McMahon, soloist, will be heard in the latest songs. The photo-plays will be the best to be had.

For the sacred concerts Sunday afternoon and evening the following high class artists will appear in refined acts: Wan-A-Tea, the Heidelburg Four, Dan Harrington, Eva Weston, and others. The photo-plays will be new and the kind that are approved by the state.—Adv.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tomorrow the Theatre Voyons will offer its usual excellent Sunday program composed of the very best motion pictures and the choicest musical numbers. On Monday the big feature will be "The Declaration of Independence," which is number four of the Edison historical series. This picture correctly tells the story of the birth of this great republic and the film makers have followed historical facts to the minutest details in putting together this feature. It should be seen by every American and especially by every child. The balance of the bill is a strong one, full of good things and just the kind of a program that will appeal to all.—Adv.

MILEAGE LAWS

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS WANT THEM TO BE UNIFORM

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Commercial travelers and the general public are endeavoring to secure a mileage book from the New Haven road which shall be good for over the Boston and Maine and the Maine Central lines. Commercial men object to the fact they are compelled to purchase several different mileage books to travel over the subsidiary lines of the same company. The purchase of such books demands that the travelers have a large working capital and invest their money in a number of books, whereas the railroads would lose nothing by allowing the use of one book.

The Boston and Maine road objects to the proposition on the ground, it is alleged, that the majority of the purchases will be made at offices of the New Haven road. The books of the Boston and Maine, therefore, will not show as large a volume of business at the end of the year as if the mileage books were bought at its own offices.

A year ago the officers of the Commercial Travelers' Eastern Accident association were instructed to negotiate with the New Haven road looking toward a mileage book good on all the roads controlled by them. After considerable negotiations the Maine Central made its mileage good on the Washington county, Somerset county and the Sebastocook and Moosehead lines.

The association has been assured by General Passenger Agent Smith of the New Haven that as soon as the books can be printed those of the New Haven will be good over the Boston and Albany.

The association is the largest similar organization in New England, and added to its membership is the assured assistance of all the commercial travelers' associations, with a total membership of about 100,000. If the agitation produces the desired result it will benefit the general public as much as the members of the association.

THE GRAND JURY

To Probe the Charge of Alleged Bribery

LAWRENCE, Sept. 16.—A sweeping investigation into the charges that one of the jury in the Lyons conspiracy case that was tried in Salem last year was reached is being made by the grand jury sitting here.

One of the jurors who tried the case, Robert E. Webb of Methuen, was in court yesterday with his wife and daughter, ready to testify, but no evidence was taken. Webb was summoned on "John Doe" proceedings.

Mrs. Goodwin, who was a court stenographer at the trial, was also present to testify and carried a number of notebooks with her. She was in the district attorney's office at the time of the trial. The case has been investigated by State Officers Flynn and Wells.

At the time of the Lyons trial, when the jury disagreed, the vote stood 10 to 1 for acquittal.

N. E. LEAGUE MEETING

Will be Held in Boston On Monday

The New England league will hold a meeting in Boston, Monday evening at which the election of President Murnane and Secretary Morse will come up. Edward L. Arundel, of Lawrence, a former owner of the Lawrence team has been mentioned for secretary. The question of renewing the 10-year agreement, now expired, will also come up for action. Owing to the fact that a couple of cities on the circuit have not been paying the league may pass up the agreement proposition for another year to ascertain how these cities are going to come out.

Manager Gray is expected home from New Brunswick tomorrow and in company with Messrs. Roach and Kennedy will attend the league meeting.

The series between Lowell and Springfield have not been decided upon. The matter is up to the players.

J. J. McNAMARA, ACCUSED OF DYNAMITING LOS ANGELES TIMES BUILDING

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—The trial of John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' union, on the charge of dynamiting the building of the Los Angeles Times, will begin Oct. 11 at the Los Angeles county courthouse. Prosecuting Attorney John D. Frederick has asserted that his evidence against McNamara will convict the union official. Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago will be chief counsel for the defense, assisted by Leo M. Rappaport of the Los Angeles bar.

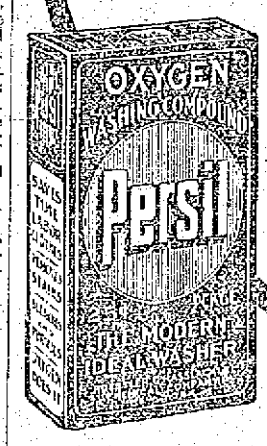

Persil Turns Hours of Scrubbing into Hours of Freedom

Persil cuts the dreaded wash-day in half. Persil soon makes the washing, which took you all day, spotlessly clean without rubbing and without injury to fabric or colors.

Persil is a compound of OXYGEN brought into the laundry and made to do all the work of clothes-cleaning better than ever before in the world. It makes white clothes dazzlingly white and brightens up colored goods.

German women use more Persil than any other article — last year thirty million pounds (and there are less than that number of women in the Kaiser's empire). And now the American housewives are taking Persil as readily, for it will mean Liberation from the Slavery of wash-day.

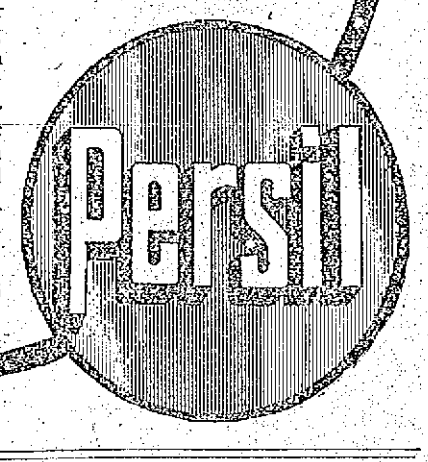

Be one of the first women of your town to "discover" Persil. Get the start, by at least one wash-day, of the women who forgot to order Persil today.

Persil is not sold in 5c or 10c packages — we only put it up in 15c and 25c cartons, and the 25c size will do a dollar's worth in Time, Clothes and Labor saved.

PRES. WM. H. TAFT

Made First Speech of the Trip at Syracuse State Fair

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—President Taft arrived here early today to remain until 3.10 p. m., a visit to the state fair here being the first engagement of his 13,000 mile trip to the west. The president was greeted by several hundred people at the station and there was frequent applause from the sidewalk throngs as he was escorted in an automobile to a breakfast tendered by the Syracuse chamber of commerce.

There were some 200 guests at the breakfast and at its conclusion the president made a brief speech acknowledging the hospitality of the Syracuse citizens. His principal address of the day was reserved for the fair grounds, whither he was escorted by state troops later in the forenoon. A luncheon with the state fair commission at the clubhouse on the grounds was the last fixed event on the program for the day.

Gov. Dix was detained at the Spring Lake conference of governors and sent the president a telegram expressing regret at not being able to personally welcome him to New York state.

The president's "Swing around the circle" started from Boston last night in a downpour. The rain followed the presidential train through the Berkshires but today the clouds had rolled away and there was a brilliant autumn.

There was no hint of politics connected with the inauguration of the trip and there is every reason to believe that the president is planning to withhold speeches that have to do with the more important policies of the administration until he reaches the western border. He planned to confine himself largely to a discussion of farming methods and the necessity of conservation of the soil. The extent to which the government can actively enter into this work of conservation was taken up by the president and there was a hint that the postoffice department in extending its activities to the field of postal savings banks and possibly in the near future to a parcels post system, furnished a parallel for extensions in other departments of the government.

There had been some thought in Syracuse that the president on the occasion of his first public utterance of the trip would outline a plan of "campaign." Mr. Taft has insisted throughout, however, that the trip is not connected with politics in any way and undoubtedly this had much to do with the non-political character of his principal address today.

From Syracuse the president goes to Erie, Pa., where tonight he will talk of the peace treaties negotiated during the summer. Mr. Taft hopes to bring out the sentiment of the people on treaties and he believes this sentiment is strong enough to sway the senate eventually to an approval of the compacts.

The President's Speech

A discussion of the activities of the department of agriculture and of the opportunities for progress open to farmers, formed the substance of the address delivered by President Taft at the state fair grounds today. The president said in part:

"We are spending $15,000,000 a year in the maintenance of a department of agriculture, and we might as well face the truth and realize that this expense instead of decreasing, is bound to increase. I have given much attention to the matter of economy and efficiency in government. While I do not mean to say that the present department of agriculture in the work which it is doing might not be made to do the same work for less money by a closer-knit organization and greater care in its expenditures, I am confident from looking into the future of the department to the pressing need for expansion of its work, that an increase in the appropriations each year for that department may be and ought to be expected in the interest of the government."

"The amount of information which the farmers have received and acted upon in their farming business from the bureau of plant industry, from the bureau of soils and from the bureau of animal industry, in the department of agriculture, can hardly be overstated, and the dependence of the welfare of the country on the continued spread of this information for the improvement of agriculture ought to be emphasized whenever opportunity arises."

"We have today in this country, in continental United States, about 1,900,000,000 acres of land. Of this 873,000,000 are included in the acreage of farms. In the last ten years that acreage did not increase more than 35,000,000, or a little over 4 per cent. Of the 873,000,000 acres, 477,000,000 are improved farm land. The 873,000,000 includes wood land and unimprove farm land. The improved land in farms has increased about 65,000,000 in 10 years, or some 16 per cent, but this, it will be seen, is not equal to the increase of population. Now, if our population increases as rapidly as it has heretofore, we shall in 50 years have upwards of 200,000,000 of people in this country to support on this 873,000,000 acres, much of which is probably not capable of producing a great deal. There are some 50,000,000 acres of swamp land that can be drained, and there are 25,000,000 acres of land that can be irrigated; but with all these, it is perfectly palpable that within the life of many who are born now, we shall be pressing the limit of our self-support from the soil unless some other method than by the mere extension of area be found for the increasing of our crop production.

New Methods of Farming

"In the next one hundred years, if this is to be a self-sustaining country, we must adopt new methods of farming and pursue them with eagerness and intelligent enterprises. There has been, as we know, a movement from the farm to the city. How can those present evils that threaten the progress of our agriculture be remedied? How can the movement from the farm to the city be stopped? How can proper labor be secured upon the farm? Is there no remedy, or must we change our nature as a people and all become a manufacturing nation and look for our future supplies to some other source in distant countries which themselves are looking forward to a limit upon their production?

"I am an optimist and believe that situation, however threatening or immediately discouraging, have in themselves elements that justify hope of betterment. The increased price of farm products has increased the value of the farms, and has made more certain the profit of farming. That necessarily works upon the cupidity of those in the past who have gone into the city, because it offers a prospect of a better income and a more comfortable living. Today with improved roads, with suburban railways, with the telephone, with a rural free delivery and I hope soon, with the parcels post, the life of the farmer will approximate much more nearly that of his city brother than it ever has in the past. In addition to all these elements that are working to the restoration to the farms of increased efficiency in their management is the education which is being given in the country, and on and near the farm, in scientific agriculture. In the states we have long had agricultural colleges. Now these are being supplemented by agricultural high schools and by what are called the consolidated rural schools, all of which have the effect to create much more than heretofore a closer farmer community and to give growing youth a knowledge of the best methods of agriculture and a prospect in the high prices of farm products of an adequate return for modern farming on proper principles. This will give to the brothers who stay on the farm a much more certain prospect of a good income and a comfortable living than those who seek to join professions or to engage in business in which the chances for the profits and a comfortable livelihood for the individuals are growing less, while those upon the farms are rapidly increasing.

"The promotion of this movement of vocational education of the embryo farmer in the sons of the present farmer is as high a function as any government could perform, and that is what is being pressed forward under the secretary of agriculture in every state in this nation. The vocational schools must be increased in every state. It is proposed that in every county in every state there shall be a trained agriculturalist, to be paid partly by the government and partly by the state and partly by the county, who shall by actual experiments, on the different farms in the county, illustrate the proper methods of tilling crops, of rotating them, and who shall give the benefit of his experience as to the proper organization of farms, as well as the improvement in the breed of plants and in the breed of cattle and other live stock. It is thought that by such actual experiment in connection with the high schools and agricultural colleges, such a stimulus may be given to the present generation of farmers that its effect upon the coming generation will be doubled. Of course we must observe economy in every expenditure of the government, and we must not allow our enthusiasm in favor of a particular cause to blind us to the necessity of care in the disbursement of public money; but I am bound to say that I do not know any part of the government business in which the public will receive a more certain advantage than from money expended under the appropriation bills for the agricultural department of the United States."

At the conclusion of the breakfast Justice Andrews introduced the president to the guests. His reception was flattering, three rousing cheers echoing from one end of the breakfast room to the other. "It happens," says the president, "that this is the first speech that I am to deliver in a series of speeches."

The president expressed his pleasure at being able to visit the state fair. Explaining the reasons for taking his western trip, the president said:

"It was like Topsy—it just grow'd. I made an engagement to visit Syracuse two years ago and also to visit Kansas City. That was my downfall. Later I accepted an invitation to visit the Pacific coast and that concluded my ruin."

Referring to reports that he would defend his policies in Syracuse, the president declared that in the 200 speeches he expects to make he will no doubt take up and discuss many of the problems of the day which include many subjects that might be called policies of the administration."

"I ask your prayers," said the president.

"You have them," yelled someone in the crowd.

In concluding his speech at the state fair, the president said:

"It has given me great pleasure to attend this fair, one of the greatest of its kind in the world, and to find in it and all like enterprises another stimulus to the improvement of agricultural methods in the exhibition of the remarkable results of close attention to the workings of nature and industry and patience, together with common sense and business management. The revival of interest in the state fairs all over the country is an indication of the movement for better agricultural methods and more thorough agricultural education. It is one of the happiest auguries of the future of this country that the federal government and the state governments had shown the greatest capacity for their closest co-operation in the development of agricultural science and the teaching of it to the people."

THE ARCHBISHOP

ARRIVED IN BOSTON LAST NIGHT

BOSTON, Sept. 16. — Archbishop William H. O'Connell, looking in excellent health after his vacation in Europe, last night returned to Boston and reached his residence on Granby street at about 5 o'clock.

The archbishop landed in New York on Monday last from the steamer Kroonland, in company with Mgr. M. J. Splaine, rector of the cathedral. He was met at the pier by Rev. Dr. P. J. Supple, pastor of St. John's church, Roxbury. The party remained in New York for a brief rest.

Then they came by automobile to Boston, arriving last night.

PREMIER LAURIER

Will Close His Speaking Tour Monday

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will close his speaking tour here on Monday. Robert L. Borden, leader of the conservatives in their fight against the enactment of the reciprocity agreement both in parliament and in the campaign just drawing to a close will have his final word in Nova Scotia. The political contest is losing none of its bitterness in the closing days. The conservatives, through their press, orators, campaign literature and flaming posters, continue to assail the government for entering into the trade agreement, on the ground that it is only the first step in a deeply laid plot by President Taft to detach Canada from Great Britain and to absorb the country into the American republic. The conservative leaders are satisfied that this line of attack is bringing the electors over to them but the liberals, who have been fighting the disloyalty cry, declare that the electors are not going to be frightened by such a senseless campaign bogey and that the liberals will be returned to the twelfth parliament by an increased majority. The liberal speakers continue to point out the economic benefits to be derived, particularly the farmers, to the enactment of the reciprocity agreement and pay but little attention to the charges of disloyalty which they answered most emphatically early in the campaign.

Forecasts of the election results are beginning to appear. The conservatives are making claims of prosperous gains in both Ontario and Quebec, which they assert will give them the balance of power. The liberals estimate their majority in the coming parliament at between 40 and 55, compared with a majority of 43 in the parliament just dissolved. In what little betting has appeared the liberals continue to rule strong favorites.

A FRENCH AVIATOR

Died as Result of Injuries Received

VERDOUN, France, Sept. 16.—Edouard Nieuport, the French aviator, died today as a result of internal injuries received when he fell with his machine yesterday. Nieuport accomplished some notable feats when flying at Chalons. Last June, competing in the preliminaries for the international aviation cup, he established a new aerodrome record, covering 90 miles at the rate of 80 miles an hour. He finished third in the contest for this cup, which was won by the American, Charles T. Wymann, at East Church, England. Wymann on this occasion used a Nieuport aeroplane, one of the fastest racing types yet developed. As the designer of this machine, Nieuport won wider fame than he did in flying, and it was in one of his own make that he established the aerodrome record.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By the National Spinners' Union

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The annual convention of the National Spinners union concluded here today with an address by John Golden, international president of the United Textile Workers. Officers were elected as follows:

President, George Thornton, Pawtucket; vice-president, Dennis Murphy, Taftville, Conn.; treasurer, Thomas E. O'Donnell, Fall River; secretary, Urban Fleming, Holyoke.

Executive board, Edward Kearns, Adams, James Gaines, Utica, N. Y.; James Reynolds, Centerville, R. I., Michael Finnegan, Lawrence, John Firth, Baltic, Conn.; J. E. Hurst, Plainfield, Conn.; Joseph Ashton, Lowell; Frank Mularky, Pawtucket.

THE LOSS IS $50,000

Fire in Granville Chase Company's Plant

BARING, Me., Sept. 16.—The drying house, grist mill, blacksmith shop and outbuildings of the Granville Chase Co. were burned this morning with a loss of $50,000. There was no insurance.

INJURIES FATAL

CHILD RUN OVER BY A HEAVY TRUCK

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Seven minutes after the big gong clattered in the stable of the Hanover street police station on Cross street yesterday afternoon Prince, the fastest ambulance horse in the police department, had been harnessed, had traveled to Sun Court street in the North End, taken aboard a dying school child run over by a truck and had halted, panting, in front of the Relief station in Haymarket square.

Patrolman John Mooney, the driver, picked up the dying child, rushed without ceremony through the long white corridors of the hospital, where he has so often traveled before with grim burdens, and said to the surgeon: "Am I in time?"

Dr. Packard felt of the lifeless little wrist and shook his head.

"Too late," he said.

The child had died in the patrolman's arms as he entered the operating room.

The little girl, Virginia Andreconia, 4½ years old, and living at 10 Langdon place, had been running home after being dismissed from St. John's parochial school on Sun Court street, where she had been a member of the "baby" class for less than a week.

The truck that rolled over the little girl was owned by Alfred M. Whitney of 184 Commercial street and was driven by Alfred M. Whitney, Jr., the police exonerating the latter of all blame after a thorough investigation, which revealed the fact that the romping child had run directly beneath the hoofs of the two horses.

HUNTING FOR DUCKS

MIDDLEBORO, Sept. 16.—With every available cottage about the lakes in this vicinity hired by gunners, the fall gunning season for ducks opened today and the early sportsmen reported good luck. A new stand at Lakeville was opened by a company of men headed by Samuel Shaw of Boston.

VERY SMALL DOCKET

Disposed of by Judge Hadley in Police Court

"Keep out of Lowell and let liquor alone" was the advice which Judge Hadley handed out to George Goyette of Billerica when the latter appeared in police court this morning and pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. According to what Constable Martin Conway of Billerica testified to, George is a pretty good man but now and then he comes into Lowell and gets intoxicated. Owing to the fact he has made numerous trips to Lowell of late and has appeared before the court on several occasions within a year it looked as though he would be given a sentence, but when he promised to reform and do better in the future the court imposed a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction.

Michael J. Reynolds who recently appeared before the court on a complaint charging him with the larceny of $9.25, the property of Constable John McManus, came into court this morning and Mr. McManus explained to Judge Hadley that Reynolds had paid the money back whereupon the case was placed on file.

Earnest Landry who was charged with failing to provide support for his wife was rather penitent and upon promising to care for her in the future he was placed on probation.

James Connolly and Herbert L. Sponholtz, charged with being drunk, were each order to pay a fine of $6.

SENATOR CRANE

Trying to Make Peace Among Republicans

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—That "Uncle" Murray Crane came to Boston for the express purpose of lecturing the three candidates for the republican nomination for governor was revealed yesterday.

He left after having talked with Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Speaker Joseph Walker and Norman White.

The three conferences are regarded as of the highest importance to friends of the three men, because they mark Senator Crane as the republican leader, who is handling the state.

There are several versions as to what happened at the conference. But this much is true. Two of the three candidates left with the decided impression that Senator Crane was not lifting his finger in the interest of any one.

There is a story to the effect that he urged each candidate to use no language which would stand in the way of supporting either of the other two or accepting support from either of the other two.

He furthermore promised his cordial support to the candidate who should win the nomination.

But another story differs a little from the one which says that Crane urged each of the three to attack neither of the other two.

That story is to the effect that White received such cordiality from the senator that he at once ventured upon a spirited attack upon Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, whom he accused of having a corporation record and of being a machine man.

The speech of White followed closely upon the Crane conference, and it was the most spirited of any speech that has been made by the republican campaigners.

It is not, however, the belief of leading republicans that Senator Crane favors White in preference to the other two.

TRACKMEN'S UNION

Employers Refuse to Arbitrate With Men

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 16.—Twelve hundred and fifty firemen and section hands on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad have been ordered by President Lowe to strike at six o'clock tonight.

The strike was authorized by the national officers of the trackmen's union and is the result of the refusal of the company to arbitrate differences with the men. The section men had asked for an increase in wages, which was refused. Subsequently, it is said, M. G. Foley, a section foreman and chairman of the grievance committee, was dismissed. The section men claimed that he had been discharged because of his activity in the agitation for increased wages and demanded his reinstatement. This, the men say, was also refused and then the union men suggested arbitration. President Truesdale of the company declined to arbitrate. The strike order takes in the entire Lackawanna system between Hoboken, N. J., and Buffalo.

FOOTBALL SEASON

College Teams Are at Work Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—With gridiron practice on a majority of the big college gridirons and scrub games scheduled for this afternoon at a few schools where the teams got off for an early start last week the football season of 1911 found itself well under way today. For the first time in three years an early fall frost has ushered in the sort of climate conditions that the coachers seek for efficient practice and reports from many of the training camps has it that work is already advanced.

Another week will see the season's formal schedule of games launched and the work of sifting and sifting the promising candidates from unwieldly squads providing anxious hours for coaches and players.

Walter Camp is authority for the promise that this year will provide the most interesting and spectacular game in the history of the sport.

REGISTRATION LAST NIGHT

The rain, last night, was not conducive to registration and the total number registered was 46, as follows:

Ward 1, none; ward 2, 13; ward 3, seven; ward 4, three; ward 5, eight; ward 6, four; ward 7, two; ward 8, seven, and ward 9, one. Today's registration will continue uninterrupted from 1 to 9 o'clock p. m.

MME. CAVALIERI

Will Not Agree to a Divorce

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The Chanler-Cavalieri divorce case is now at a deadlock. All efforts on the part of Robert W. Chanler and family to induce Mme. Cavalieri to consent to a divorce have been fruitless, as the singer is firm in her refusal not to give up a fraction of her rights under her marriage settlement. Sidney Harris, Chanler's lawyer, who left New York on Aug. 29, is said to be now on his way here with a view to making a final offer of $70,000 in cash in exchange for a full renunciation of the marriage settlement and her consent to a divorce.

"There is absolutely no hope for them to make me back out," Mme. Cavalieri said to a reporter at her home in Paris. "My lawyer has not heard of Mr. Harris' proposal yet, but I see no reason why I should bargain for a thing which is absolutely and legally mine. The advantage of the transaction is all on their side and I have already gone through enough trouble about this without adding to it any monetary loss. As for a divorce, I am in no hurry to get it, as I don't contemplate remarrying. My first experience was unpleasant enough."

Mme. Cavalieri, who was billed at the Hammerstein opening of "Quo Vadis," has given up the part and will not appear until the middle of December, when she will sing Thais and other operas in the French repertoire. She is now busy and working hard at her voice, and has been lately studying Aida.

"Of course, I want to go back to America," she said, "I have already a contract to sing in Mexico in February, and as I shall be going by the way of Boston, I will take the opportunity to fulfill a long delayed promise to Henry Russell to sing ten times for him at the Boston Opera House."

EX-PRES. ROOSEVELT

Attended Session of the Children's Court

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt sat for a time yesterday on the bench at the children's court in Manhattan, questioned many of the youthful delinquents and told one of them that what he needed was "a good spanking, and I'd like to give it to you." He also declared, apropos a boy named William, that "he never knew a William to be a bad boy."

An hour and a half latir he left, saying he had "had a delightful time; bully time."

Mr. Roosevelt sat beside Judge Franklin C. Hoyt, a personal friend. He asked more questions than the judge asked, and appeared greatly interested in the youths brought before him. He enjoyed it much better than did the culprits, who were obviously abashed by the former president's questioning and, for the most part, decidedly ill at ease.

William Fiohe, a 15-year-old boy, was brought before the judge, accused of spitting from the platform of an elevated train on the street below. "What you need is a good spanking, and I'd like to give it to you. I'd like to be your father for a few minutes," said Mr. Roosevelt.

There was hardly a case in which Mr. Roosevelt did not show interest. When he took leave of Justice Hoyt he had nothing to say except that he was going to do some writing about the administration of children's courts.

WHISKEY RUNNERS

WAS CAPTURED BY DEPUTY U. S. MARSHAL

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 16.—After fiercely resisting arrest at the hands of the federal officers, Samuel Tompkins, wanted for years as being one of the most skilful "whisky runners" in the country, was captured in the town of Hars Hill, near the Canadian line, by Deputy United States Marshal Fred E. Stevens and Deputy Collector of Customs W. B. Burns yesterday.

At the time of his capture he was driving a wagon load of smuggled liquor, it is alleged. The officers sprang out upon him from the brush, where they had been lying in wait. He attempted to draw his revolver, and put up a hard fight before he was overpowered.

He was brought to Bangor in irons and will be arraigned in the United States district court in Portland upon the return of Judge Hale from New Hampshire.

A STRANGE PHOTOGRAPH

Dr. Chase of the Frank C. Goodale drug store is a student of photography and on Labor Day he went to the Nashua Fair for the purpose of trying to snap some of the birdmen when they alighted from their ships after the trip by air from Squantum to the grounds. The first birdman who hove in sight was Ovington the winner of the monoplane race and sure enough the doctor was under him with his picture box and took a fine picture of the machine. The doctor besides getting a photo of the machine also caught some clouds which at that time were exact replicas of the old man of the mountain, a child, a clown and the head of a lion with the jaws extended ready to swallow the child. While the picture of the plane looks that of a spider, the formation of the different objects by the clouds makes the picture one that would be treasured by any curio seeker. Although the doctor has not received any offers for the picture he says that it cannot be bought.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ASSN.

WORCESTER, Sept. 16.—Addresses on religious topics comprised the program at the second day's session of the 46th annual convention of the New England Christian Missionary association. This afternoon the delegates to the convention were entertained by the pastors and members of the different churches throughout the city.

AT INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

THE OLD BARTLETT SCHOOL IN WHICH MECHANICAL WORK WILL BE CONDUCTED

The Day Term Will Begin Next Monday Morning

Considerable interest is felt in the opening of the industrial schools which will start work on the regular courses next Monday in the old Bartlett school for boys in mechanical and building trades, and in the Morrill school for the training of girls in domestic science.

Principal Dooley has had considerable machinery donated for use in the boys' school and more will be gradually added.

Miss Alice Gookin, at the Morrill school, will have charge of the academic or educational work while Messrs. Webb, Wiggin and Leseur will assist Mr. Dooley at the old Bartlett in conducting the mechanical work.

The day industrial school will open Monday, Sept. 18. The night school will open Oct. 2.

The day school, of course, is the most important. It is for boys and girls of fourteen years of age or over. The school will give a preliminary training for boys, in the following trades:

Carpenter, architectural draftsman, cabinet maker, machinist, mechanical draftsman, electrician, engineer, automobile repairing.

Carpenter—The course providing training for the trade of carpenter will consist of shop practice and science, study of building materials, architectural drawing, mathematics, English and civics.

Architectural Drawing—This course differs from the carpenters' course in having much of the shop work replaced by work in the drafting room, on building construction.

Cabinet Making—This course differs from the carpenters' in having more time devoted to office furniture, etc., than to the building trade work.

Machinist—This course, in addition to English and civics, includes machine shop work, the mathematics underlying machine shop work, study of materials, drawing, and some work in steam and electricity. The shop work will consist of practice in the usual operations common to machine shop work.

Mechanical Draftsman—The mechanical draftsman course will be similar to the machinists' course with much less shop work and more practice in the drawing room on machine shop work.

Electrician—This course will deal with practical and theoretical electricity, and will include electric wiring, building motors, winding armatures, testing and repairing circuits, and practical experience in the electric power station, etc. In addition there will be special mathematics applied to electrical work, and English and civics will be taught.

Engineer—This course deals with the theory and practice of steam work. It includes in addition English and civics, some machine shop practice and mathematics.

Automobile Repairing—The automobile repairing course will consist of work similar to that of the machinists' course, with special shop work on the automobile and the study of its operation.

In addition to trade training every boy will receive a good education. Leaving out the languages it is proposed to give him as good an education at the Industrial school as he can get at the High school.

4. Registration will be at the school buildings, both of which face the North common, on the evenings of the week preceding the opening of the schools, beginning with Monday evening, October 2. Applicants will save themselves a visit to city hall to no purpose if they will wait until the time just stated.

Industrial School Teachers

Mr. Wm. Webb, who has charge of the machine shop, blacksmithing and drafting, was born in North Carolina and had several years of mill experience in that section. He was employed by the Lowell Machine shop when selected for the industrial school job. Mr. Webb has had a wide experience along the mechanical line. He spent several years in cotton mills beginning in the opening room and following the various operations through the mill to the loom where the cotton is finally made into cloth.

Then he entered the Lowell Machine shop where a great variety of textile machinery is made and in a few years he had mastered the machinists' trade and was promoted to assistant foreman which position he held for the last twelve years and during that time he has become expert in the designing and making of jigs and time saving devices; but not being satisfied with knowing the practical side only, he started an inquiry into the technical side as well, and took advantage of the opportunities that the Lowell Evening schools offered and during the last 12 or fifteen years he has completed several courses of study.

When the automobiles came along, he, being of a mechanical turn of mind, was naturally attracted toward them and spent considerable time getting acquainted with the principles involved and he has done considerable overhauling and repairing.

Mr. Webb has been a good friend to other young men and boys who have come under his charge, and has probably taught more of them to be machinists than any other man of his age and this, no doubt, is one reason why he has been selected for an instructor in the Lowell Industrial school.

Mr. Webb takes the place of Mr. Charles F. Chase, who was nominated for head of the machine department. Mr. Chase, it seems, decided not to come to Lowell.

SKIN SUFFERERS

Do you realize that to go through life tortured and disfigured by itching, burning, scaly and crusted eczemas, or other skin and scalp humors is unnecessary? For more than a generation, warm baths with

Cuticura Soap

And gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment have proved successful in the most distressing cases of infants, children and adults, when all else had failed.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the care and treatment of skin and hair, will be sent, post-free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. R, Boston.

YOUNG RUNNERS

WILL TRY TO MAKE A RECORD RUN TO NASHUA

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon a number of young men will start from the North common and will run to Nashua, if the weather is favorable. This will be the second event of the kind in a week and will be very interesting, especially for those who will follow the runners.

Last Sunday 12 young men left the North common, their destination being Monument square, Nashua. Of the twelve, seven dropped out before reaching half the distance, while the others plugged to the end. Arthur Sabourin, aged 17 years, a little chap weighing 102 pounds, came out victorious, having covered the distance in two hours and 32 minutes.

Sabourin will again undertake the same trip tomorrow and he expects to reach his destination, which will be the same as last Sunday, at least a half hour sooner than the previous run. The runners will be followed by two young men on bicycles and their friends predict some record breaking, although they are all amateurs.

EXCEPTION FILED

LOVE SUIT GOES TO THE FULL BENCH

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—That the famous Heath-Merriam $20,000 alienation suit which has been in the Middlesex county courts almost continuously for the past five years has not been ended was shown yesterday when Mrs. Emma F. Heath of Malden, plaintiff in the suit, filed exceptions at the clerk of the Superior court's office, East Cambridge, to the last decision of Judge Bell.

In her bill of exceptions Mrs. Heath declares that she is much aggrieved by certain exclusions and admissions of evidence and rulings made by Judge Bell, who decided in favor of Mrs. Merriam. With the filings of the exceptions yesterday it is assumed that the final decision will not be written in the case until after the full bench of the supreme court passes upon the exceptions.

FOR COLUMBUS DAY

A Great Celebration is Planned in This City

October 12, Columbus Day will this year be a legal holiday in Massachusetts. Inquiry at the state inspector's office determined that all factories and mercantile establishments would suspend operations during the day.

The Knights of Columbus as a body throughout the state have taken the initiative in the many cities and are planning for the observance of the day.

Local council No. 72 under a progressive committee has a tentative plan arranged for the day and if the plans are carried out Columbus day in Lowell will be observed in an impressive manner.

It is arranged that all Catholic societies in the city will be invited to participate in a parade in the morning. The parade will form at Monument Square and march to the Sacred Heart church in Moore street. The arrangements for the mass and the securing of a speaker on this occasion have been placed in the hands of Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., chaplain of Lowell council. After mass the parade will form and march to city hall where it will be dismissed.

It is expected that all Catholic societies will co-operate and make the parade a feature of the observance. Special invitations have been sent to all these societies and all men in line will wear the Columbus Day medal which may be procured at the Knights of Columbus rooms.

In the evening a great banquet will be held at Associate hall and the committee in charge are anxious to eclipse the splendid affair of last year. The banquet will be attended by members of the order and their lady friends. A sub-committee on speakers will report within a week and a list of notables are expected to be present. Already the high officials of the order, national as well as state, have been invited and the affair promises to be very successful.

The executive committee in charge of the celebration consists of Grand Knight, Henry J. Heaps, Deputy Grand Knight, Joseph Rourke, District Deputy William F. Thornton, Daniel J. O'Brien, Thomas B. Delaney and John H. Murphy.

GOVERNOR EUGENE FOSS

Attended the Middlesex North Agricultural Fair

"When's dinner ready?" asked choruses of hungry ones as noon approaches for the sharpness of the air coupled with the tempting displays of vegetables and fruit put a keen edge on all appetites at the Middlesex North fair in Billerica yesterday afternoon.

"As soon as the governor arrives," was the reply.

Just at 12.30 o'clock a large auto, from which the white and gold state flag floated haughtily in the September breeze, and a croy of "Here's comes the governor" went up.

Governor Foss was accompanied by Adjt. General Gardner W. Pearson and Dudley Holman of Boston.

While the dinner was in progress Senator Hibbard and Rep. Killpatrick arrived. As the dining hall was crowded the door was closed after the governor's entrance.

"Just M. White"

Dinner was nearly over when a knock came at the door and one of the charming waitresses opened the door. A smooth and pleasant faced "smooth referring to the face) gentleman stood in the doorway and politely asked:

"Please may I come in?"

"Oh, are you the governor?" asked the waitress according him a smile beside which the blue ribbon apples looked bad.

"No—er—not yet. I am just plain Mr. White, Mr. Norman White."

The waitresses flushed furiously and escorted him through the hall to the speakers' table amid a round of applause.

Governor Foss Remarks

As a slight rain was falling, and as Governor Foss' time was limited by reason of the fact that he had to meet President Taft at Beverly at 2.45 it was decided to hear the speaking in their town hall dining room, depriving two-thirds of the crowd of an opportunity to hear the chief executive.

Gov. Foss was introduced by George L. Hunton, who officiated as toastmaster and after expressing pleasure at being present the governor said: "I have just come from the conference of governors and I was deeply impressed at the general spirit of non-partisanship that prevailed. Great subjects were discussed and one could not tell a speaker's politics by his talk. For instance after hearing Governor Hadley and Aldrich discuss railroad rates. I thought they must be proxressive democrats, but both are republicans. Party lines were so indistinct that you couldn't tell what one's political affiliation might be. I considered that a good omen. It showed a broad civic public spirit throughout the country with all working for the greatest good of the greatest number. I have been much entertained of late but in all my travels I have not enjoyed anything like this dinner. There is nothing from the Atlantic to the Pacific like a good, old fashioned New England dinner.

I have been to California and have seen its fruit, but it was not any better than the fruit I see before me on these tables. The possibilities for farming on the state of Massachusetts are great, we do not realize that we are raising three times as much per acre as California and eight times as much as the state of Texas. We should stop and realize what we can do if the farmers are only encouraged. We have a great market right at our doors, in these great industrial centres of Massachusetts. The west and middle west have to send their products a great distance to find a market, but we have a market right at home. The state of Massachusetts has done much for commerce, science, manufacturing and education. If we can appropriate large sums of money for those interests why can't we appropriate some money for farming and agriculture. (Applause).

The value of our farm products is $70,000,000 per year. We can make it $150,000,000. We have a department of agriculture in this state for which we appropriate $40,000 and $50,000 a year. Why shouldn't we double that appropriation next year. That's my program. I believe in helping the farmer for I believe farming to be a vital industry of this state. I have often thought that if there is an abandoned farm in Massachusetts it's not the fault of the farmer but the fault of the legislation. I don't believe in paralyzing the farmer. We should encourage the farmer in the dairy business instead of penalizing him. By penalizing the farmer we are driving the cattle from our farms.

"I have been fighting pernicious legislation against the farmer and I want your support and the support of the Grangers, that great body of organized farmers, in the fight. I believe that we should adopt a premium system and encourage competition among the farmers. I recently had occasion to veto their milk bills and I am glad I did (great applause). The Federal authorities after an investigation in this state reported that we produce the best milk in the United States and hence when these milk bills came before me I asked what was the need of further penalizing milk producers when they are producing the best milk in the United States." (Applause.) Governor Foss then explained that he must take a hasty departure in order to meet the president and he left the hall amid great applause.

Henry A. Turner

Henry A. Turner of Norwell, aged 83 years, the oldest member of the state board of agriculture was the next speaker and he made brief remarks highly complimenting the Middlesex North on the success of the fair.

Mrs. Richard V. Fitzgerald

Mrs. Richard V. Fitzgerald, representing the Mass. Women's Suffrage league was next introduced. The audience expected something spicy but Mrs. Fitzgerald who proved to be a most entertaining talker, made a general argument in favor of women's suffrage.

Norman H. White

Then came Mr. White and it was evident that he had quite a few friends in the audience. He opened up on women's suffrage and said that at the beginning of his public career his mother urged him to give the women a chance.

"I am in favor of allowing women to vote if they want to," said Mr. White, "but I am not in favor of compelling women to vote when they don't want to."

Mr. White then got down to a stump speech in which he "handed" it to the absent governor.

Other Speakers

Rev. S. W. Cummings of Lowell and Senator Hibbard were among the other speakers and at the conclusion of the speech making all repaired to the common, where the Lexington brass band gave a concert.

At 3 o'clock the athletic events were called.

Afternoon Sport

Despite the threatening weather a vast assemblage gathered in front of the Town hall and on the common during the band concert and athletic sports, while several attractions not down on the program were enjoyed such as the showing of fancy horseflesh. In the rear the glad yell of the African dodger could be heard for he was doing a land office business. The busy candidate and the persistent suffragette hustled through the throng and everyone appeared to be happy. The rainfall interfered somewhat with the out of door exercises late in the afternoon.

Late in the afternoon a baby show was given in Odd Fellows hall and tonight the fair will close with a grand ball and the affair goes down in history as one of the biggest and most successful fairs in many years.

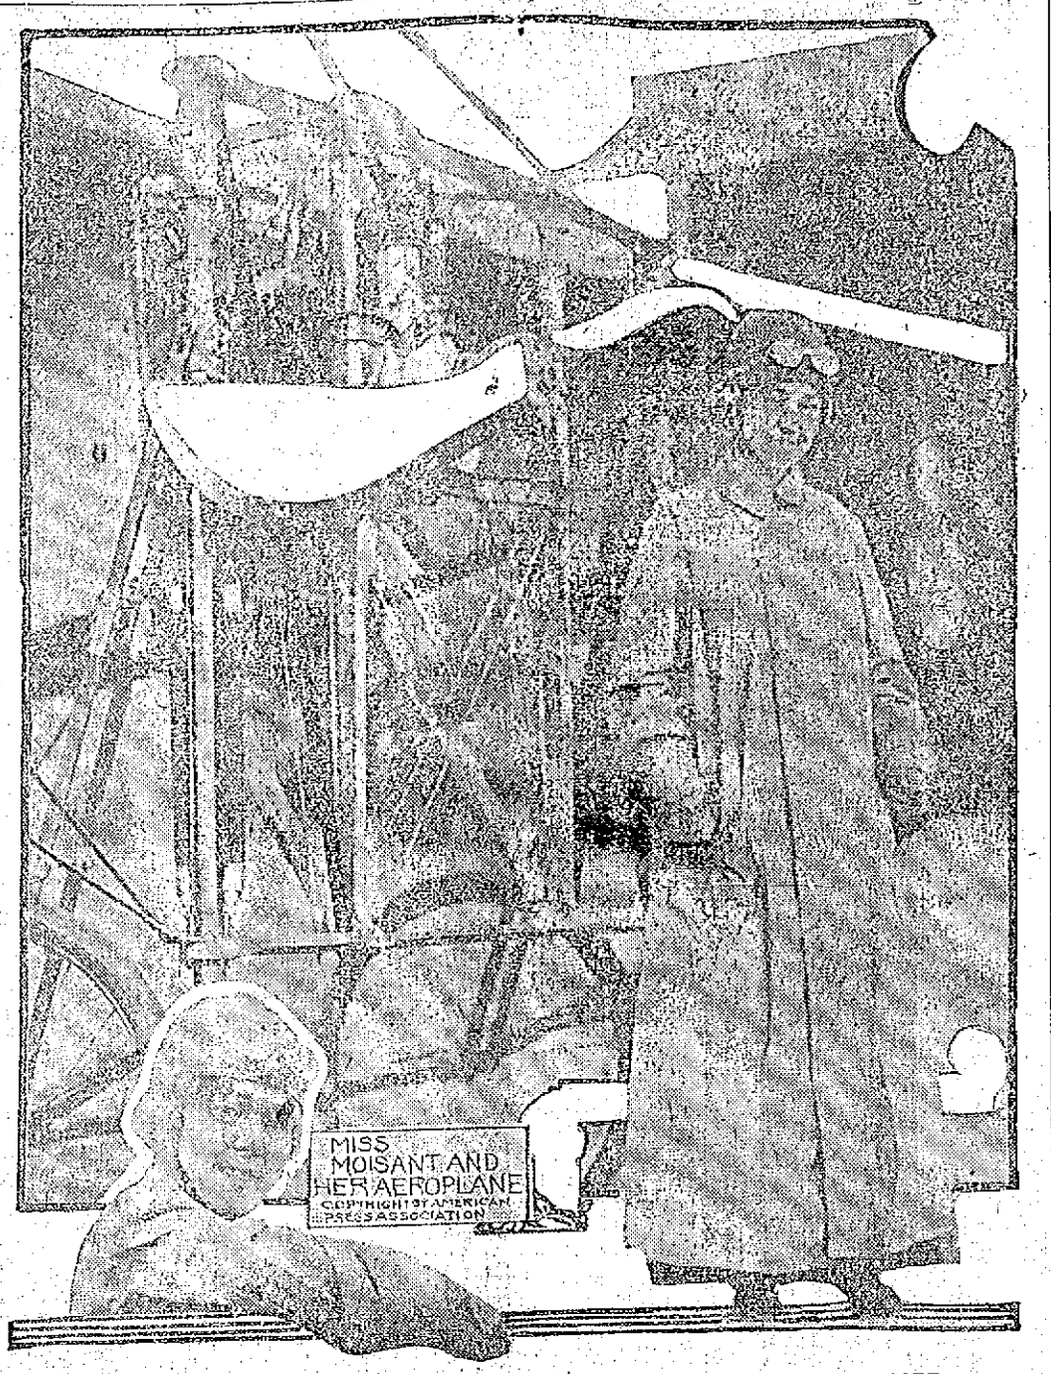

FUNERALS

MARCHAND—The funeral of the late Mrs. Gedeon Marchand took place yesterday from the home of her son, Felix in Moody street. The large cortege wended its way to St. Jean Baptiste church, where at 9 o'clock high mass of requiem was sung by the Rev. Fr. Graton, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Dr. Geo. E. Caisse rendered the Grexarian chant; Mr. Arthur J. Martel presiding at the organ. The bearers were P. Harnois, P. Vignault, Alexandre and Ildevert Lafontaine, Irene Bourque and B. J. Begin. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, the Rev. Fr. Amyot, O. M. I., reciting the committal prayers at the grave.

PAINFUL INJURIES

Manuel Gennuorde, residing at 168 Tilden street, and Joseph Secina, residing at 19 Bradford street, employed as yard hands at the Tremont & Suffolk mills, received slight injuries to their heads yesterday about 2.30 o'clock when a couple of bricks toppled from a building and struck them on the head.

The ambulance was summoned and the men were removed to the Lowell hospital, where they received treatment and were later taken to their homes.

MATILDA MOISANT AND AEROPLANE IN WHICH SHE WILL TRY FOR RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Miss Matilda Moisant of the celebrated aviation family of that name, has qualified as an expert aeroplanist. She holds the world's altitude record for women, about 2000 feet, and Saturday, Sept. 16, at Mineola, N. Y., she will attempt to beat this record. Miss Moisant is shown in this illustration with the aeroplane in which she will make her flight.

MANAGER CARROLL

MAKING GREAT SUCCESS AT MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

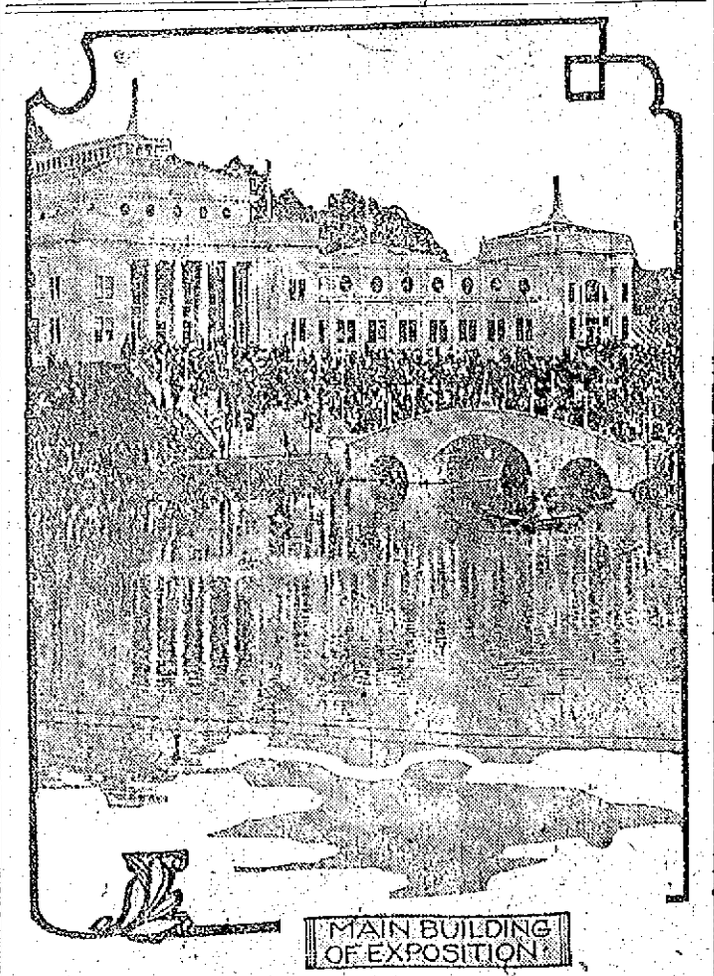

Merrimack Square theatre has rounded out its first year as a caterer of amusement to the theatre going people of this city and suburbs, and under the direction and management of Mr. James Carroll it has been a most wonderful success, producing the very best and refined vaudeville and moving pictures that we have ever had in our city when prices are considered. It has always been a wonder to the people how it is possible to give such a great variety of amusement for such a small sum. It is perhaps the first time in the history of our city that an amusement house has been able to profitably keep open its doors the entire year, but such is the fact with the Merrimack Square under the management of Manager Carroll. He has demonstrated that such a thing can be done, but others might have failed where he has succeeded as he is a natural born theatre manager, having been engaged in some capacity with amusement houses since he was thirteen years of age and seems to know the business in its entire detail. He has not only made it profitable for the owners of the enterprise, but has always maintained a high standard of dignity and order in this popular theatre. Now, having entered on his second year as manager his every effort will be to always please the patrons of his house by presenting to them the very best that can be found. As he himself says, the people are willing to pay for a good thing, and as long as he is manager he intends to give them the best for the money at popular prices. The bill next week will be one of the best that has yet been offered at this popular theatre. The large audiences that have been constantly attending the matinees and evening performances are sufficient proof and evidence that there never was a more popular low priced amusement house.

Lowell people are great critics, and they know what they want, and when it is given to them they will always appreciate a good, dignified attraction, and it seems that none but that kind has ever made its appearance at this theatre. Everything is first class and up to date, and it can readily be seen the moment you enter the forum.

AN AGED WOMAN

CHARGED WITH VAGRANCY HAS $100 IN BANK

BOSTON, Sept. 16. — The oldest woman ever arraigned in the city police court faced Judge Murray yesterday noon, giving her age as 82 and her name as Mary Devine, having no home. The charge was vagrancy. Judge Murray learned that a bank book calling for $100 had been found hidden in the stockings worn by the woman, together with several dollars in loose change. He had the case continued for investigation until Sept. 19.

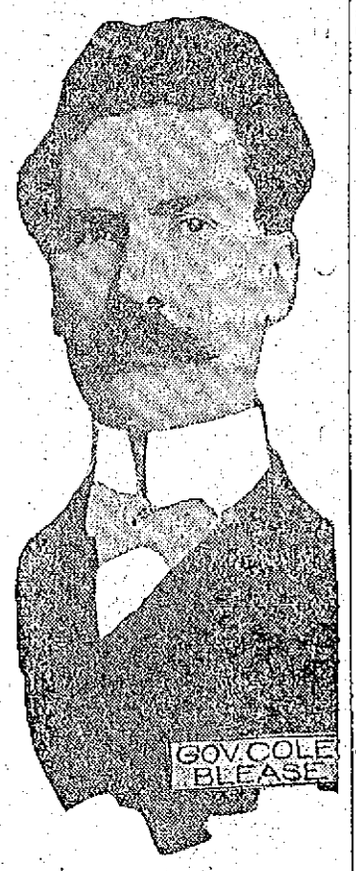

VIEW OF APPALACHIAN EXPOSITION, KNOXVILLE, WHERE TAFT WILL SPEAK

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 16.—The Appalachian exposition here, which will continue until Oct. 1, is attracting a large number of visitors. President Taft will, it is stated, deliver an address here during his extended tour of the country.

A WIDE MOVEMENT

For the Impeachment of Gov. Blease

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 16.—Leaders of the opposition to Governor Cole Blease are trying to get evidence against him as a basis for impeachment proceedings, which they propose to begin when the South Carolina legislature convenes in January. The governor will be generally charged with misfeasance and malfeasance in office, and there will be specific charges. A resolution is to be introduced, it is said, to impeach him. If this is passed the articles of impeachment will be ready to be filed at once upon which the state senate will try him. His opponents believe that nearly two-thirds of the members of the legislature are inimical to Governor Blease. Chief Justice Ira B. Jones of the state supreme court has resigned that office to become a candidate for governor against Blease next year.

THE COST OF LIVING

A Great Advance is Reported in France

PARIS, September 16.—The cost of living in France, which has been creeping upward steadily during ten years, has risen with a jump this summer. One principal reason is the three months of extraordinarily dry and hot weather, withering and drying up the vegetables consumed in large quantities by all classes in France. String beans of the most ordinary description for example sell for 9 to 12 cents a pound and lettuce at $2.50 the hundred wholesale.

Discontent of housewives has taken violent form in the north, where attacks upon farmers, butchers, storekeepers and other vendors by bands of viragoes are the daily excitements in towns and cities. The revolutionary labor party has thought this a good occasion, to take part, but the women manifestants oppose this, and keep the agitation in their own hands. A loose organization spreads over the north, although example more than anything else keeps the market places in uproar in half a hundred cities and smaller centers. Sometimes there is a meat boycott for a couple of days at a time as a warning to the butchers, or three or four hundred women will rush a market, tipping over all the stands and half destroying the eatables.

Demands of the housewives are for milk at 8 cents a quart, butter at 30 cents a pound, bread at 18 or 19 cents for the 5-pound loaf and plain meals at 20 cents a pound. So far as bread and dairy products are concerned, the women have been generally successful, but the butchers utterly refuse to give way. They affirm that selling at 20 cents a pound would cause an actual loss. Farmers have not been able to combine, as the butchers have done, and they are yielding, although increased prices from their point of view sems justified because fodder is dear and scarce. Most of the cows are stable-fed, and the milk supply is possibly a third less than usual. The long drought has burnt up the second crops of fodder.

The Parisians hear of these successful raids on prices in the northern fight with Bombardier Wells near Paris. Every day he boxes ten or twelve rounds with minor celebrities of the ring at the Magic City, the American Amusement park. Women form a considerable part of the audiences. Johnson begins with a speech to the house and then boxes with his trainer. Bob Armstrong and others, interspersing swings, hooks and uppercuts with jokes and slangy pleasantries.

Edison has been automobiling in short stages through France and Switzerland. He intends to continue his holiday through Germany to Hamburg, sailing from there for home. Everywhere Edison receives impressive attention, being spoken of sometimes as "the great American." He has a vivid and delighted interest in all that he sees, and likes to talk about his impressions.

"Who is the shabby little man with the crowd around him?" inquired a Parisian woman in the lobby at the Beau Rivage at Geneva. Upon being told that he was Edison, she looked again and replied:

"His clothes look as though they had cost about 50 francs, but he has a brain great enough to make him emperor of France."

Edison feels the charm of the old pleasant and rich countries through which he passes, but he admires most the delcate and intelligent skill of the Swiss workmen. He attributes their provinces with the hope that something will happen to check the rising cost of everything in the capitol, where living is 30 per cent. dearer than it was at the opening of the century.

Jack Johnson is training for his fine precision to the generations of watchmakers. "My chief man, Wurth, whom I have pensioned," said Edison, "is a Swiss, and I have employed more than one thousand of them."

The only correspondence Edison bothers with on his holiday is to autograph the photographs of himself that people present to him.

The chalet and beautiful botanical gardens at Sainte Savine, near Troyes, have been burned by the concentration of the sun's rays through an accidental arrangement of windows forming a burning glass.

The Mont-de-Piete of Paris, the government pawn shop, has issued its report for last year, showing that nearly $8,000,000 were loaned on 611,118 articles more than $7,000,000 being upon jewelry or objects of art. The experience of the government pawnbrokers in Paris, and report says in the provinces also, show that people pawn more during periods of prosperity than during depressed times, because in prosperity small busines people need capital and do not have sufficient standing to borrow of the banks. Hence they avail themselves of the government pawning bureaus, and put up personal property as security. Pawning has been diminishing in France since 1892 among the working classes, due, the report says, probably to there having been fewer strikes.

BIG BANK ROBBERY

Burglars Got Away With $315,000 in New Westminster, B.C.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Sept. 16.—$315,000 in gold and bills was stolen yesterday from the branch of the Bank of Montreal here.

Five burglars entered the bank by the front door, broke through the thin metal coating of the vault, blew open the safe by charges of nitro-glycerine and got clear away with their booty without being seen except by a Chinese caretaker.

They probably escaped down the Fraxier river in a launch or else by automobile toward Vancouver.

There was in all $350,000 in the bank's safes. Chief of Police Bradshaw believes the men would have taken it all if they could have carried it. As it was, they took all they could carry away, leaving all the silver and notes of small denomination, as well as damaged $500 and $10 bills lying around the floor and tables.

The first known of the robbery was when a Chinese caretaker appeared at the police station and gave the alarm. He had managed to work loose from the bonds in which he had been tied after the robbers had departed. He had been sandbagged but regained consciousness. Chief Bradshaw hurried to the scene and all of the available officers were pressed into service but the only obtainable clew was that given by the Chinaman.

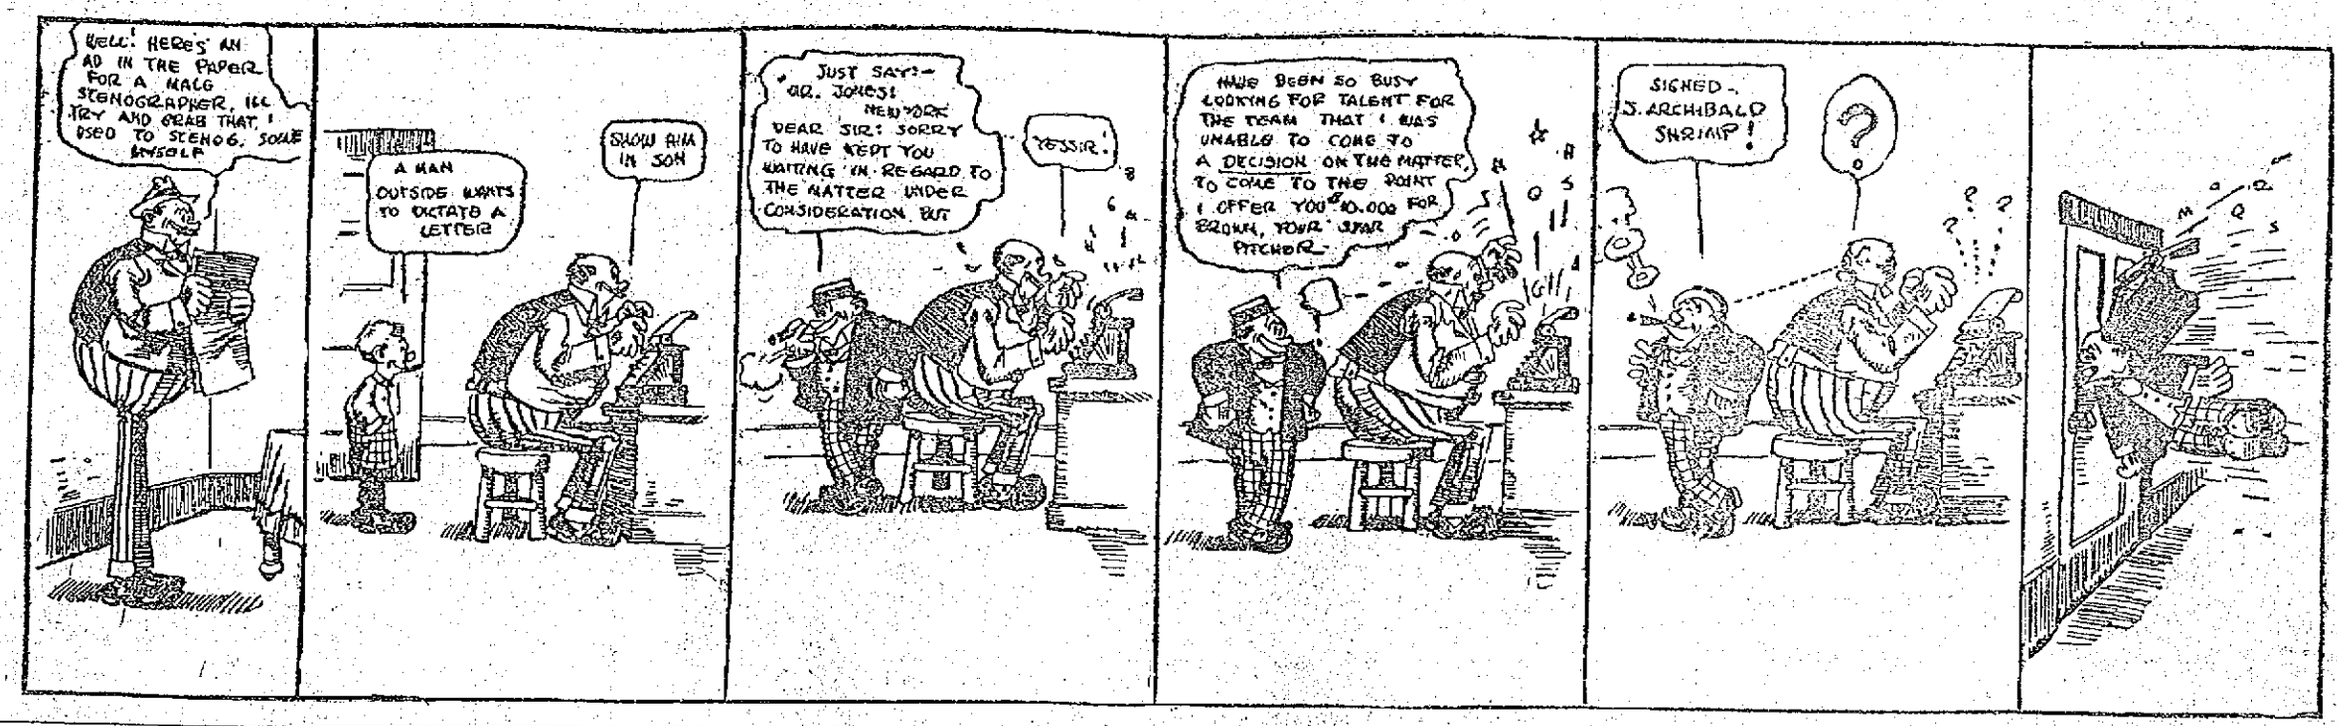

From the thoroughness of the job and the tools with which the work was done, the officials believe that the same gang which has been at work in Vancouver turned the work here.

PHOTOS, SNAPPED AT GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE, OF PROMINENT EXECUTIVES

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 16.—Three of the governors who have been most active in the affairs of the national conference here are Emmet O'Neal of Alabama, who spoke against the referendum and recall; Chester H. Aldrich, republican, of Nebraska, who declared in favor of La Follette for president against Taft, and William D. Glasscock of West Virginia.

MANAGER McALEER

A Part Owner of Boston Americans

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—James R. McAleer, present manager of the Washington club, and Robert B. McRoy, secretary of the American league, with headquarters at Chicago, have purchased a half interest in the Boston Americans from Pres. John I. Taylor, and after the close of the present season these two baseball men will come to Boston and join in the active management of the club.

Pres. Ban Johnson of the American league was present at the conference yesterday and is in full sympathy with the new conditions. He expressed great satisfaction after the deal was closed to find a man of McAleer's experience connected with the local club. McAleer will come to this city later and an active interest in the building of the magnificent plant that will be ready for the fans at the opening of next season, which will class with any baseball plant now in the country. As Detroit will also have a fine new steel and cement plant, the American league can then point to eight complete steel and cement plants for the business.

There was very little time taken up yesterday over the transferring of stock to the new parties, as the deal was practically consummated by Pres. John I. Taylor and Pres. Johnson some time ago.

What took up most of the time yesterday was in going over the plans for the new plant with Architect James McLaughlin.

As the corporation is working under the laws of New Jersey there will be a meeting of the stockholders held before the first of the year to elect officers and map out the future plans for the club.

With a new plant and everything done to straighten the Red Sox the fans will have good reason to look forward to some fine baseball under the combination that will work together next season.

Pres. Taylor nor James McAleer would not say anything yesterday as to who would manage the club, simply leaving that to the future, as the club will play the schedule out under the present officers.

Pres. Johnson, Robert McRoy and James McAleer left for New York last evening, McAleer going to Washington to take up his work with the senators and the other two keeping on to Chicago.

Pres. John I. Taylor will take special pride in having the finest baseball plant in the country. He advised the architect in drawing up the plans, which were ready several weeks ago. There can be no further hitch in the proceedings, as everything was closed up yesterday to the entire satisfaction of all parties concerned.

RIVERSIDES WIN

Judges Award Them the Deciding Game

The board of arbitration of the City league met at the Sun office and considered the protest of the Riversides over their recent game with the Pawtucket Grays. The Riversides claim that Sturtevant, who had previously been transferred from the Grays to the Crimsons, played with the Grays without having been transferred back although the manager of the Grays was named prior to the game not to play him or any other player not properly registered. The judges decided to sustain the protest and gave the game to the Riverside which also gives them the championship of the league. The standing of the league is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Riversides	11	2
Shawlights	11	3
Royals	11	3
Pawtucket Grays	9	5
Beavers	8	6
Indians	5	9

THE SYRACUSE RACES

Earl Jr. is Again Returned a Winner

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Earl Jr., driven by Cox, won the Free-for-all pace, the feature event of yesterday's grand circuit meeting at the State fair, defeating Evelyn W. in a thrilling neck and neck struggle to the wire.

Evelyn W. took the second heat, but Earl Jr. crowded the mare so hard that she was forced to pace the last half mile in one minute and one-quarter second. A wonderful drive won the third heat and the race for Cox.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

SAYS THAT EXTRADITION PAPERS ARE LEGAL

Governor Foss is advised by Attorney General Swift that the extradition papers in the case of Nathan Berman and Louis Brooks, the two labor men who are wanted in Connecticut, are legal and should, as a matter of law, be granted.

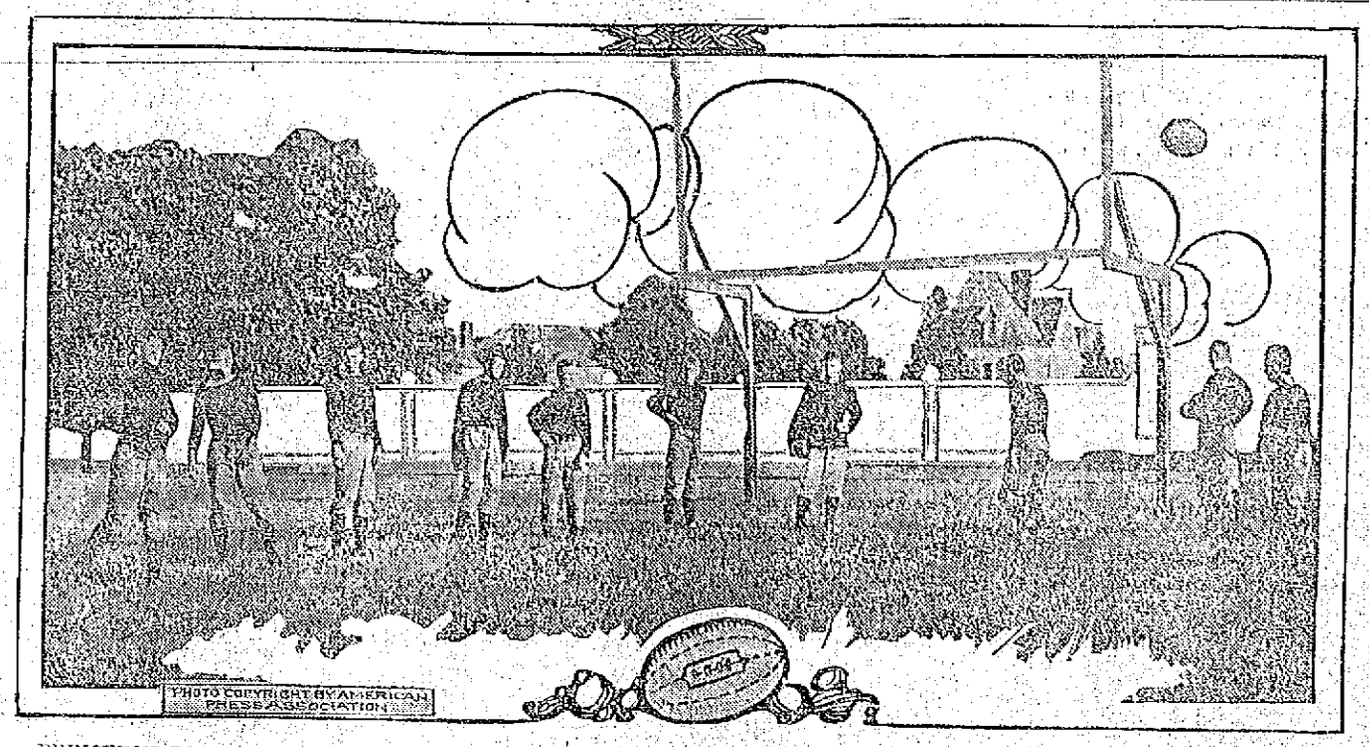

The decision in the case was made know last night as the final word on the legal side of the matter. But the governor declares that he will not cause the papers to be issued to the Connecticut officers until a hearing has been granted to the labor men, and so the hearing will be held Monday morning at the state house.

Berman is chairman and Brooks is business agent of the Cloak and Skirtmakers' union. They are charged with having gone to Connecticut and intimidated workers there and with having destroyed property.

The case, on account of some features resembling the famous McNamara case, has caused great interest in labor circles. Constant care is taken against the kidnapping of the two men. The labor people heard last night that such a project was on foot.

Governor Foss has been besieged by members of the union. Hundreds of cloak women had called at the state house to urge him not to approve the papers. They already bear the signature of the governor, but they were withdrawn after the protest had been entered.

PRINCETON FOOTBALL PLAYERS PRACTICING FORWARD PASS; PLAY WILL KEEP COACHES GUESSING THIS SEASON

PRINCETON, Sept. 16.—The football season for 1911 is well under way. From all the leading colleges come reports of tardy pigskin players hastening to the call of captains and a general wave of activity of the coaches and trainers in preparing the various camps for the year's campaign. Princeton men expect to be represented by a strong eleven this year. Nearly every one of last year's team answered the call here recently. Taken all around, the 1911 season should result in one of the best ever held. The new rules reduced the number of accidents to a minimum last year and as now modified promise to eliminate all danger of players being hurt. There have been no radical changes made in the code from those of last year. A simplified wording is about all that has been done. It was the forward pass that came in for the most attention from the rule-makers, and there is much speculation as to whether in its new dressing it will be a success. According to the new rule, a forward pass is illegal when the player receiving it fails to hold on to the ball. When a forward pass is declared illegal it will be returned to the place where it was originally put into play. The same goes on an uncompleted forward pass, which is one that hits the ground before being touched by any player on either side. This year when a player catches a forward pass the players on the defensive can tackle him as soon as he catches the ball. Under the rules last year he had to wait till the man took at least two steps. There was much confusion and argument as to whether or not the rusher had taken two steps when the tackle was made. Picture shows Princeton players practicing forward pass.

N. Y. BOY RUNAWAYS

Spent Their Time in a Cave After Leaving Institution

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Willie Brusso, 12 years old, dislikes so much to be sent back to 'th' institooshun" that since Wednesday last at least Willie not only has been living in a cave in The Bronx at night but, according to small boys who also had been living in the cave with Willie until yesterday, Willie successfully had been foraging in The Bronx for milk and rolls and odds and ends that could be turned into money.

The two small boys who accuse the still missing Willie of stealing returned home yesterday, also with the story that larger boys who knew that the parents of the missing youngsters were looking for them had held the small boys for a 50 cent ransom. Mrs. Emma Bauer of 303 East 146th street, mother of one of Willie's companions, and Michael Carroll, a saloon keeper at 178 Lincoln avenue, father of Willie's other companion, back up the stories that while the Bauers and the Carrolls were looking for their missing offspring groups of boys came to the parents and said that the missing children could be turned up for a ransom.

Willie Brusso, fresh from "th' institooshun" on September 1, was about to be sent back because of his continued waywardness. Willie knew what was in store for him, so on last Monday he disappeared from his home at 2494 Third avenue, and his mother asked the police to help her find him. He had gone to live in a cave somewhere near Mott avenue and 144th street. The small boys know just where the cave is and they would visit Willie there and take him things to eat.

Last Wednesday night Willie summoned nerve enough to come from his cave long enough to take part in some games in 146th street with Eddie Carroll and Johnny Bauer. At dusk Willie and the two boys began to walk northward toward the cave. Eddie Carroll says that some place in Park avenue he wanted to turn back but that Willie Brusso told Eddie that Eddie would have to come on to the cave or have his "block knocked off" by Willie.

On Thursday morning Willie went forth again to forage and returned to the cave with fresh bread and rolls. Never mind where he got them. And then the three boys started for Clason Point, Eddie says. Some place along the road, according to Eddie, Willie Brusso met up with a small girl from whom Willie snatched her purse. Eddie says there was $1.18 in the purse and that Willie dumped the money into his pocket and then threw the empty purse into the face of the weeping little lady and that they all went on happily to Clason Point.

Back to the cave they trudged again. Eddie Carroll and Johnny Bauer were getting tired of cave life and wanted to go home, but Willie, they say, detained them. Besides, Willie was so thoughtful a host that when Johnny Bauer lost his cap on Thursday Willie went right into civilization and stole a cap for Johnny, according to Johnny's recitals. Johnny adds that on Thursday also Willie stole two automobile tires in 143d street near Third avenue and sold them.

Mrs. Bauer and her 16-year-old daughter were still searching for Johnny yesterday when a group of ten or twelve boys somewhat older than Johnny came to Mrs. Bauer and told her that for 50 cents doubtless Johnny could be found. Mrs. Bauer at first did not believe the boys, but gave them the 50 cents in the hope that perhaps they could find her Johnny for her. The group disappeared with the money. Half an hour later Johnny came marching home. The big boys had grabbed him, he said, just when he was about to come home himself yesterday morning and had decided to hold him until the ransom was paid.

Yesterday afternoon a group of boys called to see Saloon Keeper Carroll to tell Eddie's father that for 25 cents his search for Eddie would be over. Eddie's father told the boys to be off. They hung around and at last the father paid over the 25 cents to get his son back. Shortly after the boys had departed with their booty who came down the street? Little Eddie Carroll. And he got a licking.

But Willie Brusso still was alone in the fastness of his cave last night. Detectives have searched for the cave in vain. Last night Johnny and Eddie were too spanked and tired to help the detectives find the cave, but today the police will point Eddie and Johnny toward the north with instructions to find that save as quickly as possible.

HEAVY LIABILITIES

MARGARET G. O'CALLAGHAN HAS FILED PETITION

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Margaret G. O'Callaghan, dealer in women's apparel at 484 and 486 Washington street, has liabilities aggregating $115,700, according to bankruptcy schedules filed by her attorney in the United States district court yesterday.

Although she was petitioned into bankruptcy by creditors last month she has not been adjudicated bankrupt, having made a composition offer to creditors of 20 per cent, half cash.

The Merchants' National bank and the Paul Revere Trust company hold secured claims for $2000 each. In addition the former holds $16,000 worth of accommodation paper, which the alleged bankrupt signed for the benefit of the Adams Cloak, Suit & Fur House, which she also conducted. The Paul Revere Trust company holds $2000 worth of paper which she indorsed.

The principal secured creditor is the Powow River National bank of Amesbury, which holds a claim for $5000. Of the 525 unsecured creditors H. Cramer of Philadelphia holds the largest claim, amounting to $4776. The Exchange Trust company of Boston also has an unsecured claim amounting to $3250.

The unsecured claims amount to $88,482. The assets are estimated at $21,280, and consist mainly of stock in trade and debts due on account.

RUSSIAN PREMIER

Is Expected to Recover From His Wounds

KIEV, Russia, Sept. 16.—Premier Stolypin, who was shot twice by an attempted assassin while attending the opera here, will, it is reported, recover from his wounds. The lawyer, named Bogrof, who fired the shots, is said to be a sympathizer with the Russian anarchists.

FUNERAL DELAYED

WIDOW WINS BATTLE OF WORDS WITH RELATIVES

SOUTH FAYSTON, Vt., Sept. 16.—Relatives of James C. Baird started out this morning to refuse to let his wife into the house or see her husband's remains. They came here Wednesday when the body was found in the bushes near the road, and have been stopping in the house. Mrs. Baird got permission from the state's attorney to leave the jail at Montpelier, where she is being detained until the investigation by the grand jury next week, and made the 20-mile trip in the rain through muddy roads in an automobile. With her was Mrs. Fannie Lawson, the sheriff's daughter. Mrs. Baird took along her attorney, Burton E. Bailey, as she suspected there would be trouble.

There were a half dozen among Baird's relatives, and all were inimical toward Mrs. Baird and didn't want her at the funeral. The funeral was scheduled to take place at 10 o'clock, but it was 11 before the battle of words was over and the services commenced.

Finally the casket lid was raised and Mrs. Baird stepped into the room and looked at her husband's body.

The funeral services were in charge of a local minister, and the body was taken to Waitsfield for interment. Mrs. Baird wept bitterly. She stopped at the house with her attorney, while the others went to the grave, and gained possession of certain papers and deeds. The relatives returned to the house and intended to stay, but her lawyer turned them out.

"BOWERY ORACLE"

PASSED AWAY IN HIS LODGING HOUSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Emil Brunner, known as "the Bowery oracle," died from natural causes in a rooming house on the Bowery yesterday. For years his opinions had been considered as final by hundreds of east siders, and he was arbitrator of many controversies. Most of his spare time was spent in the Astor library, and among his effects were found memorandum books containing notes indexed for ready reference.

The only clue to his family is a discharge from the Ohio National Guard, which was found in his pockets. It shows that he enlisted in 1881, served five years and was honorably discharged. He was believed to be about 70 years old.

KEEPS THE BODY SWEET

In warm weather many, and especially fleshy persons, find it impossible to prevent the odor of perspiration. But by dusting the body, limbs and feet with Comfort Powder after the daily bath, and applying it freely under the arms and in the folds of flesh, they can not only keep the body sweet but add greatly to their comfort. This checks perspiration and prevents all chafing. Mrs. A. C. Howe, a trained nurse, Allston, Mass., always advises this use of Comfort Powder. See that E. S. Sykes' name is on the box.

LIABILITY FOR BAGGAGE

The posted notices of railroad companies that they will not be liable for more than $100 for lost baggage duly checked, will not stand in law to save them from the liability to pay full value. To make such an arrangement the companies must notify the passengers at the time of checking the baggage. This will doubtless result in a different mode of checking the effects of passengers traveling by rail. The supreme court has decided this matter, holding that there is no previous contract limiting the company's liability unless each individual passenger be so notified.

AS TO MARRIAGE MOCKERIES

The people of Everett are justly indignant over the burlesque on the Astor-Force wedding, holding that the event itself was as much of a mockery as anybody should want. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston has condemned stage marriages and in this he has won general applause. Under the very best conditions many marriages go astray and it is well to prevent making them a mere travesty upon what they should be. In Fall River the aldermen have wisely moved to stop the custom of making a silly racket on the public streets whenever a married couple are starting on their honeymoon. There is more or less of that in other cities than Fall River. We have seen it carried too far in Lowell and it is well to have it stopped. In some cases where tricks were being played on the contracting parties serious injury has resulted. Better cut out the nonsense in the cause of public decency and the right of the "newly weds" to go their way in peace.

DR. WILEY VINDICATED

President Taft has done the right thing in vindicating Doctor Wiley, head of the bureau of chemistry and chief expert in the enforcement of the pure food law. Wiley's offense consisted in being a party to an agreement to pay an expert $20 per day when an act of congress provided that no such expert should receive more than $9 per day.

This technical offense was taken up by Attorney General Wickersham who recommended condign punishment for Dr. Wiley. The matter was taken up for investigation by the house of representatives but no report was made. The fact was that the trusts and combines that have been adulterating the food supply of the country were opposed to Dr. Wiley and wanted him reproved. They succeeded in having the so-called Remsen board appointed to revise his decisions in the interests of the manufacturers and this as might be expected caused continual friction between the board and Dr. Wiley. Secretary Wilson was involved in several of the disputes but throughout the entire trouble Dr. Wiley's honesty of purpose was clearly apparent. It is gratifying that President Taft has sustained Dr. Wiley although nobody could see how he could do anything else unless he did what he knew perfectly well to be absolutely unjust and a capitulation to the "interests" that fought Wiley on the benzoate of soda and many other questions. Wiley always stood firmly against the use of poisonous preservatives for food and for this reason the people throughout the entire country will be glad to know that he has been vindicated. Wickersham, Wilson and the Remsen board should now be tendered their resignations.

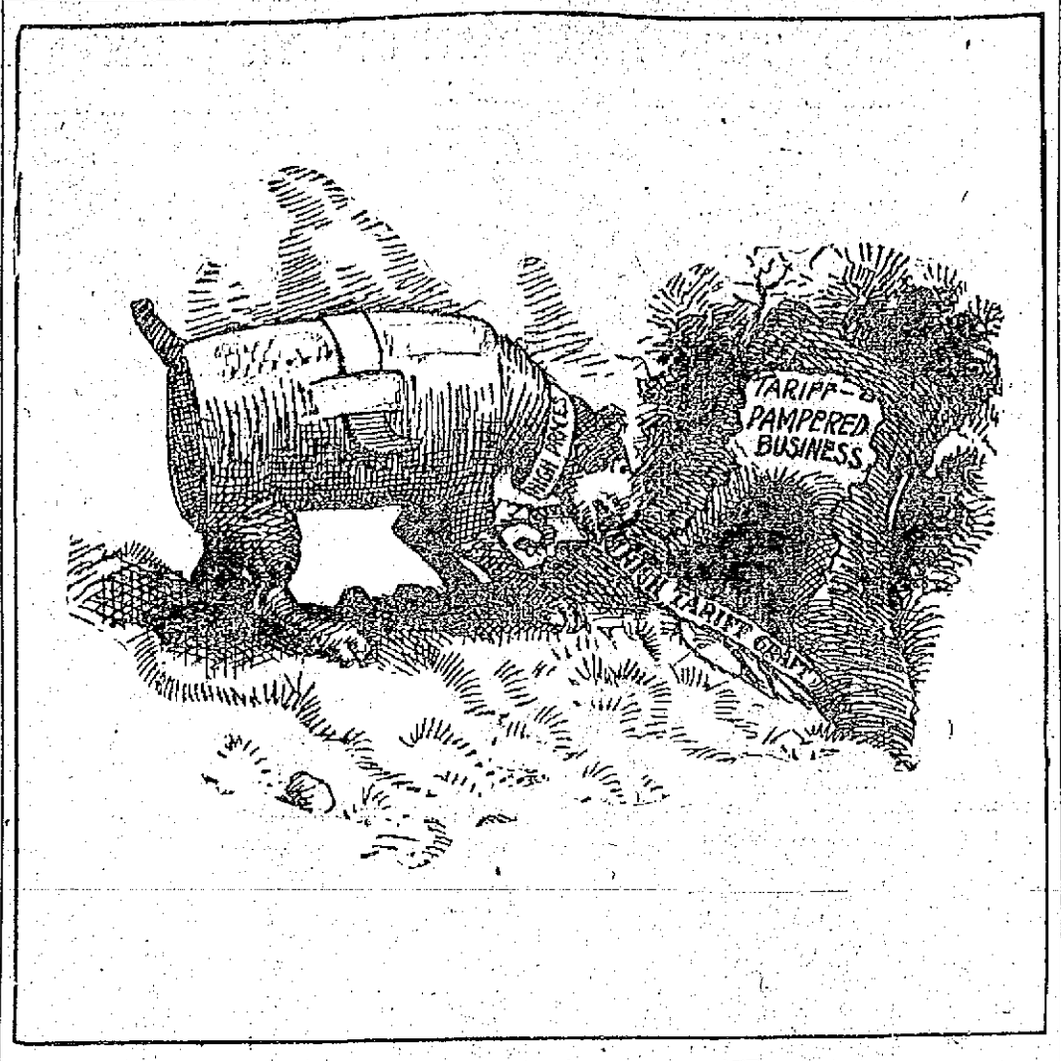

CHIEF JUSTICE RUGG

While the appointment of a chief justice of the supreme court is probably the most important that Governor Foss will have to make while in office, it is highly gratifying that his choice has met the practically unanimous endorsement of the press and what is of greater weight in this case, the endorsement of highest legal authorities of the state including bar associations and Judge Knowlton, the former chief justice.

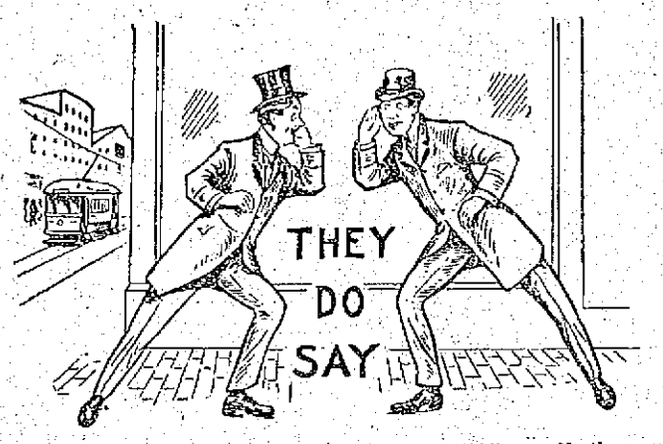

The governor is justly commended for two things in connection with this appointment; first, for having selected the judge who beyond all question is best fitted for the place, and second, for refusing to consider party claims that might dictate an appointment upon grounds other than pre-eminent fitness.

Justice Rugg, although the junior member of the supreme bench, has distinguished himself by writing the court's decisions in some of the most important and complicated cases passed upon during the last five years. In all his decisions touching corporate interests, Justice Rugg has shown a recondite knowledge of the legal principles involved, as of precedents bearing upon the cases and he has endeavored to hold these interests up to the highest standards of law. That the other members of the supreme court assigned to Justice Rugg the work of writing such important decisions proves that they recognized his special ability to frame decisions of the highest order on questions calling for a profound knowledge of the law.

That Governor Foss has risen above party and political considerations in this as in his other judicial appointments should be appreciated by the people of the state. Justice Rugg is recognized as progressive, liberal, fair-minded and profoundly learned in the law. A republican in politics he does not allow his decisions or his opinions to be colored in the slightest degree by partisan feeling. He is too broad minded for that. Amherst college is proud of him as one of its graduates and the Boston University college is proud of him as one of its graduates and the Boston University law school gave him his degree. His success as a lawyer in Worcester was rapidly attained and it was his brilliancy as a lawyer that first led Governor Guild to select him for the bench as it has caused the present governor to name him for chief justice. It is doubtful if at either time a better choice could have been made. The high office to which he has been elevated will lose none of its dignity at the hands of Justice Rugg who is a worthy successor of the eminent jurists who have filled the position in the past. He will make a chief justice of whom Massachusetts may well be proud.

THE TARIFF GRAFT SHOULD BE CUT OFF

That there will be warm weather yet.

That the campaign so slow at starting will boom next week.

That Achin and Jewett have the pole in the 17th district.

That the hay fever victims have been having their troubles for the past week.

That Governor Foss' remarks at the Middlesex North Fair made the farmers sit up and take notice.

That the hustling services of Constable "Ed." Livingston were greatly missed at the fair.

That Henry Livingston is slated to succeed his father as constable at Billerica.

That Merrimack Square will have a continuous pyrotechnic display when Keith's new sign is finished.

That the police ball team is dead game and is going to play the Cambridge cops.

That the campaign for the new charter will soon start up and it promises to be lively.

That the Middlesex North would have to seek far to get a man to run affairs as well as George Trull does.

That De Lacy Corkum had a heart-to-heart talk with Governor Foss, and that he is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the governor.

That the democratic politicians are giving out a lot of misleading statements about the new charter in order to have the present charter retained.

That with Keith's and the Merrimack Square theatres and the street car centre permanently located in Merrimack Square, the vicinity of the Square needs only a public hall to complete it.

That there'll be great waiting for the country towns to send in their returns as the result of the direct nomination law. In days gone by the number of delegates were figured upon without waiting for the vote.

That the democrats will make the greatest mistake of their lives if they do not vote solidly for the new charter that will put them on an equal footing with republicans in the city council and the school board.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Wool and Cotton Reporter: Manufacturers who have recently traveled through the south say there is nothing at all the matter with the cotton crop, but of course they see it as they would like to see it, and their views must also be accepted with some mental reservations. It is hardly worth while to pay too much attention to what the cotton exchanges say about it, for all of their talk is handed out for speculative purposes only.

MELLEN HAS DONE BIG THINGS

Providence Bulletin: If not a railroad demi-god Mr. Mellen is a strong executive. He is reported as having said that he came east to run a railroad and found that his task was to build one. That is true. He has begun to do for New Haven what Harriman had to do for Alton and for Union Pacific. Mr. Mellen has not been afraid to change policies when he has tried them out. Thus he has increased service and reduced it later; he has lowered rates and then has raised them. He has promised great things and has—well, delayed fulfilment. But truly after all is said, great things have been done; and his seeming lust for a monopolist's power has been justified, very likely, by a taste of what ruin in profits would be otherwise likely from trolley extension, independent water lines, and ever auto-truck development. All these threats have come along with insistent, costly and not always reasonable demands of the public, the employes and the developing law of the land. It is hard to believe that J. Pierpont Morgan is not satisfied, even although many railroad men in different parts of the country believe Mr. Mellen's road is shouldering too much.

HAUNTED BY A "DEFICIT"

Springfield Republican: It is not impossible that the report of President Mellen's resignation flew out of the window into the ears of an unsympathetic world at about the time the directors and heavy stockholders of the New Haven system learned of the $1,602,933 deficit on the "B. & M." The coming annual "B. & A." deficit—assuming that there will be one—would be another plume in his cap not altogether to the taste of those who care more for their 8 per cent dividends than for the Mellen system. All of which may be unjust to Mr. Mellen, but deficits are deficits, whatever else may be read into them.

WOMAN SUSPECT

BELIEVED TO BE SCOUT OF SECOND-STORY WORKERS

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—A fashionably gowned woman, a brunette, apparently about 27 years of age, is the "scout" of a gang of second-story workers who have been working in Ashmont several weeks, according to the opinion of realty owners whose property has been broken into.

A full list of the dwellings entered could not be learned yesterday, because of the secrecy of the police, but among the houses burglarized were those of Charles Y. W. Marcy of 281 Ashmont street, Mrs. Charles Doherty of 127 Ashmont street, and the Rev. Simon Blinn Blunt, rector of All Saints' church, Peabody square.

Within the past three weeks the mysterious woman has visited several real estate agents' offices and asked for keys of flats, explaining that she wished to look over a suite with the intention of hiring it. It was supposed that after entering the house she drew plans of the building, ascertained the easiest methods of entrance and learned when the families in the house were wont to leave.

GREAT WELCOME

RABBI MARGOLIES WAS PRESENTED A HOUSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The greatest event in orthodox Jewish religious circles in New York for years was the arrival here last night of Wolf Margolies, who for the last five years has been chief rabbi of the united Jewish congregations of Boston and came here to become rabbi of the United Hebrew community, which has its headquarters at 183 East Broadway. The orthodox quarters of the East Side were in a state of excitement all evening, and it was estimated that over 5000 persons called at night and shook the hands of the patriarch who is to be a source of law and justice as well as religion to the 7000 members of the United Hebrew community.

As he stepped off he was embraced by all the members of the reception committee and then conducted to one of the eight automobiles in which the members of the committee had gone to the train.

The greatest surprise of the evening for the rabbi came when the eight automobiles stopped at 203 East Broadway while on the way to the headquarters of the community. Rabbi Margolies was conducted into a three-story house and told that it had been purchased by the community on Wednesday and was to be his home as long as he remained in the city.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Had a Narrow Escape From Death

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 16.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., escaped death by inches, one may die and four others were terribly injured in an accident which occurred at Mr. Rockefeller's father's house at 4.30 yesterday afternoon. The accident threw a gloom over the Rockefeller estate.

Mr. Rockefeller, Jr. was visibly affected, but he hastened to give first aid to the men while he dispatched others to get doctors and nurses to the Rockefeller estate with all possible speed.

The garage in the stable was turned into a temporary hospital and it is there that three doctors and five nurses are working to save the lives of the injured men with Mr. Rockefeller, Jr. superintending everything.

Mr. Rockefeller and his family only returned from Seal Harbor, Me., yesterday and Mr. Rockefeller after a hasty lunch went up to the hill to see how the addition of 10 rooms to his father's house was progressing. The roof of the house has been torn off and it is being shoved up into the air to add 10 bedrooms at a cost of about $1,000,000.

Mowed Down by Beams

Mr. Rockefeller watching the work carefully had just passed around to the west side of the building as some men were hoisting a bundle of steel up to the roof. The derrick, which is located on the roof had raised the steel to the second story when one end caught on the cornice.

The tie rope broke and the steel tipped up in the air on end and slipped through the noose. Mr. Rockefeller saw what had happened and instantly realized the danger.

He yelled "Jump for your lives, men!" and then sprang back as the bundle of steel came crashing to the ground. A large number of Italian laborers were at work on the ground helping some stone masons; they did not realize the danger and failed to grasp Mr. Rockefeller's warning.

The bundle of steel broke and the beams scattered and as they struck the ground they mowed the men down like a scythe. Mr. Rockefeller and others who saw the accident turned their heads at the horror of the sight, for they believed every man would be cut to pieces.

After the crash, Mr. Rockefeller rushed in to pull out the injured men from under the pile of stee, all the while calling for the other workmen to come to his aid. Nearly all the men had been hit on the head and one man's head lay open with an awful gash.

Hurry Call for Aid

The sight was pitiful and tears were in Mr. Rockefeller's eyes as he realized the awfulness of the catastrophe. He never thought of himself and his hands and clothing were soon bathed in blood as he helped and directed the work of relief.

Men rushed into the house and the telephones were busy calling help. Dr. A. C. Chace was soon in his way in his automobile and others quickly followed. The Tarrytown hospital was called up and asked for aid, but word came back that it was filled up and could not take the men.

Mr. Rockefeller was equal to the emergency and ordered the garage in the stable made ready for a hospital, and cots were rushed to the stable, while the Rockefeller automobile was sent to a local drug store for all kinds of bandages and medicines.

Five trained nurses were telephoned for and hustled to Pocantico Hills in automobiles ready to take charge. It was feared that the men would die from loss of blood. Nearly all were unconscious.

EVERETT EGGLESON

Had a Narrow Escape From Drowning

Everett Eggleson had narrow escapes from being burned and drowned while ploughing through the waters of the Merrimack river in his motor boat Thursday night. He had just left the boat house and was a few hundred yards up the river when what he thought was water in the boat caught fire. It seems that instead of being water it was gasoline which had leaked from the tank and became ignited by the flame from a lantern.

Eggleson overturned the boat to put out the flames and then started to right it but in spite of his efforts the boat sank in about 20 feet of water. Eggleson started for shore, but did not know exactly where he was, and shouted for help. Martin Hiltz, in the Pawtucket boat house, heard the cries and went to his rescue and brought him to the boat house.

PRESENTED A PEN

WARREN T. SHAW TO GO TO DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

Warren T. Shaw, a former teacher at the Lowell High school, who recently resigned his position to accept one as instructor in English at Dartmouth college, was feted by the members of the "Get Together" club last night at the Y. M. C. A. and was presented with a costly fountain pen.

The members of the club and their friends gathered at the rooms at six o'clock at which time a dainty supper was served by a committee of ladies consisting of Mrs. F. M. Perkins chairman, Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. D. E. Yarnell and Mrs. Roberts.

After the meal, an interesting talk on "Does a college education help a man who intends to live a commercial life?" was given by Mr. Shaw, who began by saying he was sorry to leave his associates of the club, but said there was some pleasure in knowing that he would return occasionally to mingle with them now and then.

The presentation of the pen was made by Mr. John Williams in behalf of the members, who wished to express their esteem to an ex-president of the club.

CLERK IS ACCUSED

Is Charged With Robbing the Mails

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Clarence R. MacCarrick, about 35 years of age, married, and living at 7 Salem place, Malden, who for four years has been employed as a clerk in the North postal station, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal James Ruhl, charged with embezzling letters from the mail.

The defendant was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes, and in default of $500 sureties was remanded to the East Cambridge jail for a hearing on Sept. 19. MacCarrick has a wife and two small children.

For several weeks complaints have been coming to Supt. E. P. Lincoln of the North postal station of letters and packages missing from the special delivery pouches which came over the four lines of the Boston & Maine railroad and were dumped at the station for distribution.

It was MacCarrick's duty to dump this mail between 5.45 a. m. and 2 p. m., and 3 p. m. and 11.30 p. m. on alternate weeks.

Supt. Lincoln notified Chief Postoffice Inspector Letherman, and Inspectors C. E. Jennings and J. M. White were detailed. They watched MacCarrick, and allege they saw him take letters from the mail and open them, after which he tore up the envelopes and deposited any valuables or money in his pocket.

Jennings and White claim that thousands of letters were stolen. They found one letter sent by Anne Braley to her brother in this city and containing $4. The letter was sent from the Crowningshield hotel, Clifton. Inspector Jennings communicated with the woman yesterday after MacCarricks' arrest, and she stated she had sent $4 by special delivery to her brother. She will appear as a government witness.

MISSING WOMAN

WAS FOUND IN A HOME IN FRANKLIN PARK

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 16.—Mrs. John Massie, the aged woman who mysteriously disappeared from her home at 33 Dutton street Tuesday night, was found yesterday in a home at Franklin park, about two miles from the residence of Henry Chatel, where she was stopping.

Mrs. Massie is unable to give a connected account of her wanderings. She says she remembers seeing a large body of water and a railroad station. The water is believed to have been Lake Massabesic, which is some five miles from the Chatel home.

She was found on the steps of a Franklin park residence in an exhausted condition with her clothing wet through. Her identity was disclosed by articles giving a description of her which had been published in the newspapers.

HELD FOR ASSAULT

Man Used a Crutch as a Club

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., Sept. 16.—A fight at the gravel bank, which may prove fatal, occurred yesterday afternoon. Four or five men who had been drinking and were in a cave near the gravel bank got into a fight among themselves which resulted in a probable fatal ending.

Cornelius Doyle had one arm broken in two places and his head pounded by a man who gave his name as John Henderson, a needle peddler, a man with one leg, and who used the crutch he carried to fight with as a weapon knocking down Doyle, breaking his arm and pounding his head to a jelly. The policemen prevented further injuries. Doyle was taken to a nearby house, but his recovery is extremely doubtful.

GIRL WAS MANGLED

She Was Attacked by a Huge Lion

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Clawed and bitten by a huge lion in a side show at the State fair yesterday afternoon, Laura Burns, 7, of Morrisville is hovering between life and death at a Syracuse hospital. The girl was frightfully mangled and may not recover.

Cages of lions were roped off with clothes line so that spectators were not supposed to get nearer than four or five feet of the cage. The little girl climbed under the rope barrier.

The lion reached out its paw and fastened its claws in her head. The animal drew the child to the cage, while her screams rang through the tent.

With his other paw he clawed at the child's face and tried to draw her through the bars. Attendants rushed to the child's aid but the animal had her fast in his grasp.

The screams of terror of the child attracted throngs to the tent. People crowded through the entrance and jammed against the cage. Attendants beat the lion with bars and prodded the infuriated animal until the child was released.

When the little girl had been finally freed it was found that the lion had torn out one of her eyes, torn off an ear and lacerated her face and the upper part of her body.

BILLERICA

Tomorrow will be observed as Labor Sunday at the North Billerica Baptist church. A special labor service will be held at 7 o'clock in the evening when Rev. Charles H. Williams, Ph. D., the pastor, will deliver a sermon on "What the Workingman Needs."

NAVY DEPARTMENT

To Investigate Cause of Sailor's Death

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—An investigation into the cause of the death of one sailor and the sudden illness of seventy-one other bluejackets on the battleship Michigan, believed to have been due to cold storage chicken, while the ship was at the Southern drill grounds ten days ago, will be made by the navy department.

Although Capt. Usher of the ship will not state what he considers caused the sickness, many chickens kept in the refrigerators were thrown overboard soon after the illness developed.

The battleship Michigan arrived at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday for a few days' stay. Her hull will be scraped and a few minor repairs made. Immediately after the arrival Capt. Nathaniel Usher stated that on Labor day some seventy sailors on the ship complained of feeling ill. They were treated in the ship's hospital, recovering in a few days. Two days later William Starkweather of Franklin Springs, N. Y., complained of the same trouble. Although everything possible was done for him, he died five days later.

A week ago Sunday the chickens were taken from the ship's refrigerator and showed no signs of taint. They were not canned.

All the men, save Starkweather, recovered and were able to be about when the battleship docked at Charlestown. Funeral services for Starkweather were held on the Michigan Sunday. The body was transferred to the hospital ship Solace and sent to his home.

Capt. Usher yesterday afternoon in a report to the navy department forwarded without comment the report of a board of survey, composed of officers of the Michigan.

MAIL CARRYING

BY AEROPLANE TO BE TESTED BY HITCHCOCK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Not to be outdone by the British postal authorities in the carrying of mails through the air, the latest method of letter transportation, Postmaster-General Hitchcock last night gave his consent to the establishment of an experimental aeroplane mail route between one of the outlying branches of the Brooklyn, N. Y., postoffice and the aerodrome at Nassau boulevard, Long Island, during the international aviation meet, which will be held there from Sept. 23 to Oct. 1.

It is probable that a special postal station will be established at the aviation field and a temporary postmaster appointed by the department to conduct the business of receiving and dispatching mails and selling postage stamps. The postoffice department will watch with interest the experiments of carrying mail by aeroplanes.

The first successful official aeroplane letter route was opened last Saturday by the British postal administration, which began a series of experiments in the carrying of mails by aeroplanes from Hendon, Eng., to Windsor castle, a distance of almost 20 miles. Four aviators, with two biplanes and two monoplanes, were engaged in the work and about 100,000 letters constituted the first delivery.

These experiments have been watched with considerable interest by the U. S. postal authorities, who are of the opinion that the day when letters will be forwarded from city to city by airships is not far distant.

FATE OF RECIPROCITY

Will Depend Largely on the Verdict of Province of Quebec

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—It is now conceded by both sides that the result of the election will largely, if not entirely, depend on the verdict of the Province of Quebec. As a result this province is now a maelstrom of political activity, the campaign being marked by an intensity and bitterness never before equaled in its history.

While the Liberal leaders continue to insist that reciprocity is the paramount issue, yet the Nationalists treat reciprocity as a side issue, and insist upon forcing the naval issue to the front. So energetic has been this attack on the naval policy that the Liberals are compelled to spend much of their time in defensive argument.

The prestige of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name is being employed more widely than ever before, the example being set by the premier himself, who at Victoriaville, the little village in which Sir Wilfrid began his career as a lawyer, made a personal plea that his countrymen should not desert him at this supreme hour of his career.

That Sir Wilfrid's appeal will be effective is not doubted. But whether it is sufficient to counteract the inroads made by Mr. Bourassa is questioned. Without Bourassa and the naval specter, Sir Wilfrid would go back to Ottawa with practically the same strength behind him from his native province as he had before dissolution. As it is, the conservatives claim they will carry 37 seats out of the 65 in Quebec province. The Liberals will not be surprised at slight conservative gains in Quebec, although not sufficient to alter the general result of a victory for the country at large.

The government expects to sweep the entire belt of countries along Lake Ontario, which would mean a net gain of five seats to the Liberals from the Conservatives, as a result of the strong feeling among farmers in that section over the barley provision in the reciprocity agreement.

In their efforts to offset the favor which reciprocity meets, the Conservatives contend that if the Canadian market is opened to the United States Canada will be compelled to extend similar privileges to other countries under the so-called "favored" nation" clause.

Meantime the betting still favors the return of the Laurier government.

The annexation issue is still being urged upon the numerous natives of Great Britain who have come to Ontario in the past four or five years.

BOSTON LETTER USED

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 16.—The campaign in eastern Canada continued with vigor yesterday and all sorts of arguments are being advanced to bolster up their cause by Liberals and Conservatives alike.

A Boston fish commission house is receiving some gratuitous advertising in bold type on the first page of Conservative newspapers and at public meetings because of a letter written to a firm in Richibucto, which ships thousands of tons of smelts each fall and winter to the New York and Boston markets.

The letter is quoted in an attempt to show that reciprocity will not benefit shippers.

THE HUNTING SEASON OPENS

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The members of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men met in regular weekly session last night in Odd Fellows temple, Senior Sagamore Edmond Whitney on the stump. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. One application was received and referred to a committee for investigation. The committee on ways and means made many good recommendations for the welfare of the tribe, and the report was unanimously accepted.

The entertainment committee expects to get busy next month. The degree staff will organize at the next meeting for the season's work.

Remarks on the tribe's welfare were made by Brothers George Houle, Frank Riley, George A. Frost and Frank Gray.

A Wonderful Discovery Which Practically Eliminates the Dangers of Death by Catarrh or Diseases Which Originate with Catarrh

(From the Paterson, N. J., Guardian)

Ninety-four per cent of all the diseases with which the human system is afflicted, originate or turn into catarrh; assuring himself of this fact, Dr. Barker gave the matter of catarrh his entire time and study, and after several years of most thorough research for a remedy which would positively cure catarrh in any form, he prepared a prescription which he used in his private practice without a single failure of any case of catarrh he treated. After a considerable amount of persuasion he consented to put the prescription up in convenient form, so that sufferers from this terrible disease could purchase the treatment at a nominal cost. The prescription will be found in most any drug store in the United States under the label bloodine. In a recent introductory sale in the city of New York, more than 20,000 bottles were sold in a single week.

I am so confident that bloodine will cure anyone afflicted with catarrh that I will gladly supply it to any patient on a positive guarantee to cure or money will be as cheerfully refunded as it is taken. If your druggist does not keep bloodine you can be supplied by The Bloodine Laboratories, Boston, Mass. at 50c a bottle, or six bottles for $2.50.

CHARTER BOARD

SAYS MAYOR HAS NO PART IN LOW TAX RATE

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The Cambridge Charter association has issued a reply to a local challenge that information be furnished showing that the adoption of a commission charter in other cities has resulted in a decreased tax rate. It says that a low tax rate is not an indication of efficient municipal conduct and in proof instances the reductions in the Cambridge tax rate this year and last, when, the association declares, the efficiency of local administration had no contributory part.

"The real test of the efficiency of commission government," the association declares, "is whether it responds to the demands of the people, whether for retrenchment or expansion or for better moral and physical conditions."

Letters from several prominent citizens of Des Moines are added, testifying to such a result following the adoption of a commission in their city in 1908.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

At the second regular meeting of the Chelmsford board of trade, Thursday evening a large attendance listened to an interesting talk on the provisions of the contract between the town and the Lowell Electric Light company, by Royal Parkinson, representing the Lowell Electric Light company. Carl M. Pihl of Lowell spoke in a humorous vein.

The reports of the several committees were presented, among which was an important recommendation with regard to the odors emanating through existing conditions at the plant of the Whitman & Pratt Rendering Co. The board of directors was instructed to take the necessary steps to have the nuisance abated. The grade crossings and the street railway were also touched upon in the course of the various reports.

The members then went in to consider the principal business of the evening, which was made in the form of a motion that, "It be the sense of the meeting that a five-year contract should be entered into with the Lowell Electric Light Corporation." A general discussion of this important proposition followed in which a large number of the members took part, the general sentiment being expressed that the terms offered by the corporation were not attractive enough to enter into a contract for so long a time.

A Hint to Brown-tail Sufferers

If you happen to be one of our many readers who are suffering the torments of Brown-tail poison, here is welcome news for you.

The best remedy known for Brown-tail poison is Tolletine. Get it at your druggist's today. You will find that the first application will bring relief and the terrible irritation will soon cease. Tolletine is an old reliable New England remedy that has a score of summer uses. There is nothing like it for sunburn, tired aching feet, mosquito and insect bites, etc. In fact, irritation and inflammation of every kind yield to it very quickly.

STOCK MARKET

WAS BUOYANT AT THE CLOSE TODAY

Scarcity of Stocks Made the Shorts Nervous.—General Sentiment Improved by Action of the Market.—The National Biscuit Co. made an Improvement

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—On a light volume of trading prices rose in the stock market today. Canadian Pacific made the best gain, amounting to 1¾, Union Pacific, Reading, N. P., Missouri Pacific and National Biscuit advanced a point, Lehigh Valley and Southern Pacific ¾ and Atchison ⅝. Atchison pfd. moved against the market, losing a point.

Prices made further progress upward but after the list generally had scored advances of from 1 to 1¼ the demand dwindled so rapidly that speculation became almost stagnant. National Biscuit advanced 4 points.

The market closed buoyant. The scarcity of stocks, despite the vigorous rise in prices, made the shorts nervous and they bid freely against themselves for large blocks, forcing the list to a much higher level. General sentiment was much improved by the action of the market, but the dealings were largely confined to the professional element. National Biscuit got up 6½. Canadian Pacific 6¾, Federal Mining pfd. 3, Lehigh Valley 2¾, U. P. and Amal. Copper 2½, Reading 2½ and U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel pfd. and Gt. Northern pfd. 2 points.

DEATHS

BOLLES—Bridget A. Bolles, aged 60 years, died yesterday at the state hospital, Tewksbury. She leaves five sisters. The body was taken to the rooms of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

HETU—Alfred Hetu, aged 17 years, 8 months and 11 days, died today at the Lowell hospital. He leaves to mourn his loss a father, Pierre Hetu of 11 Middlesex place; a brother, Henri—of California, and a sister, Louisa of this city. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

McMAHON—Died, in Beverly, this morning, Thomas McMahon, aged 11 years. He leaves to mourn his loss, three brothers, John, Edward, and Frank, all of Beverly; two sisters, Mary of Beverly and Sabina of Lowell. His body will be brought to Lowell for burial by C. H. Molloy & Sons.

FUNERALS

YOUNG—All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Ann Young was tenderly consigned to the final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The cortege left the house of mourning, 163 Crosby street, at 8.30 o'clock, and wended its way to the Sacred Heart church, where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Franklin T. Wood, O. M. I. The sanctuary choir under the direction of Mr. John J. Kelly sang the Gregorian mass. Mr. Kelly presided at the organ.

The bearers were Messrs. Thomas R. Lane, John H. Cull, William Ashworth, Frank Donnelly, William Cowbray and John Halloran.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes laid upon the grave were a mammoth pillow of roses, lilies and ferns, with the inscription "Sister," from the bereaved sisters; large wreath of roses, asters and lilies, sympathy of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powers of Lynn, Mass.; large spray of lilies and palms tied with chiffon ribbon and inscribed "Auntie," sympathy of Mrs. Dolansky of Lynn, also many wreaths and sprays from other friends.

The funeral was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends, including many from New York city, Boston, Hyde Park, Lynn and Gleasondale, Mass.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the last sad rites of the Catholic church were read by Rev. Fr. Wood, O. M. I.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott.

SPARKS—The imposing funeral of the late Mrs. James Sparks took place this morning from her late home, 172 Pleasant street, Dracut and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege left the house at 9 o'clock and wended its way to St. Michael's church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. John Shaw, assisted by the Rev. Francis Mullin and the Rev. Thomas Walsh, the latter pastor of St. Mary's church, Collinsville, as deacon and sub deacon. The choir under the direction of Thomas P. Boulger rendered the Gregorian chant, Miss Margaret Griffin and Mr. Boulger sustaining the solos. The bearers were James H., John T. and George F. Sparks, sons of deceased and William O'Brien.

There was a profusion of rich flowers deposited on the grave as a token of esteem from the relatives and friends of deceased. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by the Rev. Francis Mullin. Funeral arrangements were in charge of B. F. Welch. Undertaker F. H. Savage in charge.

PHILBRICK—The funeral services of Mrs. Linnie M. Philbrick were held yesterday afternoon from the home of her sister, Mrs. O. M. Haines, 18 Upland street, at 3 o'clock, and were largely attended. Rev. Caleb H. Fisher, D. D., pastor of the First Universalist church, officiated. There was singing by a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. F. L. Roberts, Mrs. H. C. Symonds, Osmond Long and Harry Needham, who sang "Softly and Tenderly," "Sometime We'll Understand" "Rest, Sister, Rest." The floral tributes were profuse, consisting of: Standing wreath on base inscribed "Sister," from brothers and sisters; pillow, inscribed "Rest, Linnie, Rest," from a friend in Oklahoma; spray, C. A. Colburn; sprays, Mrs. M. Sinclair and Mrs. Lucy Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Locke and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gibson, Mr. Ira Boothby, Mr. Bevers, Mrs. C. H. Leavitt and Mrs. David Chandler, First Universalist church, Mrs. A. C. Hemmanway, Mr. and Mrs. William Perkins of Nashua, Mrs. George W. Cummings and Mrs. Katie P. Spalding of Nashua. The bearers were Messrs. O. M. Haines, B. P. Saunders, Charles and Warren A. Colburn. Burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, where the committal service was read by the Rev. Dr. Fisher. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

MARTIN—The funeral services of Mrs. Mary A. Martin were held yesterday afternoon from her home, 9½ South Whipple street, at 1 o'clock and were largely attended by her many friends and relatives. The services were conducted by Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church. There was singing by a mixed quartet, composed of Mr. Osmond Long, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilmott and Samuel Asquith, who sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Shall We Meet Beyond the River" and "Christian's Good Night." There were many and beautiful floral tributes, consisting of: Pillow inscribed "Wife" from Thomas Martin; pillow, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Martin and Miss Ann L. Martin; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Wardle; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Russell and Miss Ela; spray, Mr. and Mrs. R. Butterworth; spray, Mr. Henry Weight and family; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hurd; wreath, Florence Bennett; spray, Albert and Henry Forrest; spray, J. Burns and Charles Thomas Sullivan; wreath, Ladies' Aid society of First Primitive Methodist church. The bearers were Messrs. John Kerney, Ambrose Hindle, Robert Butterworth, Hugh Walker, Walter Hird, William Bennett. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery, where the committal service was read by the Rev. Mr. Matthews. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

CONNELL—The funeral of Mrs. Edwina J. Connell took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Esterbrook, 108 Jenness street. Rev. Frank G. Alger officiated. The bearers were Messrs. J. V. B. Coburn, J. W. Esterbrook, Philip Connell and Frank Fox. Burial was in the family lot in the Hudson, N. H., cemetery. C. M. Young had charge of the funeral arrangements.

SULLIVAN—The funeral of Marion Sullivan took place Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the home of her parents, No. 78 Common street and was largely attended. Interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery and was in charge of Funeral Director James W. McKenna.

McMAHON—The funeral of Thomas McMahon will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral chapel of C. H. Molloy & Sons in Market street. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. C. H. Molloy & Sons in charge.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 16.—The directors of the Maine Central railroad have declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent., payable Oct. 1, the dividend representing a reduction from an eight to a six per cent. annual basis, in accordance with the recent announcement made in connection with the doubling of the road's capital.

The Maine Central is controlled by the New York, New Haven & Hartford, through the Boston & Maine holdings.

MANY SALES MADE

Real Estate Dealers Were Kept Quite Busy

The real estate transactions have been numerous in this city during the past month, and a large number of them have been closed through the agencies of Eugene G. Russell and Abel R. Campbell.

Among the most important sales recorded at Mr. Russell's office during the past month are the following: To John R. Sargent, a house lot on Wedge street, on which Mr. Sargent is building; to Auburn Taylor, a lot on Highland avenue, on which the purchaser will build; to Charles A. Morton, a house lot in the district, on which the purchaser will build; to Mrs. Della McAndrews, a lot near the new St. Margaret's church. Lots were also sold in the Highlands for Abel R. Campbell and Ray S. Byam, for Peter J. Hanson, Herbert Varney and many others.

Report of sales made by Abel R. Campbell for week ending Sept. 15, 1911: A lot of land was sold last week to a well known business man of this city, who purchased for investment. The lot is nicely situated in the Highlands, at the corner of two accepted streets. Full details will be given when deeds are placed on record.

Deeds will be placed on record today, conveying a double house situated at 27-29 Fifth street. The house contains seven rooms and bath to each tenement. This house was purchased by Miss Annie T. Carroll of this city. The grantor in this sale was Mrs. Leroy M. Turner of Florence avenue.

FIRM OWES $703,700

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 16.—The report of the receiver of the late banking firm of Tyler, Fogg and Co. of this city, which has been filed in the supreme court, shows the total indebtness of that firm to be $703,700, of which $237,283 is unsecured. The net assets of the firm are given as $26,987. A summary of the inventory of the assets shows goods and chattels to the amount of $111,725.21.

MAYOR GAYNOR

SAYS WOMEN ARE TOO GOOD FOR MEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—"Most any woman a man happens to meet is too good for him," wrote Mayor Gaynor yesterday, replying to a letter from a resident of Arkansas City, Kan., who had asked the mayor to find him a wife. "Do you not know the proverb that he who goes far away from home for a wife is apt to be fooled? And then again, how could I recommend any good girl here to you? You may not be so attractive as you think you are."

The mayor also answered yesterday a letter from a little girl who complained that when she tried to play on the streets "the police chased her."

"I receive letters daily from men and women who hate to see children play in the streets," wrote Mayor Gaynor, "but on inquiry I always find that they are people who have no children of their own."

A LITTLE NONSENSE

DOWN BELOW.

"So Mr. Lobster is going to run for Congress, eh? Whom has he engaged as his political workers?"

"Why, the Whale brothers. They're the boss spouters."

HIS MISTAKE.

"What's the matter with Bugs that he looks so sour?"

"He got too hungry last night to be particular, and bit an old maid who was at a lawn party."

SAFE.

"Nibble quietly and you can steal their bait."

"But there are a man and girl up there holding the lines."

"Oh! they'll never bother you. I just heard him say for the twentieth time, 'Do you love your tootsie-wootsie?' and she said, 'Yum-yum!'"

QUITE POSSIBLE.

"Why did Mrs. Flamingo refuse to take Mr. Kangaroo into her boarding-house?"

"Why, she was afraid he'd jump his board, I understand."

DEEP DOINGS.

"What's ailing Mr. Trout."

"He suffers from sunstroke."

"Go on! Whoever heard of a fish with a sunstroke?"

"Well, you see, a sunfish bumped into him."

POINT OF VIEW.

"An awfully nice man lives in that house."

"Is that so?"

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

PILGRIMS LEAVE ENGLAND

SEPT. 16.—September 16 is the date on which the Pilgrims set sail from Plymouth, England. Escaping from their native land they spent 11 years in Holland but could not reconcile themselves to the customs of the Dutch. Hearing of the colony of Virginia they decided to sail for the new world and religious freedom. Buying the Speedwell and hiring the Mayflower they set sail, but the Speedwell proved unseaworthy and the little band used the Mayflower alone. The "Pilgrim Fathers" with their wives and children numbered 102, one died on the voyage and one was born. The voyage lasted 67 days, and instead of landing in Virginia they "blew" into Cape Cod. They chose Plymouth harbor as a landing place, and Plymouth Rock was given a place in history. If the good old "Fathers" had known the frills that were to be put on by some of their "descendants" it is probable that they would have kept on sailing just to keep a lot of otherwise sane people from making monkeys of themselves.

CIRCULAR ON REQUEST

THE MAINE VOTE

Should be Recounted, Says Gov. Plaisted

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 16.—Belief that the ballots cast at Monday's election may be recounted is entertained by Governor Plaisted. He said last night:

"We want to know how the people of Maine voted, not what some town clerks set down as a wrong record. I don't believe this government is so impotent as to be unable to ascertain how the voters registered their choice. For instance, in precinct 2 of ward 9, Portland, the record was false and the return was false. It is claimed there were 50 more ballots deposited there than the returns show.

"I believe there is plenty of law to allow these to be recounted. This is one case where a recount should be made."

Gov. Plaisted has called a special meeting of the council for Monday at 4 p. m. The official returns, all of which have been received except from six places, will be opened and canvassed.

The figures of Secretary of State Davis were completed today, when the clerk's return from the city of Old Town was received. Last night Mr. Davis announced that the majority for repeal was 136. His compilations showed the vote to have been as follows: For repeal, 60,514; against 60,378.

Unofficial figures received in Portland show no change from a majority against repeal of 369 votes.

SPECIAL SESSION

OF THE MAINE LEGISLATURE MAY BE CALLED

AUGUSTA Me., Sept. 18.—There appears to be reason to believe that Governor Plaisted may call a special session of the legislature to receive the returns from last Monday's special election and in the opinion of some of the final decision as to whether or not prohibition is retained in the constitution may not be settled until that time.

Chaper 35 of the resolves of 1911, under the terms of which the question was placed before the people, provides in part:

"—lists of votes so received shall be made and returned to the secretary of state in the same manner as votes for governor and members of the legislature and the governor and council shall count the same and make return to the legislature and if a majority of the votes are in favor of said amendment the constitution shall be amended accordingly."

In the case of the other constitutional amendments which were voted upon at the special election the resolves read, in each case; that the governor and council shall make returns to the "next" legislature and if it shall "appear" that a majority of voters are in favor.

It is pointed out in these latter instances that the word next appears before legislature while chapter 35 does not designate any particular legislature.

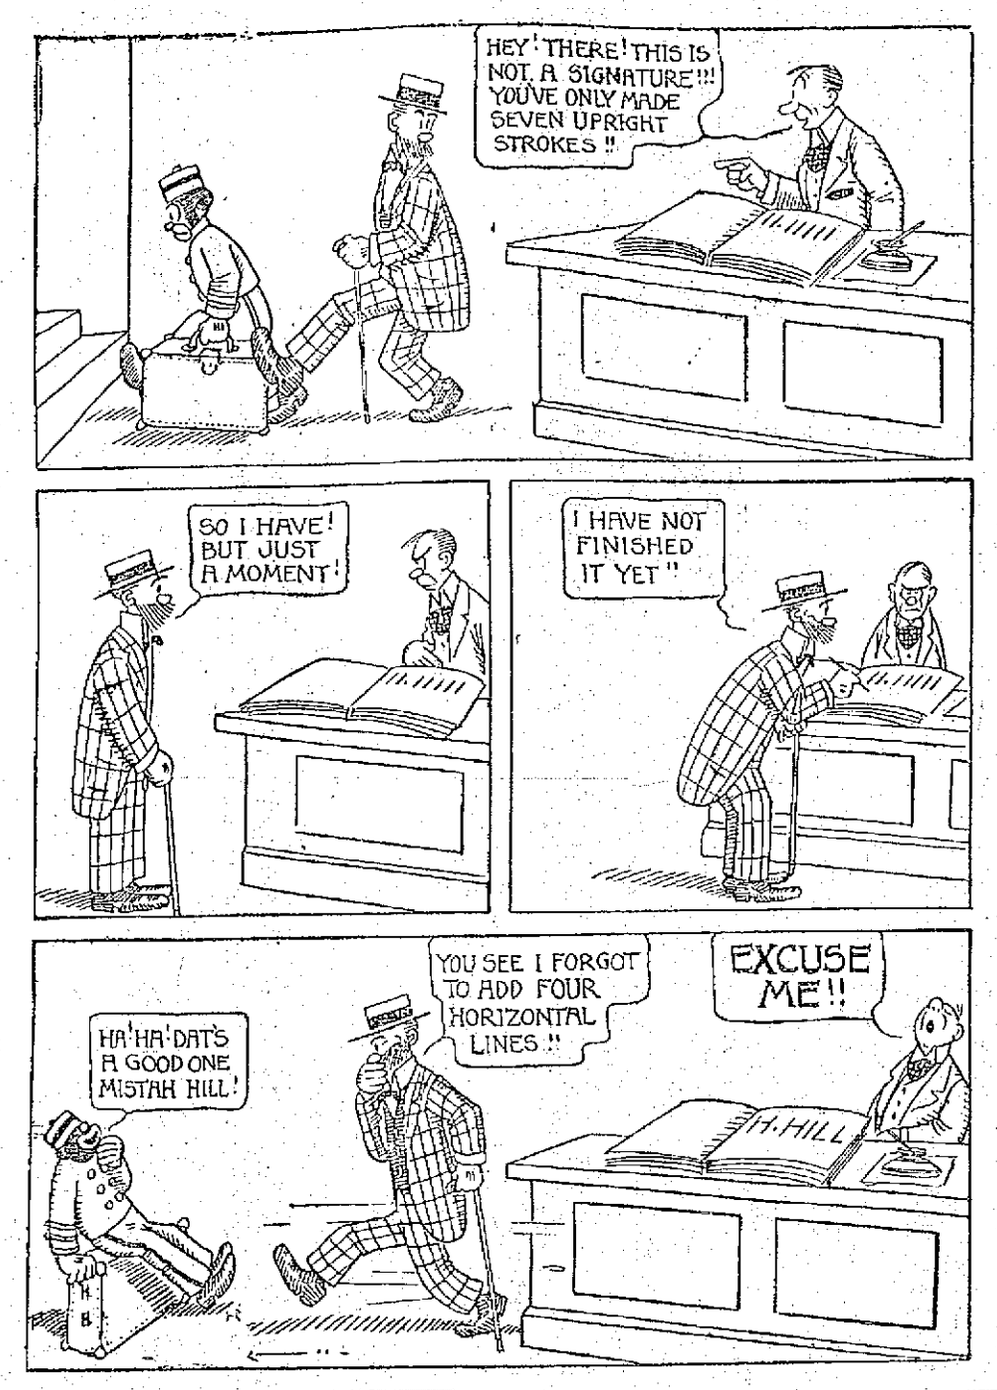

It is also contended that Governor Plaisted might well base his expressed belief in the possibility of a recount on the wording of this chapter, because of the use of the words "if a majority of the voters are in favor." This, it is declared, indicates that the framers of the resolve intended to constitute the legislature a board of review of the ballots themselves, if necessity for such a recount arose.

Gov. Plaisted is the sole judge of what constitutes an occasion that is sufficiently extraordinary to warrant the convening of the legislature in special session. If he believes the situation demands immediate action he can call the members and officers together by telegraph and have the machinery of state working within a week. He has declined as yet to make a statement as to his probable course of action, stating that he preferred to await for the occasion to arise before making his decision.

Major Charles House, who tabulated and made the computations of the state house returns for 13 consecutive elections, is authority for the statement that the clerks returns and the official returns to the governor and council almost always vary by 100 or more votes but such mistakes have never been so vital before.

The use of the Morey ballot booths was supposed to be universal throughout the state in the election Monday, but it has been found that some town officials were not conversant with the law in the case and so the booths were not used. Attorneys who have expressed an opinion on the subject generally agree that the failure to comply with this law does not disfranchise the voters.

EXCUSE ME!

MORRIS WAS DEFEATED

Jim Flynn Proved Too Much for the "White Hope"

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, fought a winning bout 10 hot rounds with Carl Morris, the big heavyweight of Oklahoma, in Madison Square Garden last night. At the end, the Oklahoma man's face was badly battered, while Flynn was unmarked save for a lump over the left eye.

As a possible "white hope" for championship class recognition, Morris is now considered a failure. He had the advantage of nearly 50 pounds in weight and five inches in height, but he failed to daze Flynn at any stage.

Morris really had only one round, the third. In all the others, Flynn was his master in ring work.

In the infighting Flynn's left hooks and jabs soon set the blood flowing, and at all times he was willing to take punishment to send back worse than he got.

Morris landed many hard lefts and rights in every round, but Flynn seemed to be impervious to them.

It was the bloodiest fight ever seen in this city and many of the spectators were astonished at the stamina of both men and the wonderfully fast pace maintained through the half score of rounds. There was no denying the verdict of the onlookers as to who had won, for Flynn was cheered vociferously as he followed his seconds to the dressing room after the bout.

The Battle by Rounds

Round 1—Morris led for head, but missed. Morris was cautioned for holding. Morris sent in a right uppercut and Flynn hooked left to body. The big man once again drove Flynn to the ropes, but Flynn came back with lefts to the jaw. They clinched frequently, but Flynn put right and left to body, with Morris throwing his weight on him. Flynn's left hand hooks drew the blood from Morris' mouth. Morris in all landed three right-hand uppercuts before the bell.

Round 2—They went to close quarters at once, with Flynn uppercutting with lefts on body and neck. Morris sent right and left to body, Flynn tried right swing and slipped to floor. He slipped again the same way, and then they fought at close quarters, with Flynn keeping his left working up to the face. Morris' right eye was closed at the bell.

Round 3—Morris landed four short rights to head without a return. Then Flynn forced the big fellow to his knees with left and right to body and a right over to the jaw. Flynn kept working in to the body with both hands and Morris sent back three short right hand punches to head. Morris forced Flynn to the ropes at the bell.

Round 4—Flynn, at close quarters, kept digging both hands to the body and got over a right hook to the left eye. Morris laid on the smaller man, fighting hard for the body and neck. Flynn, with a left hook and right uppercut, opened a gash over the right eye. Morris forced Flynn around with his weight and Flynn was bleeding from the mouth at the bell. Morris' face was marked up and he bled profusely.

Round 5—Morris put four lefts and rights to the head, but Flynn hooked and uppercut on the body and head with good effect. Flynn drove two straight lefts to the nose. Morris held and Flynn fell in close. He drove Morris back with two lefts and a right to the face. Flynn had Morris bleeding freely at the call of time.

Round 6—Flynn kept tearing at the face with left uppercuts and just missed a right swing for the jaw. Morris landed heavy short-arm blows on body and head. Then Flynn opened up and took an awful right wallop in order to get in a hard left hook. Both of Morris' eyes were almost closed when he went to his corner.

Round 7—The men fought at close range again and Flynn took a lot of punishment in order to get in his hooks. Both men were covered with blood from Morris' face. Flynn let Morris beat him on the head and face, but sent back some facers with both hands. Both men were weak at the bell.

Round 9—Both tried long-range work with little effect, but soon resumed the infighting. Morris jabbed his right and Flynn hooked his left to the head, being willing to take a punch in order to send one back. They were fighting hard at the bell.

Round 10—After shaking hands they exchanged heavy body blows. Flynn sent his right to the jaw and Morris clinched. Flynn forced matters, landing two left-hand uppercuts. Morris was hanging on, using his weight, but Flynn kept boring in, hooking hard lefts. The men were locked in a hard mix-up when the gong ended the bout.

The popular opinion was that Flynn had won handily, and, considering the difference in size and weight, had fought a wonderfully clever battle. Morris' face was badly cut and battered, while Flynn only showed a bump over the left eye. Flynn was loudly cheered as he left the ring.

JOHN M. FARRELL, Real Estate and Personal Property Auctioneer
162 MARKET STREET, LOWELL, MASS.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL ESTATE AT PUBLIC AUCTION
Wednesday, Sept. 20, 1911, at 3 P. M.

One 2-tenement house, Nos. 88 and 90 Perry street. Two one-family houses, Nos. 94 and 102 Perry street and nine lots of land adjoining, all situated on Perry street and two lots of land on Concord street.

To settle the estate of the late E. A. Smith, I shall sell at public auction to the person who will bid the highest, the following described real estate: Lot No. 1 consists of a 2 1-2 story, 2-tenement slate roof house and 3000 square feet of land with a frontage of 50 feet on Perry street. There are two tenements, 4 rooms downstairs and 4 rooms and two attic rooms upstairs. Each has city water, gas separate toilets, separate front and back entrances and rents for $17 per month. Has concrete walks and the buildings are in good condition. All you need would be a little paint.

Lots Nos. 2 and 3 consist of two one-family houses, being Nos. 94 and 102 Perry street. Each house is 2 1-2 stories, slated roofs, of 8 rooms each and two attics, and about 3000 feet of land with a frontage of 50 feet, very conveniently arranged, has city water, gas, good sewerage, has concrete walks and rents for $13 per month each. The present tenants have been in the tenement nine years and want to stay.

Lots 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, are lots adjoining Lot No. 3 on Perry street and contain from 3000 to 3400 square feet each, having a 50 foot frontage. Lots Nos. 13 and 14 are situated on Concord street and contain 2400 square feet 40x60 and 4950 square feet 55x90. This property is situated within 10 minutes' walk of the centre of the city, close to many workshops and mills so that it ought to appeal to any person who wants a home that is all built, or a piece of land that you could build on to suit your own taste. Don't fail to attend this sale as you may lose your opportunity.

Terms of sale: $200 in cash must be paid as a deposit to the auctioneer on each of the lots, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 as soon as they are struck off; $50 in cash on each of the lots of land.

Per order H. P. BEALS, and D. H. DEWAR, Trustees.

Manchester Unity Lodge, I. O. O. F., M. U., and Its History

Merrimack Valley Lodge 7196, I. O. O. F. M. U. was instituted Oct. 20, 1892 in what was then Manchester Unity hall on Central street. There were 37 charter members, the initiation work being performed by degree staff of Excelsior lodge. Merrimack Valley lodge was the last of the Manchester Unity lodges instituted in this city and it has since its inception given the older lodges a hard race for supremacy, having now 250 members and a cash balance of over $4000 deposited in local banks. Of the original charter members only 11 remain, the other members having died or removed from the city. The remaining charter members are William H. Holgate, James R. Greenwood, William Hodgson, Frank Wilkinson, Wm. H. Wilkinson, Douglas Firth, Charles Hills, A. W. Black, W. G. Porter, William Haslam, Alexander Slack. The first board of officers were as follows: William Holgate, N. G., T. F. Hourihan, V. G., Jas. R. Greenwood, secretary, Thomas Steel, treasurer.

The lodge early removed from Central street to the old Odd Fellows hall, Merrimack street where the meetings were held until the fire of Jan. 1904, which seriously damaged the building. Quite a loss was sustained by this fire, all the regalias and degree parapheralia being destroyed. Temporary quarters were obtained in other halls until the building was repaired, when meetings were resumed at the old quarters which have since been the lodge home.

Although a number of the members have removed from the city since joining, the majority of them retain their interest and membership in the lodge and at the present time there are members in Florida, Maine, Rhode Island, Canada, Washington and other parts of the country who still keep their membership.

The following members are past grands of the lodge:

WILLIAM HOLGATE,
JAMES R. GREENWOOD
A. GORDON
F. E. ONGLEY
A. W. BLACK
CHAS. W. CULLUM
FRANK WILKINSON
THOMAS McAVOY
WALTER KILLERBY
E. E. LEITH

J. R. McLEAN
EDGAR W. DERMAN
J. E. BUCHANAN
V. J. MASON
H. SCHOLFIELD
CHARLES T. NEILD
WILLIAM HOWARTH
M. K. JOHNSON
JAMES EVERETT

During the 19 years of the lodge's existence, $2360 has been paid out for funeral claims, of which $600 was for the loss by death, of member's wives. The sum of $7377 has been disbursed to sick brothers and $2470 paid to the district office for levies on account of deaths of members.

The present board of officers are:

JAMES EVERETT, G. M.
J. E. RICHARDSON, N. G.
FRED PRESTON, V. G.
ARTHUR JUDD, Rec. Sec.
FRED CHAPMAN, P. S.
EDWARD FIELDING, Treas.
C. W. CULLUM, F. WALKER, W. BOSTWICK, trustees.

The regular meetings of the lodge are held on the first and third Fridays of the month in Grafton hall, Old Odd Fellows hall on Merrimack street.

On Friday evening, Oct. 20th, just 19 years since the inception of the lodge, the anniversary will be observed by a ladies' night and elaborate arrangements are being made to have the occasion a memorable one in the annals of the organization.

Mr. George W. Ingalls, the past secretary of the lodge, retired at the last election after serving as such in a faithful way for 14 consecutive years, and it was with deep sorrow that the members of the organization agreed to accept his resignation.

"BILL" MINER CAUGHT

He Is the Alleged Abductor of Eleanor Grace Price

HANNAH, N. D., Sept. 16.—Eluding Canada's mounted police and posses of over 200 citizens and escaping across the boundary to North Dakota only to be captured by a party of six Hannah residents, was the fate today of "Bill" Miner, alleged abductor of Eleanor Grace Price, the Snowflake, Man., schoolteacher, whose experiences caused the entire province to reach a high pitch of excitement. Miner had laid aside his gun in a shack on a farm near here and spent most of his time in a straw stack. Today he came forth and had a talk with a young farmer with the result that he went to the Hallasy farm, three miles west of Hannah, where he had breakfast. While Miner was at the breakfast table one of the boys on the farm mounted a horse and rode to the nearest telephone notifying the Hannah officials and half an hour later, after Miner had gone back to the haymow, an auto carrying the Hannah men arrived. Surprised in the haymow and unarmed, Miner submitted tamely. He declared he wanted to be taken to Hannah instead of Snowflake, Man., evidently fearing violence. In Hannah he was held a prisoner at the state bank until the arrival of the sheriff from Langdon.

THE BANK ROBBERS

Are Believed to Be Hiding In Vancouver

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Sept. 16.—It is the theory of the police that the robbers who yesterday robbed the local branch of the Bank of Montreal are hiding in Vancouver waiting for a chance to get away. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars of paper money stolen is in new $5 and $10 bills of the bank of Montreal and the numbers of every bill stolen is posted in every bank in Canada and on the American border.

The $20,000 in gold and the $80,000 in bills of Canadian and United States banks are available for use by the robbers, however.

The explosives, it has been found were set off by electricity.

TY COBB IN LEAD

Has First Place In American League

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Ty Cobb of Detroit continues to lead his league in batting. According to unofficial figures announced here today, Cobb has an average of .416, while Jackson of Cleveland, who is second, has an average of .399. Lajoie of Cleveland is in third place with an average of .393 to his credit.

To date Ty has a record of 129 games, 526 times at bat, 134 runs, 219 hits, 40 two-baggers, 20 three-baggers, seven home runs and 76 stolen bases.

National league batting averages are not as high as those in the American. Jackson of Boston leads in the National with an average of .357. Wagner of Pittsburg is in second place with an average of .350. Almeida of Cincinati and Clarke of Pittsburg are running a close race for third place. Almeida has an average of .341 and Clarke has an average of .340.

INSTANTLY KILLED

Banker Fell Beneath Wheels of Train

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Leopold Hauser, a manager in the banking house of Zimmerman & Forshay, was instantly killed today when he slipped from the platform of the station of the Long Island railroad and fell beneath the wheels of a train from which he had leaped while it was in motion. The young man's head was crushed and his body cut nearly in two.

FIGHTING GOULD

Candidate for County Commission Gets Busy

Reports come from down the county to the effect that Charles Atkins of Everett is making a strong campaign against County Commissioner Gould who is running for another term. Mr. Atkins has served four terms in the legislature. As yet he has not visited Lowell during the campaign, but it is understood he will devote the closing days to the northern part of the county.

A WILL CONTEST

MAN WAS LEFT NOTHING BY HIS COUSIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A contest of the will of Maria L. Campbell, who died at 77 Fifth avenue on March 28, was filed yesterday by William S. Van Rensselaer, a second cousin, of 60 Broadway, alleges that the will was brought about by fraud and undue influence of some persons unknown to him. The testator's nearest relatives are three cousins, M. Justine V. R. Townsend, mother of Howard Townsend, chairman of the grievance committee of the Bar association; Harriet V. R. Crosby of Charlestown, W. Va., and Eugene Van Rensselaer of Berkeley Springs, W. Va. These cousins with two children of a deceased cousin, Catherine V. R. Berry, divided the residuary estate.

There are thirty-nine descendants of the four cousins of Miss Campbell, among them Cornelia Thayer Moltke, wife of the Danish minister at Washington, R. Fulton Cutting and Louisa R. Livingston. Small bequests were left to the majority of these relatives, but the contestant got nothing. The will left $5,000 to the late Rev. Dr. W. R. Huntington, $5,000 to Ellen and Patrick Shea, $2,000 to Margaret and Thomas Lynch and $2,000 to Annie Shrader all of whom were servants.

CELEBRATION AT JUAREZ

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 16.—Juarez celebrated Mexican independance by dancing all night and firing a salute of 21 guns this morning and is as quiet as a village today. Threatened Magonista attacks on the town have not materialized and the largest band of Magonistas reported in the country around Juarez is at Rancheria, 30 miles below the town, where 30 men are said to be under arms. No attacks on Juarez is threatened today and the only disorder feared in the border town are those usually attending celebrations.

AT THE GROTTO

MASS TO BE CELEBRATED FIRST SUNDAY IN OCTOBER

The Oblate Fathers of St. Joseph's parish have received permission from Archbishop O'Connell of Boston to celebrate mass at the grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes on the grounds of the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street, and the first service will be held on Sunday, Oct. 1.

On the same day the Holy Family sodality of the parish will hold a pilgrimmage at the grotto. Prayers will be recited at the shrine and a sermon will be delivered by the director of the sodality, and all the men of the parish are invited to attend this pilgrimage.

HILTON IN LEAD

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The progress of Harold Hilton of England toward the American golf championship was but little hindered by Frederick Herreshoff of New York in the first half of the finals today, where Hilton had a lead of 4 up and 18 to play. Herreshoff played much poorer golf than in his match with Evans yesterday, especially in his short game.

LIEUT. RODGERS' TRIP

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—Lieut. Rodgers, the naval aviator, in an aeroplane descended at the Pimlico race track, north of this city, about 2.30 p. m. today. He left College Park, near Washington, at 1.55, ostensibly for Annapolis.

STEEN MURDERED

Paymaster of Coal Company Held Up By Robbers

PITTSBURG, Sept. 16.—David Steen, paymaster for the Pittsburg Coal Co., was held up, shot dead and robbed just before one o'clock today near Bresto, about 12 miles out of the city. County detectives have been despatched to the scene.

Steen is paymaster for the Pittsburg Coal Co.'s mines in this section, and Saturday is the regular payday for these mines. The offices of the Pittsburg Coal Co. here closed at noon and none of the officials have yet been reached. It is said that Steen carried with him several hundred thousand dollars in cash.

FRED H. ROURKE

WILL BE ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL IN A WEEK

Mr. Fred H. Rourke's condition is improving and the officials of the Charles Choate Memorial hospital in Woburn, where he is confined, made a statement to The Sun this afternoon that the patient is doing nicely and would be able to return to his home in a week.

RED CROSS SOCIETY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The American Red Cross society announced today that it is prepared to receive and forward any contributions for the famine sufferers in China. A statement compiled from official returns showing woeful conditions along the Yang Tze river as a result of the great flood which extended 1000 miles from Hankow to Shanghai, has been issued.

The price of rice at Shanghai has reached an abnormal figure. The river from Hankow to Shanghai is dotted with dead bodies of human beings and animals and the fields are converted into an inland sea.

JUSTICE PUTNAM

Issues Order for Appearance of Grout

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Supreme Court Justice Putnam issued a body attachment warrant for the appearance of County Commissioner Grout at today's investigation of the Union bank of Brooklyn. Mr. Grout's attorney fought the issuance of the warrant and finally all action was delayed pending an appeal. Assemblyman Goldstein said in court today that Gov. Dix had promised him that, if necessary, he would issue a subpoena compelling the former city comptroller to testify at the investigation.

EXCITEMENT IN PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, Sept. 16.—With the league leaders present here today a most unusual scene was presented about the centre of the city by baseball fans intent on seeing the clash between New York and Pittsburg. More than an hour before the game was scheduled to start the street cars were so crowded that many abandoned any idea of trolley transportation and groups of fans were observed negotiating for express wagons or most any vehicle to convey them to Forbes field, but two miles away. Besides, many walked.

JEWISH MISSIONS

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 16.—In the report of the committee on Jewish missions presented to the general conference of the Evangelical Lutheran church today by the Rev. Dr. Belfour of Pittsburg it was stated that a large proportion of Jews of the present day have abandoned the leading provisions of Mosaic law and, without any religion in the true sense of the word, offer a real field for missionary work, as does the whole Orient. Statistics show that during the 19th century 224,000 Jews became members of the Christian church, the report says, and in the present century the number annually accepting Christ as the promised savior is about 5000.

ARMORY NEWS

COMPANIES GETTING READY FOR THE WINTER SEASON

The Westford street armory has resumed its activity after the milltiamen had taken a well earned rest, and the members of the different local companies are getting things in shape again and are preparing for the annual winter athletic tournaments which are held in the state armory.

The directors of the league will hold a meeting probably next week and arrange a program of events to be run off during the cold weather, this program to consist of indoor amusements such as basket ball, bowling, rifle tournaments and other events of the sort.

The companies have already started their regular Saturday practice at the Dracut range and this afternoon at 2 o'clock the members of companies C, G and M, held a cartridge shoot at the latter place.

The 6th regimental team comprising Lieut. Doyle, Capt. Hunton, Sergt. Leary, Sergt.-Brig.-Adjt. Colby of the local companies, met the 22d Corps Cadet team of Salem in a shooting tournament at the Bay State range in Wakefield. This contest was very interesting for both teams have among its members some of the best shot in the militia.

Co. M's regimental shoot will be held next Tuesday at the Bay State range, Wakefield, and the 6th regimental shoot will take place on Oct. 2 at the same place. The state shoot will be held on the 22 and 23 of the present month at the Bay State range, which seems to be the rendez-vous of the Massachusetts militiamen this year.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Driven From Bed by Fire in House

Mr. and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson had narrow escapes from being either suffocated by smoke or burned to death when a fire broke out in their home at the corner of Andover and Harrison streets shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. The fire was caused by an overheated fireplace but was extinguished before much damage was done. The smoke in the house was so thick that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Thompson had a chance to dress themselves, and rushed into the street in light attire.

Inasmuch as the weather yesterday was rather damp, Mr. Thompson started a fire in the fireplace last night, but extinguished it before he retired for the night. The fire, however, got so hot that it heated the timbers underneath the fireplace and evidently burned until the header pin dropped off into a pile of kindling wood in the cellar and set that afire.

A woman who resides in the upper tenement of the building on the opposite corner was awakened by the strong odor of smoke and telephoning to the people who occupy the tenement below informed them that there was a fire across the street. The lower tenement is occupied by Mr. Edward A. Barnes and when the telephone bell sounded one of the occupants of the place tried to call Mr. Thompson on the telephone, but inasmuch as the blaze had burned the telephone wires there was no answer. Mrs. Barnes then sent in a telephone alarm and in a short space of time several pieces of apparatus were on the scene.

Dense clouds of smoke were pouring through the cellar windows when the department arrived and owing to the smoke the firemen had considerable difficulty in getting at the base of the fire. They were on the premises but a short time, however, when they had the fire under control but not before the contents of the cellar had been destroyed and one side of the house scorched.

Two valuable Boston terriers and a cat were suffocated by the smoke in the cellar.

The smoke awakened Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and they had considerable difficulty in making their escape from the building, not even having time to don more than a few articles of wearing apparel.

Fred C. Church held the insurance on the house of Perry D. Thompson, 185 Andover street.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

Blaze Broke Out in the Residence of John Anctil

The residence of John Anctil on the Dunstable road in Westford was destroyed by fire about midnight last night. The cause of the fire is unknown and the occupants of the house had to make a hurried exit in order to save their lives.

The building was a two story wooden affair and the blaze got such a start before it was discovered that those who rushed to the assistance were unable to check the flames.

The insurance on the building and furniture was carried through the agency of Fred C. Church.

GERMAN RESERVISTS

Being Dismissed In Accordance With Orders

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Rumors regarding the retention of a German reservist force with the colors because of the Moroccan situation were set at rest today by the official statement that all of these, in accordance with orders issued last March, were being dismissed within three days following their return from the maneuvers. Only reports that Great Britain, Holland and Belgium are continuing their military preparations cause some disquietude but the general feeling of reassurance prevails. The German reply to the French note will be connected again chiefly with the question of guarantees, whereby a policy of an open door in Morocco will be adequately assured all nations, including arrangements to prevent the customs administration and railroad management being so manipulated as to give an unfair advantage to French shippers.

WOMAN ARRESTED

IT IS ALLEGED SHE WAS TO START FOR DETROIT

Joanna Salek, aged 32 years, who formerly resided on Middlesex street, was arrested at the Middlesex street railroad station at noon today by Inspector Philip Dwyer on a warrant charging her with larceny. It is alleged that the woman purchased a sewing machine on the instalment plan from a local dealer and disposed of it and was about to go to Detroit, Mich., where her husband is located, when the agent learned of the woman's departure and swore out a warrant against her. She will be arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court Monday morning.

SECRETARY NOT NEEDED

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 16.—The conference of governors closing its third independent annual gathering has decided that it does not need a permanent secretary, but will get along with the secretaries of the commission. William Jordan, its former secretary, says that, having devoted time, energy and money for five years to the perfection of the organization, the governors have dispensed with his services.

ERUPTION OF LAVA

CATANIA, Sicily, Sept. 16.—An attempt to ascend Mount Etna was made today, but it was impossible to get nearer than 50 feet from one of the craters owing to the intense heat and thick smoke, in which no one could live.

The eruption of lava continues. The river of lava flows swiftly almost like water and quickly outdistanced men who ran along its edge. Further down the volcano's sides the mass cools gradually and, thickening, it divides into four streams.

A BRASS BAND

TO BE ORGANIZED AT ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

It has been decided that a brass band will be organized among the pupils of St. Joseph's college in Merrimack street, although this will not take place before Christmas, when another Marist brother will be added to the teachers' staff at the college.

The brass band question has been taken up every year for the past ten years in that school and always it was abandoned or given up for some reason or other. This year the Rev. Fr. Walelle, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's parish has looked into the matter seriously and after a conference with the director of the Marist Brothers in this city, who have charge of the college, he decided to ask for another brother to teach music.

He wrote to the head of the order and yesterday he received word that his wants would be looked after but not before Christmas, for there is no brother at the present time that the order could spare for this purpose.

A full band equipment will be purchased and it is probable that the pupils of the college will organize entertainments to defray the expenses of the musical instruments. Within a year if plans mature as formed there will be two more brass bands in this city, for the members of Cercle St. Louis who recently purchased 44 instruments will begin rehearsals next week.

LEADING CHARACTERS IN "THE CLIMAX"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Tonight is the last of the engagement of the Taylor Stock company at the Opera House and the play selected as the closing one is the sensational four act comedy drama "Just Struck Town" in which Harry Moore is seen in one of his best parts and the other members of the company are cast to good advantage. New vaudeville features will be seen between the acts. Prices for tonight are 10, 20 and 30 cents.—Adv.

"THE CLIMAX"

Every member of the cast of players which will give "The Climax" at the Opera House, Tuesday, Sept. 19, is not only an actor but also a piano player, singer and especially an educated musician. Mr. Joe Weber, the producer, has had a great deal of difficulty in securing players who combine these talents. He is said to have seen over 1500 players before the proper material could be secured. Seats are now on sale.—Adv.

"HIS HONOR THE MAYOR"

Harry Kelly in the role of Deacon Flood which he has made famous throughout the country in the musical comedy "His Honor the Mayor," will be seen at the Opera house, on Thursday, Sept. 21, for one performance only.

This is one of the best entertainments of the season, as Mr. Kelly is surrounded by many of the original cast, many new musical numbers have been introduced with the old hits retained, new costumes and scenery and a chorus of pretty girls noted for their youth and beauty.—Adv.

"THE GIRL IN THE TAXI"

"The Girl in the Taxi," which comes to the Opera House, Sept. 22, for an engagement of two nights and matinee was first produced in Paris under the title "Le Fils a Papa," which might be rendered "Like Father Like Son." The piece created one of the greatest sensations the French metropolis has ever known and ran for more than 1,000 nights. It was originally written by Anthony Mars, that past master in the art of intrigue. The American adaptation was made by Stanislaus Stange, and holds the record for the long runs of any similar play in New York, Chicago and Boston. The locale has been changed from Paris to New York, but the play retains all the humor and atmosphere of midnight life which made it so popular abroad.—Adv.

"THE NEST EGG"

Two clever women have leaped into fame at a bound, one helping the other. Zelda Sears as a star and Anne Caldwell as authoress, and the happy medium was a play with the title of "The Nest Egg," which was successfully produced at the Bijou theatre, New York and eulogized with perfect accord by every critic of note in the big city.

The play is an American comedy and brightly scintillates with American humor, and by that is meant humor that is not typical, but new. It has a clever story, some very pretty and unconventional sentiment, the lines being unusually bright and there is not a dull moment in it, front start to finish. Miss Sears is a comedienne of rare and legitimate methods, never stooping to get a laugh by other than high class means and therefore all the more deserving of praise. She has been identified with the Clyde Fitch plays for a long time, in fact, Mr. Fitch never wrote a play in the past ten years that he did not write in a part for Zelda Sears, and so well did he have her measure, that she has never been identified with a failure.—Adv.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

Remember the first of the Keith Sunday concerts will begin tomorrow and two performances will be given, at 2.15 and 8.15. The bill will include, besides five reels of new moving pictures on Pathe, Selig, Edison and S. and A. films four first class acts, including J. K. Murray and Clara Lane in operatic selections; Flanagan and Edwards in a singing and talking act; Col. Sam Holdsworth, America's oldest professional singer, whose sweet tenor voice has charmed hundreds during the week and Gordon and Keys, the delightful colored performers. The prices for both afternoon and evening are: Second balcony, 10 cents; entire floor and first balcony, 20 cents. There will be no reserved seats and the first to come will get the best.

An exceptionally strong bill is offered for next week with Rose Coghlan, one of America's foremost actresses at the head. Miss Coghlan will appear in a new comedy drama written especially for her and entitled "Between Matinee and Night." The plot of this piece deals with a side of theatrical life with which the public in general is little acquainted, life in the dressing-room and behind the scenes. Miss Coghlan has the part of a prominent Broadway star who comes in contact with the stage-struck daughter of a millionaire. The girl is headstrong and refuses to listen to the advice of her parents, but the actress soon shows her the error of her ways, and sends the young woman home repentant. Miss Coghlan's daughter Rosalind will play the part of the millionaire daughter.

Leo Carello is a natural-born comedian and having had long newspaper experience knows human nature well, particularly its funny side. Mr. Carello is an imitator, illustrator and story-tellier and dull care has no place within the hearing of his voice.

Miss Hilda Hawthorne stands at the head of female ventriloquists and her act is one of the finest of its kind in vaudeville. Thomas Moir and company do a remarkably funny skit entitled "The Ice Man." There is nothing frosty about the act except its name.

Cutter and Boulden do a great stunt with piano and banjo, while they sing and dance in inimitable manner.

Kit Karson is not only an expert performer but is also an expert marksman and does a shooting act while on the wire, a most difficult and unusual act. Then there is the Great Sawtelle in the pastimes of a Gladiator. Sawtelle not only juggles with tremendous weights but he also does many funny feats of strength. The bill as usual will conclude with a new reel for daylight pictures.

The box office is open daily from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. and seats may be ordered in advance by telephone 28.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Donald Meek stock company will offer as next week's attraction "The Barrier," a beautiful dramatization of Rex Beach's great novel of that title, considered one of the most interesting of latter day dramas. The play in the opinion of the critics is far superior to Eaversham's great success, "The Squaw Man" and "The Girl from the Golden West," two great dramatic successes of similar atmosphere. "The Barrier" deals with life in a little mining town on the Yukon river about the time that gold was discovered when adventurers from all over the country sought the new-found El Dorado, and the love of a gallant young army officer for a beautiful daughter of the frontier who is supposed to be a half breed having been raised by a squaw, but who in reality is a white girl who was stolen from home while a baby by a former suitor of her mother. The girl believes the trader who stole her away and his squaw to be her parents and the fact of her nativity throws her lover into despair on account of the social barrier that exists between them. Love gets the better of discretion and he agrees to give up all hope of future advancement and marry his half-breed sweetheart while she, learning the sacrifice that a marriage to her would mean to him, refuses to become his wife. Meanwhile through a series of most thrilling events the girl's own father appears on the scene and the real facts of her birth are disclosed with a happy ending. From her childhood the girl is the companion of a rough, but big-hearted French-Canadian woodsman whom she regards as a brother, but who fain would marry her though he can never get the courage of the words to express his devotion. Toward the close he saves her life and restores her to her lover and then departs to seek a new country. The Frenchman is a most striking character, "Poleon of the Great Heart" as he is called and will be played by Mr. Donald Meek, whose versatility assures a most acceptable interpretation of the role. The character blends humor and pathos most delicately and Mr. Meek may be depended upon to make the most of the part. Mr. Rockliffe Fellowes will be seen to good advantage in the role of Meade Burrill, the young officer while a particularly congenial role is assigned to Miss Marie Horton who will present the role of "Neela," the half-breed girl. Miss Horton's part calls for much emotional acting in which she is at her best. Mr. Charles Stevens will assume the role of John Gale, the old trader and foster-father of Neela. Miss Hunt will play "Alluna" the foster-mother of Neela. The play will be elaborately staged, special attention having been given to the scenery and accessories. Seats are now on sale for next week's performances.—Adv.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The coming week at the Merrimack Square theatre marks the completion of the first year of this popular playhouse in Lowell, and to observe the event the management has secured a bill of unusual attractiveness for its patrons. On Wednesday evening a special program will be given, the feature of it being the rendition, for the first time, by the Merrimack Square Theatre Concert orchestra of "The Merrimack Square Theatre March," a recent composition by Phil M. Lederman.

Miss Mabel McKinley, niece of the late President William McKinley, will provide the feature attraction for the week, in presenting some of her latest song successes. Miss McKinley is a vocalist of recognized ability, her bookings in the past ranking with the best in the musical world. Besides being the possessor of an excellent soprano voice, she is a composer of merit, having written several songs that met with the general approval of the music-loving public. Among her most successful compositions were "Golden Rod," "Anona," "Feather Queen," "Karama," and several others. Miss McKinley is a pianist and generally accompanies herself in all of her songs.

Kendall Weston and his associate players of Our Stock company will appear in a delightful one-act play, "For Him," written by Henry D. Coolidge, clerk of the Massachusetts senate. The piece is a clever composition and should score heavily with the patrons. Mr. Weston will be found in a role best suited to his artistic accomplishments as an actor, and Miss Phelps and Mr. Reese will also be pleasantly cast. The staging of the play will be capably looked after.

Other contributors for the week will be Nelson and Milledge, in their laughable sketch "The Secret." Too much is known by theatregoers of this favorite pair's ability as entertainers to dwell on the fact at this time other than to give the assurance that they are as amusing as ever before. Ed Winchester will give a musical comedy act that is said to be one of the best in its line, and Miss Anna McMahon, soloist, will be heard in the latest songs. The photo-plays will be the best to be had.

For the sacred concerts Sunday afternoon and evening the following high class artists will appear in refined acts: Wan-A-Tea, the Heidelburg Four, Dan Harrington, Eva Weston, and others. The photo-plays will be new and the kind that are approved by the state.—Adv.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tomorrow the Theatre Voyons will offer its usual excellent Sunday program composed of the very best motion pictures and the choicest musical numbers. On Monday the big feature will be "The Declaration of Independence," which is number four of the Edison historical series. This picture correctly tells the story of the birth of this great republic and the film makers have followed historical facts to the minutest details in putting together this feature. It should be seen by every American and especially by every child. The balance of the bill is a strong one, full of good things and just the kind of a program that will appeal to all.—Adv.

MILEAGE LAWS

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS WANT THEM TO BE UNIFORM

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Commercial travelers and the general public are endeavoring to secure a mileage book from the New Haven road which shall be good for over the Boston and Maine and the Maine Central lines. Commercial men object to the fact they are compelled to purchase several different mileage books to travel over the subsidiary lines of the same company. The purchase of such books demands that the travelers have a large working capital and invest their money in a number of books, whereas the railroads would lose nothing by allowing the use of one book.

The Boston and Maine road objects to the proposition on the ground, it is alleged, that the majority of the purchases will be made at offices of the New Haven road. The books of the Boston and Maine, therefore, will not show as large a volume of business at the end of the year as if the mileage books were bought at its own offices.

A year ago the officers of the Commercial Travelers' Eastern Accident association were instructed to negotiate with the New Haven road looking toward a mileage book good on all the roads controlled by them. After considerable negotiations the Maine Central made its mileage good on the Washington county, Somerset county and the Sebastocook and Moosehead lines.

The association has been assured by General Passenger Agent Smith of the New Haven that as soon as the books can be printed those of the New Haven will be good over the Boston and Albany.

The association is the largest similar organization in New England, and added to its membership is the assured assistance of all the commercial travelers' associations, with a total membership of about 400,000. If the agitation produces the desired result it will benefit the general public as much as the members of the association.

THE GRAND JURY

To Probe the Charge of Alleged Bribery

LAWRENCE, Sept. 16.—A sweeping investigation into the charges that one of the jury in the Lyons conspiracy case that was tried in Salem last year was reached is being made by the grand jury sitting here.

One of the jurors who tried the case, Robert E. Webb of Methuen, was in court yesterday with his wife and daughter, ready to testify, but no evidence was taken. Webb was summoned on "John Doe" proceedings.

Mrs. Goodwin, who was a court stenographer at the trial, was also present to testify and carried a number of notebooks with her. She was in the district attorney's office at the time of the trial. The case has been investigated by State Officers Flynn and Wells.

At the time of the Lyons trial, when the jury disagreed, the vote stood 10 to 1 for acquittal.

N. E. LEAGUE MEETING

Will be Held in Boston On Monday

The New England league will hold a meeting in Boston, Monday evening at which the election of President Murnane and Secretary Morse will come up. Edward L. Arundel, of Lawrence, a former owner of the Lawrence team has been mentioned for secretary. The question of renewing the 10-year agreement, now expired, will also come up for action. Owing to the fact that a couple of cities on the circuit have not been paying the league may pass up the agreement proposition for another year to ascertain how these cities are going to come out.

Manager Gray is expected home from New Brunswick tomorrow and in company with Messrs. Roach and Kennedy will attend the league meeting.

The series between Lowell and Springfield have not been decided upon. The matter is up to the players.

PRES. WM. H. TAFT

Made First Speech of the Trip at Syracuse State Fair

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—President Taft arrived here early today to remain until 3.40 p. m., a visit to the state fair here being the first engagement of his 13,000 mile trip to the west. The president was greeted by several hundred people at the station and there was frequent applause from the sidewalk throngs as he was escorted in an automobile to a breakfast tendered by the Syracuse chamber of commerce.

There were some 200 guests at the breakfast and at its conclusion the president made a brief speech acknowledging the hospitality of the Syracuse citizens. His principal address of the day was reserved for the fair grounds, whither he was escorted by state troops later in the forenoon. A luncheon with the state fair commission at the clubhouse on the grounds was the last fixed event on the program for the day.

Gov. Dix was detained at the Spring Lake conference of governors and sent the president a telegram expressing regret at not being able to personally welcome him to New York state.

The president's "Swing around the circle" started from Boston last night in a downpour. The rain followed the presidential train through the Berkshires but today the clouds had rolled away and there was a brilliant autumn

There was no hint of politics connected with the inauguration of the trip and there is every reason to believe that the president is planning to with-hold speeches that have to do with the more important policies of the administration until he reaches the western border. He planned to confine himself largely to a discussion of farming methods and the necessity of conservation of the soil. The extent to which the government can actively enter into this work of conservation was taken up by the president and there was a hint that the postoffice department in extending its activities to the field of postal savings banks and possibly in the near future to a parcels post system, furnished a parallel for extensions in other departments of the government.

There had been some thought in Syracuse that the president on the occasion of his first public utterance of the trip would outline a plan of "campaign." Mr. Taft has insisted throughout, however, that the trip is not connected with politics in any way and undoubtedly this had much to do with the non-political character of his principal address today.

From Syracuse the president goes to Erie, Pa., where tonight he will talk of the peace treaties negotiated during the summer. Mr. Taft hopes to bring out the sentiment of the people on treaties and he believes this sentiment is strong enough to sway the senate eventually to an approval of the compacts.

The President's Speech

A discussion of the activities of the department of agriculture and of the opportunities for progress open to farmers, formed the substance of the address delivered by President Taft at the state fair grounds today. The president said in part:

"We are spending $15,000,000 a year in the maintenance of a department of agriculture, and we might as well face the truth and realize that this expense instead of decreasing, is bound to increase. I have given much attention to the matter of economy and efficiency in government. While I do not mean to say that the present department of agriculture in the work which it is doing might not be made to do the same work for less money by a closer-knit organization and greater care in its expenditures, I am confident from looking into the future of the department to the pressing need for expansion of its work, that an increase in the appropriations each year for that department may be and ought to be expected in the interest of the government."

"The amount of information which the farmers have received and acted upon in their farming business from the bureau of plant industry, from the bureau of soils and from the bureau of animal industry, in the department of agriculture, can hardly be overstated, and the dependence of the welfare of the country on the continued spread of this information for the improvement of agriculture ought to be emphasized whenever opportunity arises."

"We have today in this country, in continental United States, about 1,900,000,000 acres of land. Of this 873,000,000 are included in the acreage of farms. In the last ten years that acreage did not increase more than 35,000,000, or a little over 4 per cent. Of the 873,000,000 acres, 477,000,000 are improved farm land. The 873,000,000 includes wood land and unimprove farm land. The improved land in farms has increased about 63,000,000 in 10 years, or some 15 per cent, but this, it will be seen, is not equal to the increase of population. Now, if our population increases as rapidly as it has heretofore, we shall in 50 years have upwards of 200,000,000 of people in this country to support on this 873,000,000 acres, much of which is probably not capable of producing a great deal. There are some 50,000,000 acres of swamp land that can be drained, and there are 25,000,000 acres of land that can be irrigated; but with all these, it is perfectly palpable that within the life of many who are born now, we shall be pressing the limit of our self-support from the soil unless some other method than by the mere extension of area be found for the increasing of our crop production.

New Methods of Farming

"In the next one hundred years, if this is to be a self-sustaining country, we must adopt new methods of farming and pursue them with eagerness and intelligent enterprises. There has been, as we know, a movement from the farm to the city. How can those present evils that threaten the progress of our agriculture be remedied? How can the movement from the farm to the city be stopped? How can proper labor be secured upon the farm? Is there no remedy, or must we change our nature as a people and all become a manufacturing nation and look for our future supplies to some other source in distant countries which themselves are looking forward to a limit upon their production?

"I am an optimist and believe that situation, however threatening or immediately discouraging, have in themselves elements that justify hope of betterment. The increased price of farm products has increased the value of the farms, and has made more certain the profit of farming. That necessarily works upon the cupidity of those in the past who have gone into the city, because it offers a prospect of a better income and a more comfortable living. Today with improved roads, with suburban railways, with the telephone, with a rural free delivery and I hope soon, with the parcels post, the life of the farmer will approximate much more nearly that of his city brother than it ever has in the past. In addition to all these elements that are working to the restoration to the farms of increased efficiency in their management is the education which is being given in the country, and on and near the farm, in scientific agriculture. In the states we have long had agricultural colleges. Now these are being supplemented by agricultural high schools and by what are called the consolidated rural schools, all of which have the effect to create much more than heretofore a closer farmer community and to give growing youth a knowledge of the best methods of agriculture and a prospect in the high prices of farm products of an adequate return for modern farming on proper principles. This will give to the brothers who stay on the farm a much more certain prospect of a good income and a comfortable living than those who seek to join professions or to engage in business in which the chances for the profits and a comfortable livelihood for the individuals are growing less, while those upon the farms are rapidly increasing.

"The promotion of this movement of vocational education of the embryo farmer in the sons of the present farmer is as high a function as any government could perform, and that is what is being pressed forward under the secretary of agriculture in every state in this nation. The vocational schools must be increased in every state. It is proposed that in every county in every state there shall be a trained agriculturalist, to be paid partly by the government and partly by the state and partly by the county, who shall by actual experiments, on the different farms in the county, illustrate the proper methods of tilling crops, of rotating them, and who shall give the benefit of his experience as to the proper organization of farms, as well as the improvement in the breed of plants and in the breed of cattle and other live stock. It is thought that by such actual experiment in connection with the high schools and agricultural colleges, such a stimulus may be given to the present generation of farmers that its effect upon the coming generation will be doubled. Of course we must observe economy in every expenditure of the government, and we must not allow our enthusiasm in favor of a particular cause to blind us to the necessity of care in the disbursement of public money; but I am bound to say that I do not know any part of the government business in which the public will receive a more certain advantage than from money expended under the appropriation bills for the agricultural department of the United States."

At the conclusion of the breakfast Justice Andrews introduced the president to the guests. His reception was flattering, three rousing cheers echoing from one end of the breakfast room to the other. "It happens," says the president, "that this is the first speech that I am to deliver in a series of speeches."

The president expressed his pleasure at being able to visit the state fair. Explaining the reasons for taking his western trip, the president said:

"It was like Topsy—it just grow'd. I made an engagement to visit Syracuse two years ago and also to visit Kansas City. That was my downfall. Later I accepted an invitation to visit the Pacific coast and that concluded my ruin."

Referring to reports that he would defend his policies in Syracuse, the president declared that in the 200 speeches he expects to make he will no doubt take up and discuss many of the problems of the day which include many subjects that might be called policies of the administration."

"I ask your prayers," said the president.

"You have them," yelled someone in the crowd.

In concluding his speech at the state fair, the president said:

"It has given me great pleasure to attend this fair, one of the greatest of its kind in the world, and to find in it and all like enterprises another stimulus to the improvement of agricultural methods in the exhibition of the remarkable results of close attention to the workings of nature and industry and patience, together with common sense and business management. The revival of interest in the state fairs all over the country is an indication of the movement for better agricultural methods and more thorough agricultural education. It is one of the happiest auguries of the future of this country that the federal government and the state governments had shown the greatest capacity for their closest co-operation in the development of agricultural science and the teaching of it to the people."

THE ARCHBISHOP

ARRIVED IN BOSTON LAST NIGHT

BOSTON, Sept. 16. — Archbishop William H. O'Connell, looking in excellent health after his vacation in Europe, last night returned to Boston and reached his residence on Granby street at about 5 o'clock.

The archbishop landed in New York on Monday last from the steamer Kroonland, in company with Mgr. M. J. Splaine, rector of the cathedral. He was met at the pier by Rev. Dr. P. J. Supple, pastor of St. John's church, Roxbury. The party remained in New York for a brief rest.

Then they came by automobile to Boston, arriving last night.

PREMIER LAURIER

Will Close His Speaking Tour Monday

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will close his speaking tour here on Monday. Robert L. Borden, leader of the conservatives in their fight against the enactment of the reciprocity agreement both in parliament and in the campaign just drawing to a close will have his final word in Nova Scotia. The political contest is losing none of its bitterness in the closing days. The conservatives, through their press, orators, campaign literature and flaming posters, continue to assail the government for entering into the trade agreement, on the ground that it is only the first step in a deeply laid plot by President Taft to detach Canada from Great Britain and to absorb the country into the American republic. The conservative leaders are satisfied that this line of attack is bringing the electors over to them but the liberals, who have been fighting the disloyalty cry, declare that the electors are not going to be frightened by such a senseless campaign bogey and that the liberals will be returned to the twelfth parliament by an increased majority. The liberal speakers continue to point out the economic benefits to be derived, particularly the farmers, to the enactment of the reciprocity agreement and pay but little attention to the charges of disloyalty which they answered most emphatically early in the campaign.

Forecasts of the election results are beginning to appear. The conservatives are making claims of prosperous gains in both Ontario and Quebec, which they assert will give them the balance of power. The liberals estimate their majority in the coming parliament at between 40 and 55, compared with a majority of 43 in the parliament just dissolved. In what little betting has appeared the liberals continue to rule strong favorites.

A FRENCH AVIATOR

Died as Result of Injuries Received

VERDOUN, France, Sept. 16.—Edouard Nieuport, the French aviator, died today as a result of internal injuries received when he fell with his machine yesterday. Nieuport accomplished some notable feats when flying at Chalons. Last June, competing in the preliminaries for the International aviation cup, he established a new aerodrome record, covering 90 miles at the rate of 80 miles an hour. He finished third in the contest for this cup, which was won by the American, Charles T. Wymann, at East Church, England. Wymann on this occasion used a Nieuport aeroplane, one of the fastest racing types yet developed. As the designer of this machine, Nieuport won wider fame than he did in flying, and it was in one of his own make that he established the aerodrome record.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By the National Spinners' Union

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The annual convention of the National Spinners union concluded here today with an address by John Golden, international president of the United Textile Workers. Officers were elected as follows:

...President, George Thornton, Pawtucket; vice-president, Dennis Murphy, Taftville, Conn.; treasurer, Thomas E. O'Donnell, Fall River; secretary, Urban Fleming, Holyoke.

Executive board, Edward Kearns, Adams, James Gaines, Utica, N. Y.; James Reynolds, Centerville, R. I., Michael Finnegan, Lawrence, John Firth, Baltic, Conn.; J. E. Hurst, Plainfield, Conn.; Joseph Ashton, Lowell; Frank Mularky, Pawtucket.

THE LOSS IS $50,000

Fire in Granville Chase Company's Plant

BARING, Me., Sept. 16.—The drying house, grist mill, blacksmith shop and outbuildings of the Granville Chase Co. were burned this morning with a loss of $50,000. There was no insurance.

INJURIES FATAL

CHILD RUN OVER BY A HEAVY TRUCK

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Seven minutes after the big gong clattered in the stable of the Hanover street police station on Cross street yesterday afternoon Prince, the fastest ambulance horse in the police department, had been harnessed, had traveled to Sun Court street in the North End, taken aboard a dying school child run over by a truck and had halted, panting, in front of the Relief station in Haymarket square.

Patrolman John Mooney, the driver, picked up the dying child, rushed without ceremony through the long white corridors of the hospital, where he has so often traveled before with grim burdens, and said to the surgeon: "Am I in time?"

Dr. Packard felt of the lifeless little wrist and shook his head.

"Too late," he said.

The child had died in the patrolman's arms as he entered the operating room.

The little girl, Virginia Andregonia, 4½ years old, and living at 10 Langdon place, had been running home after being dismissed from St. John's parochial school on Sun Court street, where she had been a member of the "baby" class for less than a week.

The truck that rolled over the little girl was owned by Alfred M. Whitney of 184 Commercial street and was driven by Alfred M. Whitney, Jr., the police exonerating the latter of all blame after a thorough investigation, which revealed the fact that the romping child had run directly beneath the hoofs of the two horses.

HUNTING FOR DUCKS

MIDDLEBORO, Sept. 16.—With every available cottage about the lakes in this vicinity hired by gunners, the fall gunning season for ducks opened today and the early sportsmen reported good luck. A new stand at Lakeville was opened by a company of men headed by Samuel Shaw of Boston.

VERY SMALL DOCKET

Disposed of by Judge Hadley in Police Court

"Keep out of Lowell and let liquor alone" was the advice which Judge Hadley handed out to George Goyette of Billerica when the latter appeared in police court this morning and pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. According to what Constable Martin Conway of Billerica testified to, George is a pretty good man but now and then he comes into Lowell and gets intoxicated. Owing to the fact he has made numerous trips to Lowell of late and has appeared before the court on several occasions within a year it looked as though he would be given a sentence, but when he promised to reform and do better in the future the court imposed a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction.

Michael J. Reynolds who recently appeared before the court on a complaint charging him with the larceny of $9.25, the property of Constable John McManus, came into court this morning and Mr. McManus explained to Judge Hadley that Reynolds had paid the money back whereupon the case was placed on file.

Earnest Landry who was charged with failing to provide support for his wife was rather penitent and upon promising to care for her in the future he was placed on probation.

James Connolly and Herbert L. Sponholtz, charged with being drunk, were each order to pay a fine of $6.

SENATOR CRANE

Trying to Make Peace Among Republicans

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—That "Uncle" Murray Crane came to Boston for the express purpose of lecturing the three candidates for the republican nomination for governor was revealed yesterday.

He left after having talked with Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Speaker Joseph Walker and Norman White.

The three conferences are regarded as of the highest importance to friends of the three men, because they mark Senator Crane as the republican leader, who is handling the state.

There are several versions as to what happened at the conference. But this much is true. Two of the three candidates left with the decided impression that Senator Crane was not lifting his finger in the interest of any one.

There is a story to the effect that he urged each candidate to use no language which would stand in the way of supporting either of the other two or accepting support from either of the other two.

He furthermore promised his cordial support to the candidate who should win the nomination.

But another story differs a little from the one which says that Crane urged each of the three to attack neither of the other two.

That story is to the effect that White received such cordiality from the senator that he at once ventured upon a spirited attack upon Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, whom he accused of having a corporation record and of being a machine man.

The speech of White followed closely upon the Crane conference, and it was the most spirited of any speech that has been made by the republican campaigners.

It is not, however, the belief of leading republicans that Senator Crane favors White in preference to the other two.

TRACKMEN'S UNION

Employers Refuse to Arbitrate With Men

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 16.—Twelve hundred and fifty firemen and section hands on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad have been ordered by President Lowe to strike at six o'clock tonight.

The strike was authorized by the national officers of the trackmen's union and is the result of the refusal of the company to arbitrate differences with the men. The section men had asked for an increase in wages, which was refused. Subsequently, it is said M. G. Foley, a section foreman and chairman of the grievance committee, was dismissed. The section men claimed that he had been discharged because of his activity in the agitation for increased wages and demanded his reinstatement. This, the men say, was also refused and then the union men suggested arbitration. President Truesdale of the company declined to arbitrate. The strike order takes in the entire Lackawanna system between Hoboken, N. J., and Buffalo.

FOOTBALL SEASON

College Teams Are at Work Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—With gridiron practice on a majority of the big college gridirons and scrub games scheduled for this afternoon at a few schools where the teams got off for an early start last week the football season of 1911 found itself well under way today. For the first time in three years an early fall frost has ushered in the sort of climate conditions that the coachers seek for efficient practice and reports from many of the training camps has it that work is already advanced.

Another week will see the season's formal schedule of games launched and the work of sifting and sitting the promising candidates from unwieldly squads providing anxious hours for coaches and players.

Walter Camp is authority for the promise that this year will provide the most interesting and spectacular game in the history of the sport.

REGISTRATION LAST NIGHT

The rain, last night, was not conducive to registration and the total number registered was 45, as follows:

Ward 1, none; ward 2, 13; ward 3, seven; ward 4, three; ward 5, eight; ward 6, four; ward 7, two; ward 8, seven, and ward 9, one. Today's registration will continue uninterrupted from 1 to 9 o'clock p. m.

MME. CAVALIERI

Will Not Agree to a Divorce

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The Chanler-Cavalieri divorce case is now at a deadlock. All efforts on the part of Robert W. Chanler and family to induce Mme. Cavalieri to consent to a divorce have been fruitless, as the singer is firm in her refusal not to give up a fraction of her rights under her marriage settlement. Sidney Harris, Chanler's lawyer, who left New York on Aug. 29, is said to be now on his way here with a view to making a final offer of $70,000 in cash in exchange for a full renunciation of the marriage settlement and her consent to a divorce.

"There is absolutely no hope for them to make me back out," Mme. Cavalieri said to a reporter at her home in Paris. "My lawyer has not heard of Mr. Harris' proposal yet, but I see no reason why I should bargain for a thing which is absolutely and legally mine. The advantage of the transaction is all on their side and I have already gone through enough trouble about this without adding to it any monetary loss. As for a divorce, I am in no hurry to get it, as I don't contemplate remarrying. My first experience was unpleasant enough."

Mme. Cavalieri, who was billed at the Hammerstein opening of "Quo Vadis," has given up the part and will not appear until the middle of December, when she will sing Thais and other operas in the French repertoire. She is now busy and working hard at her voice, and has been lately studying Aida.

"Of course, I want to go back to America," she said. "I have already a contract to sing in Mexico in February, and as I shall be going by the way of Boston, I will take the opportunity to fulfil a long delayed promise to Henry Russell to sing ten times for him at the Boston Opera House."

EX-PRES. ROOSEVELT

Attended Session of the Children's Court

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt sat for a time yesterday on the bench at the children's court in Manhattan, questioned many of the youthful delinquents and told one of them that what he needed was "a good spanking, and I'd like to give it to you." He also declared, apropos a boy named William, that "he never knew a William to be a bad boy."

An hour and a half latter he left, saying he had "had a delightful time; bully time."

Mr. Roosevelt sat beside Judge Franklin C. Hoyt, a personal friend. He asked more questions than the judge asked, and appeared greatly interested in the youths brought before him. He enjoyed it much better than did the culprits, who were obviously abashed by the former president's questioning and, for the most part, decidedly ill at ease.

William Flohe, a 15-year-old boy, was brought before the judge, accused of spitting from the platform of an elevated train on the street below. "What you need is a good spanking, and I'd like to give it to you. I'd like to be your father for a few minutes," said Mr. Roosevelt.

There was hardly a case in which Mr. Roosevelt did not show interest. When he took leave of Justice Hoyt he had nothing to say except that he was going to do some writing about the administration of children's courts.

WHISKEY RUNNERS

WAS CAPTURED BY DEPUTY U. S. MARSHAL

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 16.—After fiercely resisting arrest at the hands of the federal officers, Samuel Tompkins, wanted for years as being one of the most skilful "whisky runners" in the country, was captured in the town of Hars Hill, near the Canadian line, by Deputy United States Marshal Fred E. Stevens and Deputy Collector of Customs W. B. Burns yesterday.

At the time of his capture he was driving a wagon load of smuggled liquor, it is alleged. The officers sprang out upon him from the brush, where they had been lying in wait. He attempted to draw his revolver, and put up a hard fight before he was overpowered.

He was brought to Bangor in irons and will be arraigned in the United States district court in Portland upon the return of Judge Hale from New Hampshire.

A STRANGE PHOTOGRAPH

Dr. Chase of the Frank C. Goodale drug store is a student of photography and on Labor Day he went to the Nashua Fair for the purpose of trying to snap some of the birdmen when they alighted from their ships after the trip by air from Squantum to the grounds. The first birdman who hove in sight was Ovington the winner of the monoplane race and sure enough the doctor was under him with his picture box and took a fine picture of the machine. The doctor besides getting a photo of the machine also caught some clouds which at that time were exact replicas of the old man of the mountain, a child, a clown and the head of a lion with the jaws extended ready to swallow the child. While the picture of the plane looks that of a spider, the formation of the different objects by the clouds makes the picture one that would be treasured by any curio seeker. Although the doctor has not received any offers for the picture he says that it cannot be bought.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ASSN.

WORCESTER, Sept. 16.—Addresses on religious topics comprised the program at the second day's session of the 46th annual convention of the New England Christian Missionary association. This afternoon the delegates to the convention were entertained by the pastors and members of the different churches throughout the city.

Mrs. Jalbert of 158 Fourth avenue is critically ill at her home.

Fred C. Church held the insurance on the house of John Angell in Westford burned last night.

Has Millions of Friends

How would you like to number your friends by millions as Bucklen's Arnica Salve does? Its astounding cures in the past forty years made them. It's the best Salve in the world for sores, ulcers, eczema, burns, boils, scalds, cuts, corns, sore eyes, sprains, swellings, bruises, cold sores. Has no equal for piles. 25c at A. W. Dows & Co.

AT INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The Day Term Will Begin Next Monday Morning

Considerable interest is felt in the opening of the industrial schools which will start work on the regular courses next Monday in the old Bartlett school for boys in mechanical and building trades, and in the Morrill school for the training of girls in domestic science.

Principal Dooley has had considerable machinery donated for use in the boys' school and more will be gradually added.

Miss Alice Gookin, at the Morrill school, will have charge of the academic or educational work while Messrs. Webb, Wiggin and Leseur will assist Mr. Dooley at the old Bartlett in conducting the mechanical work.

The day industrial school will open Monday, Sept. 18. The night school will open Oct. 2.

The day school, of course, is the most important. It is for boys and girls of fourteen years of age or over. The school will give a preliminary training for boys, in the following trades:

Carpenter, architectural draftsman, cabinet maker, machinist, mechanical draftsman, electrician, engineer, automobile repairing.

Carpenter—The course providing training for the trade of carpenter will consist of shop practice and science, study of building materials, architectural drawing, mathematics, English and civics.

Architectural Drawing—This course differs from the carpenters' course in having much of the shop work replaced by work in the drafting room, on building construction.

Cabinet Making—This course differs from the carpenters' in having more time devoted to office furniture, etc., than to the building trade work.

Machinist—This course, in addition to English and civics, includes machine shop work, the mathematics underlying machine shop work, study of materials, drawing, and some work in steam and electricity. The shop work will consist of practice in the usual operations common to machine shop work.

Mechanical Draftsman—The mechanical draftsman course will be similar to the machinists' course with much less shop work and more practice in the drawing room on machine shop work.

Electrician—This course will deal with practical and theoretical electricity, and will include electric wiring, building motors, winding armatures, testing and repairing circuits, and practical experience in the electric power station, etc. In addition there will be special mathematics applied to electrical work, and English and civics will be taught.

Engineer—This course deals with the theory and practice of steam work. It includes in addition English and civics, some machine shop practice and mathematics.

Automobile Repairing—The automobile repairing course will consist of work similar to that of the machinists' course, with special shop work on the automobile and the study of its operation.

In addition to trade training every boy will receive a good education. Leaving out the languages, it is proposed to give him as good an education at the Industrial school as he can get at the High school.

4. Registration will be at the school buildings, both of which face the North common, on the evenings of the week preceding the opening of the schools, beginning with Monday evening, October 2. Applicants will save themselves a visit to city hall to no purpose if they will wait until the time just stated.

Industrial School Teachers

Mr. Wm. Webb, who has charge of the machine shop, blacksmithing and drafting, was born in North Carolina and had several years of mill experience in that section. He was employed by the Lowell Machine shop when selected for the industrial school job. Mr. Webb has had a wide experience along the mechanical line. He spent several years in cotton mills beginning in the opening room and following the various operations through the mill to the loom where the cotton is finaly made into cloth.

Then he entered the Lowell Machine shop where a great variety of textile machinery is made and in a few years he had mastered the machinist trade and was promoted to assistant foreman which position he held for the last twelve years and during that time he has become expert in the designing and making of jigs and time saving devices; but not being satisfied with knowing the practical side only, he started an inquiry into the technical side as well, and took advantage of the opportunities that the Lowell evening schools offered and during the last 12 or fifteen years he has completed several courses of study.

When the automobiles came along, he, being of a mechanical turn of mind, was naturally attracted toward them and spent considerable time getting acquainted with the principles involved and he has done considerable overhauling and repairing.

Mr. Webb has been a good friend to other young men and boys who have come under his charge, and has probably taught more of them to be machinists than any other man of his age and this, no doubt, is one reason why he has been selected for an instructor in the Lowell Industrial school.

Mr. Webb takes the place of Mr. Charles F. Chase who was nominated for head of the machine department. Mr. Chase, it seems, decided not to come to Lowell.

YOUNG RUNNERS

WILL TRY TO MAKE A RECORD RUN TO NASHUA

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon a number of young men will start from the North common and will run to Nashua, if the weather is favorable. This will be the second event of the kind in a week and will be very interesting, especially for those who will follow the runners.

Last Sunday 13 young men left the North common, their destination being Monument square, Nashua. Of the twelve, seven dropped out before reaching half the distance, while the others plugged on to the end. Arthur Sabourin, aged 17 years, a little chap weighing 102 pounds, came out victorious, having covered the distance in two hours and 32 minutes.

Sabourin will again undertake the same trip tomorrow and he expects to reach his destination, which will be the same as last Sunday, at 16 1-2 a half hour sooner than the previous run. The runners will be followed by two young men on bicycles and their friends predict some record breaking, although they are all amateurs.

EXCEPTION FILED

LOVE SUIT GOES TO THE FULL BENCH

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—That the famous Heath-Merriam $20,000 alienation suit which has been in the Middlesex county courts almost continuously for the past five years has not been ended was shown yesterday when Mrs. Emma K. Heath of Malden, plaintiff in the suit, filed exceptions at the clerk of the Superior court's office, East Cambridge, to the last decision of Judge Bell.

In her bill of exceptions Mrs. Heath declares that she is much aggrieved by certain exclusions and admissions of evidence and rulings made by Judge Bell, who decided in favor of Mrs. Merriam. With the filings of the exceptions yesterday it is assumed that the final decision will not be written in the case until after the full bench of the supreme court passes upon the evidence.

SKIN SUFFERERS

Do you realize that to go through life tortured and disfigured by itching, burning, scaly and crusted eczemas, or other skin and scalp humors is unnecessary? For more than a generation, warm baths with

Cuticura Soap

And gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment have proved successful in the most distressing cases, of infants, children and adults, when all else had failed.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the care and treatment of skin and hair, will be sent post-free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. R, Boston.

JUDGE RYAN TALKS

Oregon Visitor Speaks of the New Charter and Other Matters

Mr. James W. Ryan of 64 Tolman avenue has a very distinguished guest at his home in the person of his son, Judge Thomas F. Ryan of Oregon City, Oregon. Judge Ryan arrived in this city last Friday and every minute of his time has been taken up in visiting the different cities of this and neighboring states, including Fall River, Boston, Springfield, New Bedford, Providence, Woonsocket, R. I., and Hartford, Conn. While in Lowell the judge was also the guest of his sister, Mrs. Andrew Healey, who is making her home with her father.

Judge Ryan started today for Indianapolis, Ind., where he will attend the convention of the Sovereign Grand lodge of Odd Fellows, which will open Monday to be continued all week. On the following Monday he will attend the National Good Roads convention, and on Wednesday he will be a delegate to the National Conservation convention which will assemble in Kansas City.

The judge is an interesting speaker and a great politician. He is the owner of a large farm at Gladstone, between Oregon City and Portland, as well as a large ranch situated near Mt. Hood, 12,000 feet over the sea level, while his residence is in Salem. His farm in Oregon City is situated near where the proposed 1300 mile automobile road will be constructed through the state as part of a great highway from British Columbia to Mexico. The place is ideal for a home as there are all kinds of railroad facilities as well as steamboat convenience. Peaches are grown the most in that locality and 800 beautiful peach trees can be seen on the Ryan farm as well as several other kinds of fruit.

Judge Ryan is at the head of a large law business in Oregon City and has been connected with politics since his arrival in the west, 20 years ago. He has held several important offices, namely, mayor of Oregon City for five years, judge for 12 years and city recorder for a number of years. Now he is deputy state treasurer, a position he has held since last November, and at the coming election he will be a candidate for the position of treasurer, which position he said he lost by the toss of a coin last year. There were two candidates for that office on the same ticket and in order not to split the vote, the candidates tossed up a coin with the result that the judge was beaten.

Commission Charter in Portland

In talking about politics, the judge said that the state of Oregon cannot be beaten. Mr. W. S. U'Ren, father of the referendum and Australian ballot in this country, is a resident of Salem, and he is as much interested in political affairs as he ever was when he first introduced the Australian ballot in Salem. Baker City, a short distance from Portland, has adopted the new charter about on the same principle as the proposed Lowell charter. This new form of government was adopted two years ago and has already made its mark. It was so successful that at the last election in Portland, the voters of that city also adopted it. Portland has a population of about 280,000, and the legislators have nothing to do with the city charter. The city government under the new charter is composed of a mayor and two commissioners, the mayor receiving a salary of $6,000 a year, while the commissioners receive each $3,000. The three members of the commission are being elected for a term of two years, but it is so arranged that there is always a member of the last commission in office, one of the commissioners at the first election being chosen for one year.

Besides these officials, there are also several commissions such as the water, park, dock, harbor, police commissions, etc., which are named by the mayor. The licenses are controlled by the city government, the license fee being regulated by the state officials, while the licenses are given out by the city officials, this commission being separate from the police commission.

The Oregon legislators have practically put an end to the grafting business by passing a law entitled the "corrupt practice act," which forces the candidates to file an itemized list of their campaign expenses, the candidates not being allowed to spend more than 25 per cent. of a year's salary. Again they are stopped from contributing money for any movement or advertisement. The state issues a book in which the candidates can advertise, and a copy of this pamphlet is mailed to every voter of the state. The legislators receive a salary of $3 per day for 40 days and no more, even though the session would last one year.

The majority by 5 to 1 of the voters in Oregon are republicans, although the governor and the United States senator are of the other party.

Judge Ryan is the father of four children, two boys and two girls, and a boy triplets, the latter now deceased. He has been in Lowell on several occasions, but he says he would prefer the western life to Lowell, as the climate is far better than here, the temperature being the same all the year round.

BEULAH BINFORD

POLICE COMMISSIONER MULLANEY

POLICE COMMISSIONER BOULGER

POLICE COMMISSIONER HANSON

Police Board Places Ban on Moving Pictures of Her

The "Beattie Motion Pictures", will not be shown in Lowell.

The police commissioners today notified all the moving picture theatres of Lowell to that effect, and a word from the commissioners goes.

A few days ago Police Commissioner John J. Mullaney read in a newspaper that Beulah Binford, the woman in the case had posed for moving pictures in New York about the time that a Virginia jury was reporting a verdict of murder against her "friend" Beattie.

"So this Binford woman is going to display herself on the moving picture film is she?" said Commissioner Mullaney to a friend who was nearby. Then he added. "I think that all the decent women of Lowell have heard about all they want to about Beattie and Binford and have no desire to see her even through the medium of motion pictures."

"What are you going to do about it?" was asked.

"Nothing until I confer with Messrs. Hanson and Boulger and then perhaps you'll hear something."

The conference was held yesterday and this morning each picture show in town was notified that the police commissioners requested that no pictures of the Beattie case or of Miss Binford be shown in Lowell. It is understood that but for Commissioner Mullaney's action the pictures would be shown here in a short time.

Speaking of the case with a reporter of The Sun, Commissioner Mullaney said today: "Of course in a city of the size and cosmopolitan character of Lowell we have a community of diversified tastes and what one person would applaud another might look upon with horror. It is seldom that we take occasion to express our views to the picture show people as to what they shall run or shall not run. I have seen moving pictures that didn't appeal to me but which seemed to please the audience. On the other hand I have enjoyed pictures to which other people have objected. We placed the ban on the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures because of the popular objection to them. Now if these fight pictures were not proper for the public to witness certainly the pictures of this Binford woman are not proper and to exploit her on the film after what has been written about the case, in the opinion of this board, would be a rank insult to decent womanhood. There is no law on the statute books to prevent the picture being shown and some may say that we are assuming authority in our action. But the scope of the police commission is somewhat broader than the exclusive work of regulating the liquor traffic and if the board can do anything to preserve and protect the morals of the city it is going to do it."

ROBBERY THE MOTIVE

For the Murder of Mrs. Giannette, the Police Say

CLIFTONDALE, Sept. 16.—Police officers yesterday made a search of the house where Mrs. Carmella Giannetti was murdered yesterday to see if they could find any of the $97 which her husband says she had secreted in the house. The chief found $12 under a lamp on a bureau. No trace could be found of the missing $85.

It has been the belief of the police that robbery was the motive of the murder.

This forenoon Giannetti was still held but the police said they intended to take him to court and ask for his discharge, as they are satisfied he had no knowledge of the crime.

PREMIER STOLYPIN

Is Making Rapid Progress To Recovery

KIEV, Russia, Sept. 16.—The physicians attending Premier Stolypin made another exhaustive examination of the patient today and later announced that the progress toward recovery was satisfactory with the chances of a rapid restoration increasing.

It appears, it is stated, that when Bogroff attempted the life of the premier at the gala performance in the Municipal theatre Thursday night the one revolver bullet that entered the body first struck the crucifix which M. Stolypin always wears and thus lost much of its force, which accounts for the comparatively slight character of the wound.

Religious services were held in all the local churches when prayers were offered for the recovery of the minister.

TWO FIREMEN

WERE ACCUSED OF ASSAULTING THEIR SUPERIORS

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Fireman Henry Jamieson of Engine 71, Brooklyn, was put on trial yesterday on charges of using disrespectful language to Foreman Dennis F. Collins of the same company and of assaulting the foreman.

The testimony showed that the fireman remained in bed in the company quarters one morning when it was time for the men to be out. Mrs. Harriet Davis, the matron, wanted to make the beds, and the foreman shook the sleeping fireman and ordered him to get up.

"He busted my lip and had me covered with blood and had me sore for three days by using his fists on me," the foreman testified.

Fire Commissioner Johnson said such conduct was similar to mutiny on ship-board and could not be tolerated. He dismissed Jamieson from the department.

Fireman Martin E. Ogle of Engine 12, Manhattan, was also dismissed from the department on a charge of assaulting Assistant Foreman Cornelius Collins of the same company when the officer admonished him for making a disturbance in the dormitory.

FLORIDA IN COMMISSION

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The battleship Florida was put in commission yesterday afternoon at the Brooklyn navy yard and is moored alongside her sister ship, the Utah, at the cob dock, with about half her crew, which will eventually be 950 men, aboard.

The ceremonies which took place on the afterdeck of the battleship were simple and occupied only a few minutes. Rear-Admiral Leutze, the commandant of the yard, read the instructions directing him to turn the ship over to the officers, and Capt. Harry S. Knapp read his orders to take possession. The colors were then run up and the first watch set.

There is considerable work still to be done on the ship and it will be nearly six weeks before she is ready to go on her maiden trip. The Florida is 521 feet long, 87 feet beam, draws 28 feet of water and has a displacement of 22,000 tons. She has two Parsons turbines and four shafts and her officers expect that she will make 22 knots.

THE MOROCCAN SITUATION

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The German foreign minister, Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter, today informed the French ambassador at Berlin, M. Cambon, that the German government would not be ready before Monday to indicate what they thought of the French reply to the latest German note concerning Morocco.

MEXICO'S INDEPENDENCE

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16.—The anniversary of Mexico's declaration of independence was celebrated today, the big feature of the program being a parade of the military reviewed by President De La Barra.

Early in the day the streets were thronged with merry-makers apparently imbued with a spirit of freedom.

REVOLUTIONARY DISTURBANCES

CHUNG KING, China, Sept. 16.—Revolutionary disturbances have broken out at Fuchow Sze. Two hundred troops have been despatched thither but the loyalty of many of the soldiers is doubtful. The viceroy has ordered a number of those whose patriotism is questioned disarmed.

All the troops that have been concentrated for service in the province of Sze Chuen are expected to reach Li Chang before Sept. 24.

TAX SALE IS UPHELD

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 16.—A preliminary injunction granted by Vice Chancellor Walker yesterday enjoins the mayor and aldermen of Jersey City from selling property of the Erie Elevator company and the Long Docks company for unpaid taxes. The sale was advertised to take place several weeks ago, but was prevented by a temporary restraining order granted by the vice chancellor. Jersey City holds that the corporations owe the municipality many thousands of dollars for tax arrears. The companies dispute the claim.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

The extensive repairs at the Immaculate Conception church are almost completed and in a short time the stagings will be taken down and the dedication ceremony will take place. The entire building has been remodeled from top to bottom and when finished it will be one of the prettiest and most artistic temples for miles around.

A WIDE MOVEMENT

For the Impeachment of Gov. Blease

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 16.—Leaders of the opposition to Governor Cole Blease are trying to get evidence against him as a basis for impeachment proceedings, which they propose to begin when the South Carolina legislature convenes in January. The governor will be generally charged with misfeasance and malfeasance in office, and there will be specific charges. A resolution is to be introduced, it is said, to impeach him. If this is passed the articles of impeachment will be ready to be filed at once upon which the state senate will try him. His opponents believe that nearly two-thirds of the members of the legislature are inimical to Governor Blease. Chief Justice Ira B. Jones of the state supreme court has resigned that office to become a candidate for governor against Blease next year.

MANAGER CARROLL

MAKING GREAT SUCCESS AT MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Merrimack Square theatre has rounded out its first year as a caterer of amusement to the theatre going people of this city and suburbs, and under the direction and management of Mr. James Carroll it has been a most wonderful success, producing the very best and refined vaudeville and moving pictures that we have ever had in our city when prices are considered. It has always been a wonder to the people how it is possible to give such a great variety of amusement for such a small sum. It is perhaps the first time in the history of our city that an amusement house has been able to profitably keep open its doors the entire year, but such is the fact with the Merrimack Square under the management of Manager Carroll. He has demonstrated that such a thing can be done, but others might have failed where he has succeeded as he is a natural born theatre manager, having been engaged in some capacity with amusement houses since he was thirteen years of age and seems to know the business in its entire detail. He has not only made it profitable for the owners of the enterprise, but has always maintained a high standard of dignity and order in this popular theatre. Now, having entered on his second year as manager his every effort will be to always please the patrons of his house by presenting to them the very best that can be found. As he himself says, the people are willing to pay for a good thing, and as long as he is manager he intends to give them the best for the money at popular prices. The bill next week will be one of the best that has yet been offered at this popular theatre. The large audiences that have been constantly attending the matinees and evening performances are sufficient proof and evidence that there never was a more popular low priced amusement house.

Lowell people are great critics, and they know what they want, and when it is given to them they will always appreciate a good, dignified attraction, and it seems that none but that kind has ever made its appearance at this theatre. Everything is first class and up to date, and it can readily be seen the moment you enter the forum.

OPPOSED TO SECRET TREATY

PARIS, Sept. 16.—The Gil Blas today says that France in her latest communication to Germany, includes a request for guarantees that no secret treaty exists between Spain and Germany concerning the sale or transfer of any Spanish territory in Morocco or any Canary island to Germany.

THE SOCIALIST PARTY

Held State Convention and Nominated Candidates for Office

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The socialist party held its state convention in this city today, a large number of delegates being present.

The ticket was decided on today as follows:

Governor, James A. Carey, Haverhill; lieutenant governor, Walter S. Hutchins, Greenfield; secretary of state, Rose E. Fenner, Worcester; state treasurer, Sylvester McBride, Watertown; attorney general, George Roewer, Jr., Boston.

These candidates were selected at a party convention held at Worcester early in August, but in order for the nominations to be legal it is necessary to hold a formal state convention to nominate the ticket and today's meeting will be merely in the nature of a formal ratification of the candidates selected at Worcester. The nominee at Worcester for the office of state treasurer was a Fitchburg man named Ryan but he declined the nomination and it is necessary for today's convention to select a candidate in his place.

The call for today's convention set four o'clock as the time for opening.

PREMIER LAURIER

Will be Returned Without Opposition

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 16.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be returned for Quebec east by acclamation. R. Leduc, who was nominated to oppose him, has retired from the field.

IMPOSING CEREMONY

STATUE OF ST. ANTHONY TO BE BLESSED

An imposing ceremony will be held at Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street tomorrow evening when a statue of St. Anthony will be blessed. The ceremony will take place after vespers, which will be sung at 6.30 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Lamothe, O. M. I., pastor of the parish, to officiate.

The statue is a fine piece of work and is known as St. Anthony's Bread. It represents St. Anthony with the infant Jesus in his arms, while beside him stands an aged man receiving a loaf of bread from the saint. This magnificent piece of work was purchased with the receipts of a whist party recently given by some women of the parish.

FUNERAL NOTICES

BOLLS—The funeral of Bridget A. Bolls will take place Monday morning at 7 o'clock from the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons. The remains will be forwarded to Putnam, Conn., for burial. Burial will take place in St. Mary's cemetery. Services will be held at Putnam. J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

O'CONNOR—The funeral of the late Michael O'Connor will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his home, 22 Lagrange street. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. A mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

AVIATOR J. J. WARD

Made a Fine Flight From Callicoon, N. Y.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., Sept. 16.—J. J. Ward, the aviator, made a fine flight from Callicoon, N. Y., to this place today in his attempt to fly from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. Ward flew the distance of about 56 miles at a speed of nearly a mile a minute. The weather was foggy, but Ward found the air currents favorable. He will continue this afternoon toward Buffalo.

CREDITORS MEET

TRUSTEES NAMED FOR THE COMPANY

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 16.—The first meeting of the creditors of the United Wireless Telegraph Co. lately declared bankrupt, was held yesterday before Referee Lewis Pierce. Senator Bacon of New York, who has been named receiver; Philip G. Clifford and John B. Hall of Portland were appointed trustees and the bond fixed at $50,000.

Mr. Bacon moved for a postponement to adjust several important matters before the qualification of the trustees mentioning specially litigation now pending in the English courts between the United and the Marconi companies and also raising the point that the receiver had not yet been able to get possession of the property in Washington, Louisiana, Texas and California.

Referee Pierce ruled that no further time could be allowed for the trustees to qualify beyond the statutory ten days, with five days additional at his discretion.

The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow morning, when claims of creditors will be heard.

MISS ANNA O'DAY

Chosen Dressmaker at Industrial School

There will be a good opportunity for girls to learn dressmaking in the Industrial school, as a teacher was selected this afternoon after a great deal of deliberation.

Miss Anna O'Day of Central street, corner of Elm, a popular dressmaker, has been appointed to take charge of that department in the Morrill school. Miss O'Day learned her trade with the Misses Bonan, well known dressmakers, formerly of this city and now of Boston. She is a practical worker who can teach the art in all its branches. She has worked a great deal for Mrs. C. A. Stott, Mrs. Walter Parker and other prominent ladies in this city.

GOVERNORS HOMEWARD BOUND

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Sept. 16.—With a solitary exception the last of the 29 governors in session here yesterday is homeward bound today. The exception was Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, who tarried to keep a dinner engagement with former Governor Fort of New Jersey.

ELECTION PUZZLE

Supreme Court Refuses Writ of Mandamus

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 16.—The supreme court announced yesterday its refusal to grant a premeptory writ of mandamus compelling County Clerk John T. Crosby of Hudson county to certify the name of Felix E. Tumulty as a candidate for the democratic nomination for sheriff. The decision was announced verbally by Chief Justice Gummere and was based primarily upon the ruling that the provision of the new corrupt practices act requiring candidates to certify the names of the members of the finance committee who will have charge of their campaigns is mandatory.

Failure to designate the finance committee within the required period, the court held, operates as a refusal on the part of the candidates to run. This ruling was held to be applicable not only where the candidate actually designates a committee but also where he elects to be his own campaign manager, which is permitted by the law. In either event, the chief justice said, the candidate must make public who is to handle his campaign funds.

The chief justice said that County Clerk Crosby had properly performed his official duty when he notified Tumulty that because of his failure to comply with the provisions of the law he must consider him as having failed to run. Several other points argued by counsel for Tumulty were dismissed by the court as being without merit. The effect of the decision will be that Tumulty, if he is to be a candidate for sheriff, will have to run as an independent.

The court also refused an application made Thursday by Frank McKee, a lawyer of Bridgeton, for a peremptory writ of mandamus compelling the city clerk to place his name on the primary ballots as a candidate for county committeeman. Chief Justice Gummere said that if any of the lawyers wished further information as to the reasons for the refusal they might consult the court. Two conflicting sections of the election laws were involved in the dispute, and it is believed the court is still uncertain as to which should prevail.

"MONA LISA"

MAY BE SMUGGLED IN THROUGH SWAMPS OF NO. MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 16.—From information which they have received treasury department officials believe that "Mona Lisa," the masterpiece of painting which was stolen from the Louvre, Paris, will be smuggled in through the swamps of northern Minnesota. Acting through orders received from Washington, it is understood George Foukes, special agent in charge of the customs offices on the Canadian line, left yesterday for northern Minnesota, where he will take charge of the dragnet which the government is setting. It is believed that the picture will not come through any of the regular ports of entry but will come by the caravan route.

MISSION TO OPEN

At St. Peter's Church Tomorrow

A two weeks' mission will open at St. Peter's church tomorrow, the formal opening taking place at high mass. The mission will be preached by the Augustinian fathers and the first week will be for the women of the parish. The order of services for the retreat will be announced tomorrow.

DEFIES CAPTAIN

MAN WHO KIDNAPPED GIRL IS STILL AT LARGE

MANITOU, Sept. 16.—With over a thousand men searching the rough country covering an area of twenty miles between here and the border for the man who kidnapped Gladys Price, the young school teacher here, the fugitive has defied capture for three days. The girl positively identified yesterday the police photograph of a man known to the Winnipeg police as Wesley Osborne as her assailant. The identification was made easy by a livid scar on the man's face. Osborne was jailed at Winnipeg some weeks ago as a vagrant with a revolver in his possession. Apparently he is the man known in this locality as Henry Bill Wilson.

All border towns in the United States have received a description of this man with orders to hold him. The Canadian posses have orders to take him even if it is necessary to kill him.

A desperate patient by the name of A. Ness escaped from Brandon asylum some months ago and there is suspicion that the girl's assailant is this man, but if so he has received the scar since escaping.

Mounted police are being concentrated at the scene to aid in the search and many Indian and half-breed trailers are out with bloodhounds.

THE JULIA BERKLE

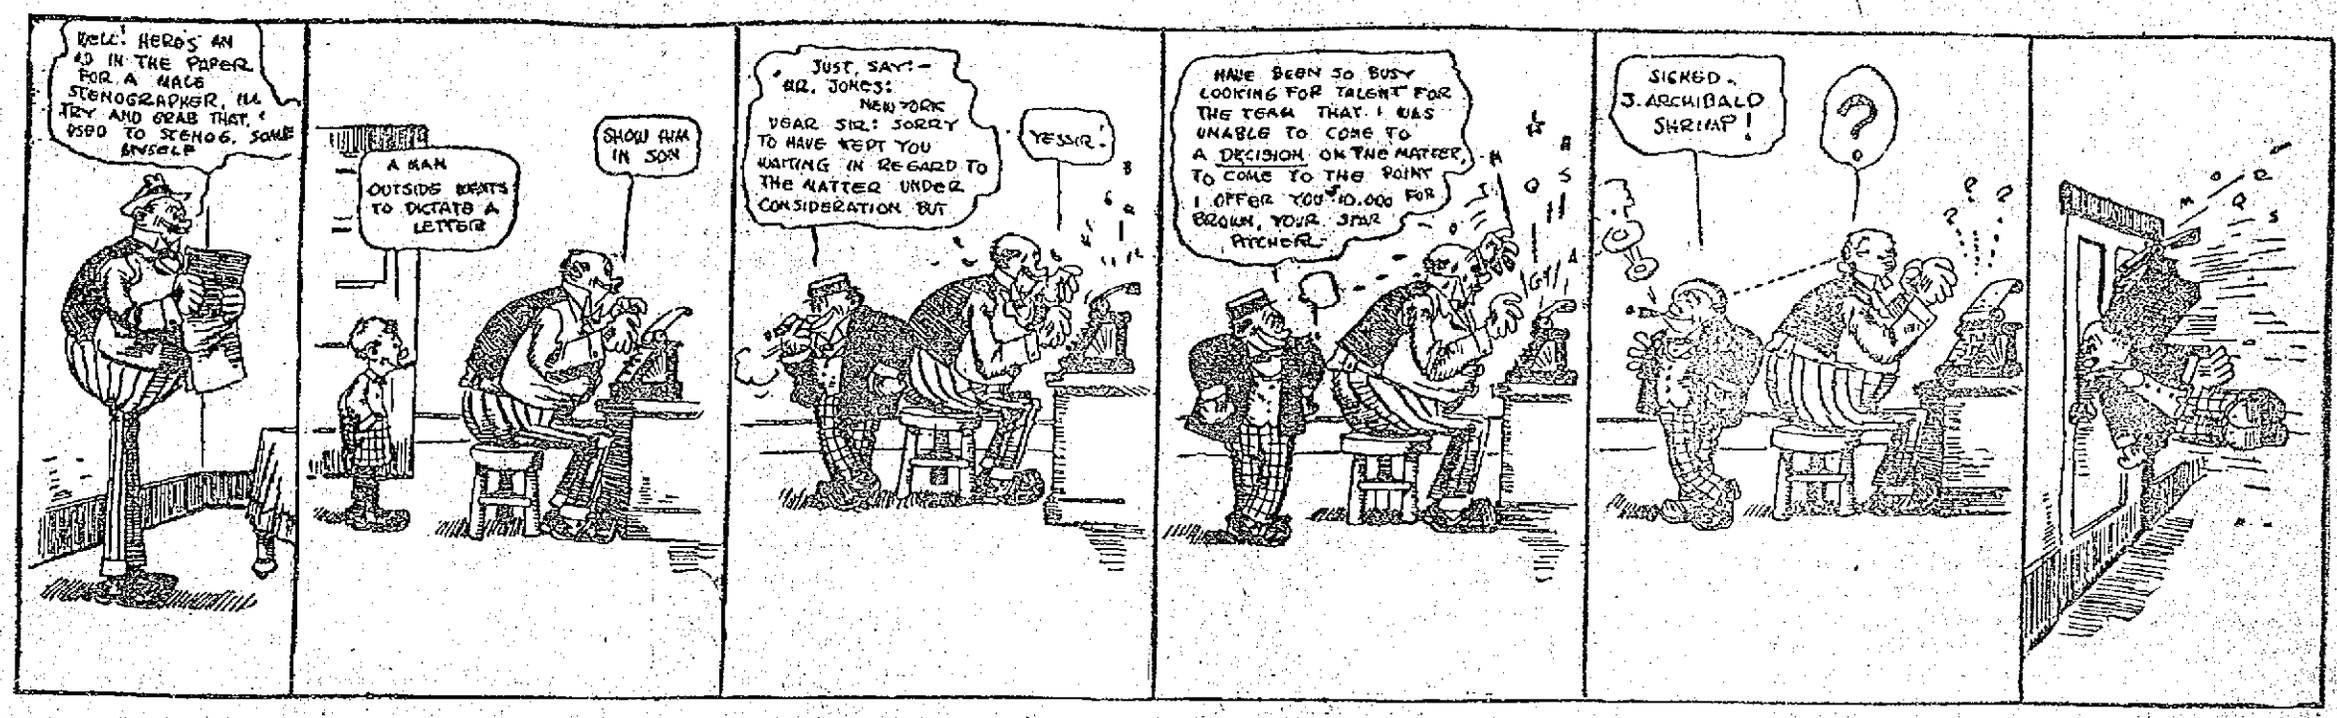

IS SAFELY ANCHORED IN NANTASKET ROADS

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—After narrowly escaping destination on the ledges jutting out from Boston light, the schooner Julia Berkle is today safely anchored in Nantasket Roads. For six hours yesterday the four men on board faced what seemed to be probable death while the vessel pounded on the rocks. They had almost given up hope when the tug Orion came alongside and after three hours work succeeded in dragging the Berkle into deep water. The grounding was the culmination of a three days fight against furious gales and heavy seas. The schooner left Calais, Me., a week ago, loaded with lumber and shingles bound for Nantucket.

BOUGHT A STEAMER

BATH, Me., Sept. 16.—John Davis and William Sawyer of this city have purchased the steamer Merida, formerly owned by the Red D line of New York and South America. The steamer was built in Philadelphia in 1880. The first of the year a new steamer of the same name was built for the Red D line, since which time the old Merida has been tied up in this city.

MANAGER McALEER

A Part Owner of Boston Americans

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—James R. McAleer, present manager of the Washington club, and Robert B. McRoy, secretary of the American league, with headquarters at Chicago, have purchased a half interest in the Boston Americans from Pres. John I. Taylor, and after the close of the present season these two baseball men will come to Boston and join in the active management of the club.

Pres. Ban Johnson of the American league was present at the conference yesterday and is in full sympathy with the new conditions. He expressed great satisfaction after the deal was closed to find a man of McAleer's experience connected with the local club. McAleer will come to this city later and an active interest in the building of the magnificent plant that will be ready for the fans at the opening of next season, which will class with any baseball plant now in the country. As Detroit will also have a fine new steel and cement plant, the American league can then point to eight complete steel and cement plants for the business.

There was very little time taken up yesterday over the transferring of stock to the new parties, as the deal was practically consummated by Pres. John I. Taylor and Pres. Johnson some time ago.

What took up most of the time yesterday was in going over the plans for the new plant with Architect James McLaughlin.

As the corporation is working under the laws of New Jersey there will be a meeting of the stockholders held before the first of the year to elect officers and map out the future plans for the club.

With a new plant and everything done to straighten the Red Sox the fans will have good reason to look forward to some fine baseball under the combination that will work together next season.

Pres. Taylor nor James McAleer would not say anything yesterday as to who would manage the club, simply leaving that to the future, as the club will play the schedule out under the present officers.

Pres. Johnson, Robert McRoy and James McAleer left for New York last evening, McAleer going to Washington to take up his work with the senators and the other two keeping on to Chicago.

Pres. John I. Taylor will take special pride in having the finest baseball plant in the country. He advised the architect in drawing up the plans, which were ready several weeks ago. There can be no further hitch in the proceedings, as everything was closed up yesterday to the entire satisfaction of all parties concerned.

RIVERSIDES WIN

Judges Award Them the Deciding Game

The board of arbitration of the City league met at the Sun office and considered the protest of the Riversides over their recent game with the Pawtucket Grays. The Riversides claim that Sturtevant, who had previously been transferred from the Grays to the Crimsons, played with the Grays without having been transferred back although the manager of the Grays was named prior to the game not to play him or any other player not properly registered. The judges decided to sustain the protest and gave the game to the Riverside which also gives them the championship of the league. The standing of the league is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Riversides	11	2
Shawlights	11	3
Royals	11	3
Pawtucket Grays	9	5
Beavers	8	6
Indians	5	9

THE SYRACUSE RACES

Earl Jr. is Again Returned a Winner

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Earl Jr., driven by Cox, won the Free-for-all pace, the feature event of yesterday's grand circuit meeting at the State fair, defeating Evelyn W. in a thrilling neck and neck struggle to the wire.

Evelyn W. took the second heat, but Earl Jr. crowded the mare so hard that she was forced to pace the last half mile in one minute and one-quarter second. A wonderful drive won the third heat and the race for Cox.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

SAYS THAT EXTRADITION PAPERS ARE LEGAL

Governor Foss is advised by Attorney General Swift that the extradition papers in the case of Nathan Berman and Louis Brooks, the two labor men who are wanted in Connecticut, are legal and should, as a matter of law, be granted.

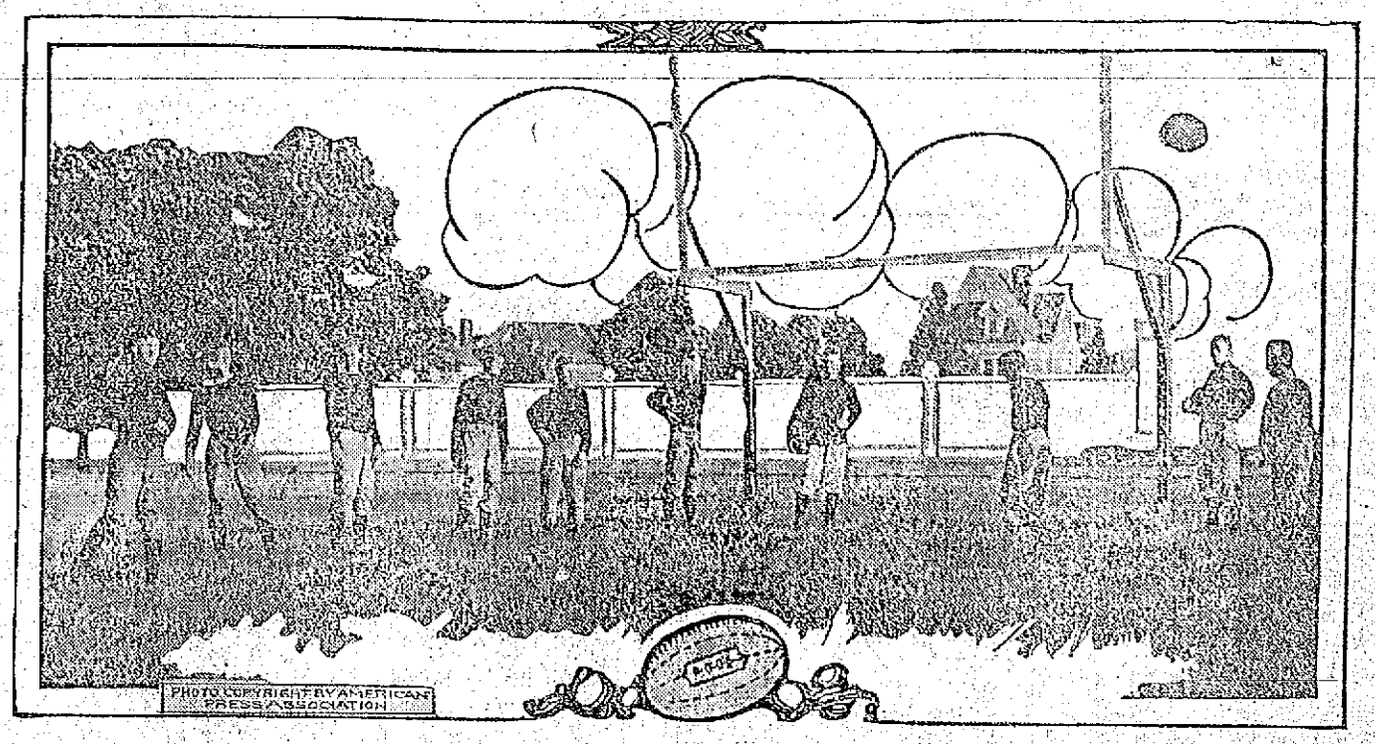

The decision in the case was made know last night as the final word on the legal side of the matter. But the governor declares that he will not cause the papers to be issued to the Connecticut officers until a hearing has been granted to the labor men, and so the hearing will be held Monday morning at the state house.

Berman is chairman and Brooks is business agent of the Cloak and Skirtmakers' union. They are charged with having gone to Connecticut and intimidated workers there and with having destroyed property.

The case, on account of some features resembling the famous McNamara case, has caused great interest in labor circles. Constant care is taken against the kidnapping of the two men. The labor people heard last night that such a project was on foot.

Governor Foss has been besieged by members of the union. Hundreds of cloak women had called at the state house to urge him not to approve the papers. They already bear the signature of the governor, but they were withdrawn after the protest had been entered.

PRINCETON FOOTBALL PLAYERS PRACTICING FORWARD PASS; PLAY WILL KEEP COACHES GUESSING THIS SEASON

PRINCETON, Sept. 16.—The football season for 1911 is well under way. From all the leading colleges come reports of tardy pigskin players hastening to the call of captains and a general wave of activity of the coaches and trainers in preparing the various camps for the year's campaign. Princeton men expect to be represented by a strong eleven this year. Nearly every one of last year's team answered the call here recently. Taken all around, the 1911 season should result in one of the best ever held. The new rules reduced the number of accidents to a minimum last year and as now modified promise to eliminate all danger of players being hurt. There have been no radical changes made in the code from those of last year. A simplified wording is about all that has been done. It was the forward pass that came in for the most attention from the rule makers, and there is much speculation as to whether in its new dressing it will be a success. According to the new rule, a forward pass is illegal when the player receiving it fails to hold on to the ball. When a forward pass is declared illegal it will be returned to the place where it was originally put into play. The same goes on an uncompleted forward pass, which is one that hits the ground before being touched by any player on either side. This year when a player catches a forward pass the players on the defensive can tackle him as soon as he catches the ball. Under the rules last year he had to wait till the man took at least two steps. There was much confusion and argument as to whether or not the rusher had taken two steps when the tackle was made. Picture shows Princeton players practicing forward pass.

N. Y. BOY RUNAWAYS

Spent Their Time in a Cave After Leaving Institution

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Willie Brusso, 12 years old, dislikes so much to be sent back to 'th' institooshun" that since Wednesday last at least Willie not only has been living in a cave in The Bronx at night but, according to small boys who also had been living in the cave with Willie until yesterday, Willie successfully had been foraging in The Bronx for milk and rolls and odds and ends that could be turned into money.

The two small boys who accuse the still missing Willie of stealing returned home yesterday, also with the story that larger boys who knew that the parents of the missing youngsters were looking for them had held the small boys for a 50 cent ransom. Mrs. Emma Bauer of 303 East 146th street, mother of one of Willie's companions, and Michael Carroll, a saloon keeper at 178 Lincoln avenue, father of Willie's other companion, back up the stories that while the Bauers and the Carrolls were looking for their missing offspring groups of boys came to the parents and said that the missing children could be turned up for a ransom.

Willie Brusso, fresh from "th' institooshun" on September 1, was about to be sent back because of his continued waywardness. Willie knew what was in store for him, so on last Monday he disappeared from his home at 2494 Third avenue, and his mother asked the police to help her find him. He had gone to live in a cave somewhere near Mott avenue and 144th street. The small boys know just where the cave is and they would visit Willie there and take him things to eat.

Last Wednesday night Willie summoned nerve enough to come from his cave long enough to take part in some games in 146th street with Eddie Carroll and Johnny Bauer. At dusk Willie and the two boys began to walk northward toward the cave. Eddie Carroll says that some place in Park avenue he wanted to turn back but that Willie Brusso told Eddie that Eddie would have to come on to the cave or have his "block knocked off" by Willie.

On Thursday morning Willie went forth again to forage and returned to the cave with fresh bread and rolls. Never mind where he got them. And then the three boys started for Clason Point, Eddie says. Some place along the road, according to Eddie, Willie Brusso met up with a small girl from whom Willie snatched her purse. Eddie says there was $1.18 in the purse and that Willie dumped the money into his pocket and then threw the empty purse into the face of the weeping little lady and that they all went on happily to Clason Point.

Back to the cave they trudged again. Eddie Carroll and Johnny Bauer were getting tired of cave life and wanted to go home, but Willie, they say, detained them. Besides, Willie was so thoughtful a host that when Johnny Bauer lost his cap on Thursday Willie went right into civilization and stole a cap for Johnny, according to Johnny's recitals. Johnny adds that on Thursday also Willie stole two automobile tires in 143d street near Third avenue and sold them.

Mrs. Bauer and her 16-year-old daughter were still searching for Johnny yesterday when a group of ten or twelve boys somewhat older than Johnny came to Mrs. Bauer and told her that for 50 cents doubtless Johnny could be found. Mrs. Bauer at first did not believe the boys, but gave them the 50 cents in the hope that perhaps they could find her Johnny for her. The group disappeared with the money. Half an hour later Johnny came marching home. The big boys had grabbed him, he said, just when he was about to come home himself yesterday morning and had decided to hold him until the ransom was paid.

Yesterday afternoon a group of boys called to see Saloon Keeper Carroll to tell Eddie's father that for 25 cents his search for Eddie would be over. Eddie's father told the boys to be off. They hung around and at last the father paid over the 25 cents to get his son back. Shortly after the boys had departed with their booty who came down the street? Little Eddie Carroll. And he got a licking.

But Willie Brusso still was alone in the fastness of his cave last night. Detectives have searched for the cave in vain. Last night Johnny and Eddie were too spanked and tired to help the detectives find the cave, but today the police will point Eddie and Johnny toward the north with instructions to find that cave as quickly as possible.

HEAVY LIABILITIES

MARGARET G. O'CALLAGHAN HAS FILED PETITION

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Margaret G. O'Callaghan, dealer in women's apparel at 484 and 486 Washington street, has liabilities aggregating $115,700, according to bankruptcy schedules filed by her attorney in the United States district court yesterday.

Although she was petitioned into bankruptcy by creditors last month she has not been adjudicated bankrupt, having made a composition offer to creditors of 20 per cent, half cash.

The Merchants' National bank and the Paul Revere Trust company hold secured claims for $2000 each. In addition the former holds $15,000 worth of accommodation paper, which the alleged bankrupt signed for the benefit of the Adams Cloak, Suit & Fur House, which she also conducted. The Paul Revere Trust company holds $2000 worth of paper which she indorsed.

The principal secured creditor is the Powow River National bank of Amesbury, which holds a claim for $5000. Of the 525 unsecured creditors H. Cramer of Philadelphia holds the largest claim, amounting to $4776. The Exchange Trust company of Boston also has an unsecured claim amounting to $3250.

The unsecured claims amount to $88,482. The assets are estimated at $21,280, and consist mainly of stock in trade and debts due on account.

RUSSIAN PREMIER

Is Expected to Recover From His Wounds

KIEV, Russia, Sept. 16.—Premier Stolypin, who was shot twice by an attempted assassin while attending the opera here, will, it is reported, recover from his wounds. The lawyer, named Bogrof, who fired the shots, is said to be a sympathizer with the Russian anarchists.

FUNERAL DELAYED

WIDOW WINS BATTLE OF WORDS WITH RELATIVES

SOUTH FAYSTON, Vt., Sept. 16.—Relatives of James C. Baird started out this morning to refuse to let his wife into the house or see her husband's remains. They came here Wednesday when the body was found in the bushes near the road, and have been stopping in the house. Mrs. Baird got permission from the state's attorney to leave the jail at Montpelier, where she is being detained until the investigation by the grand jury next week, and made the 20-mile trip in the rain through muddy roads in an automobile. With her was Mrs. Fannie Lawson, the sheriff's daughter. Mrs. Baird took along her attorney, Burton E. Bailey, as she suspected there would be trouble.

There were a half dozen among Baird's relatives, and all were inimical toward Mrs. Baird and didn't want her at the funeral. The funeral was scheduled to take place at 10 o'clock, but it was 11 before the battle of words was over and the services commenced.

Finally the casket lid was raised and Mrs. Baird stepped into the room and looked at her husband's body.

The funeral services were in charge of a local minister, and the body was taken to Waitsfield for interment. Mrs. Baird wept bitterly. She stopped at the house with her attorney, while the others went to the grave, and gained possession of certain papers and deeds. The relatives returned to the house and intended to stay, but her lawyer turned them out.

"BOWERY ORACLE"

PASSED AWAY IN HIS LODGING HOUSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Emil Brunner, known as "the Bowery oracle," died from natural causes in a rooming house on the Bowery yesterday. For years his opinions had been considered as final by hundreds of east siders, and he was arbitrator of many controversies. Most of his spare time was spent in the Astor library, and among his effects were found memorandum books containing notes indexed for ready reference.

The only clue to his family is a discharge from the Ohio National Guard, which was found in his pockets. It shows that he enlisted in 1881, served five years and was honorably discharged. He was believed to be about 70 years old.

KEEPS THE BODY SWEET

In warm weather many, and especially fleshy persons, find it impossible to prevent the odor of perspiration. But by dusting the body, limbs and feet with Comfort Powder after the daily bath, and applying it freely under the arms and in the folds of flesh, they can not only keep the body sweet but add greatly to their comfort. This checks perspiration and prevents all chafing. Mrs. A. C. Howe, a trained nurse, Allston, Mass., always advises this use of Comfort Powder. See that E. S. Sykes' name is on the box.

LIABILITY FOR BAGGAGE

The posted notices of railroad companies that they will not be liable for more than $100 for lost baggage duly checked, will not stand in law to save them from the liability to pay full value. To make such an arrangement the companies must notify the passengers at the time of checking the baggage. This will doubtless result in a different mode of checking the effects of passengers traveling by rail. The supreme court has decided this matter, holding that there is no previous contract limiting the company's liability unless each individual passenger be so notified.

AS TO MARRIAGE MOCKERIES

The people of Everett are justly indignant over the burlesque on the Astor-Force wedding, holding that the event itself was as much of a mockery as anybody should want. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston has condemned stage marriages and in this he has won general applause. Under the very best conditions many marriages go astray and it is well to prevent making them a mere travesty upon what they should be. In Fall River the aldermen have wisely moved to stop the custom of making a silly racket on the public streets whenever a married couple are starting on their honeymoon. There is more or less of that in other cities than Fall River. We have seen it carried too far in Lowell and it is well to have it stopped. In some cases where tricks were being played on the contracting parties serious injury has resulted. Better cut out the nonsense in the cause of public decency and the right of the "newly weds" to go their way in peace.

DR. WILEY VINDICATED

President Taft has done the right thing in vindicating Doctor Wiley, head of the bureau of chemistry and chief expert in the enforcement of the pure food law. Wiley's offense consisted in being a party to an agreement to pay an expert $20 per day when an act of congress provided that no such expert should receive more than $9 per day.

This technical offense was taken up by Attorney General Wickersham who recommended condign punishment for Dr. Wiley. The matter was taken up for investigation by the house of representatives but no report was made. The fact was that the trusts and combines that have been adulterating the food supply of the country were opposed to Dr. Wiley and wanted him reproved. They succeeded in having the so-called Remsen board appointed to revise his decisions in the interests of the manufacturers and this as might be expected caused continual friction between the board and Dr. Wiley. Secretary Wilson was involved in several of the disputes but throughout the entire trouble Dr. Wiley's honesty of purpose was clearly apparent. It is gratifying that President Taft has sustained Dr. Wiley although nobody could see how he could do anything else unless he did what he knew perfectly well to be absolutely unjust and a capitulation to the "interests" that fought Wiley on the benzoate of soda and many other questions. Wiley always stood firmly against the use of poisonous preservatives for food and for this reason the people throughout the entire country will be glad to know that he has been vindicated. Wickersham, Wilson and the Remsen board should now be tendered their resignations.

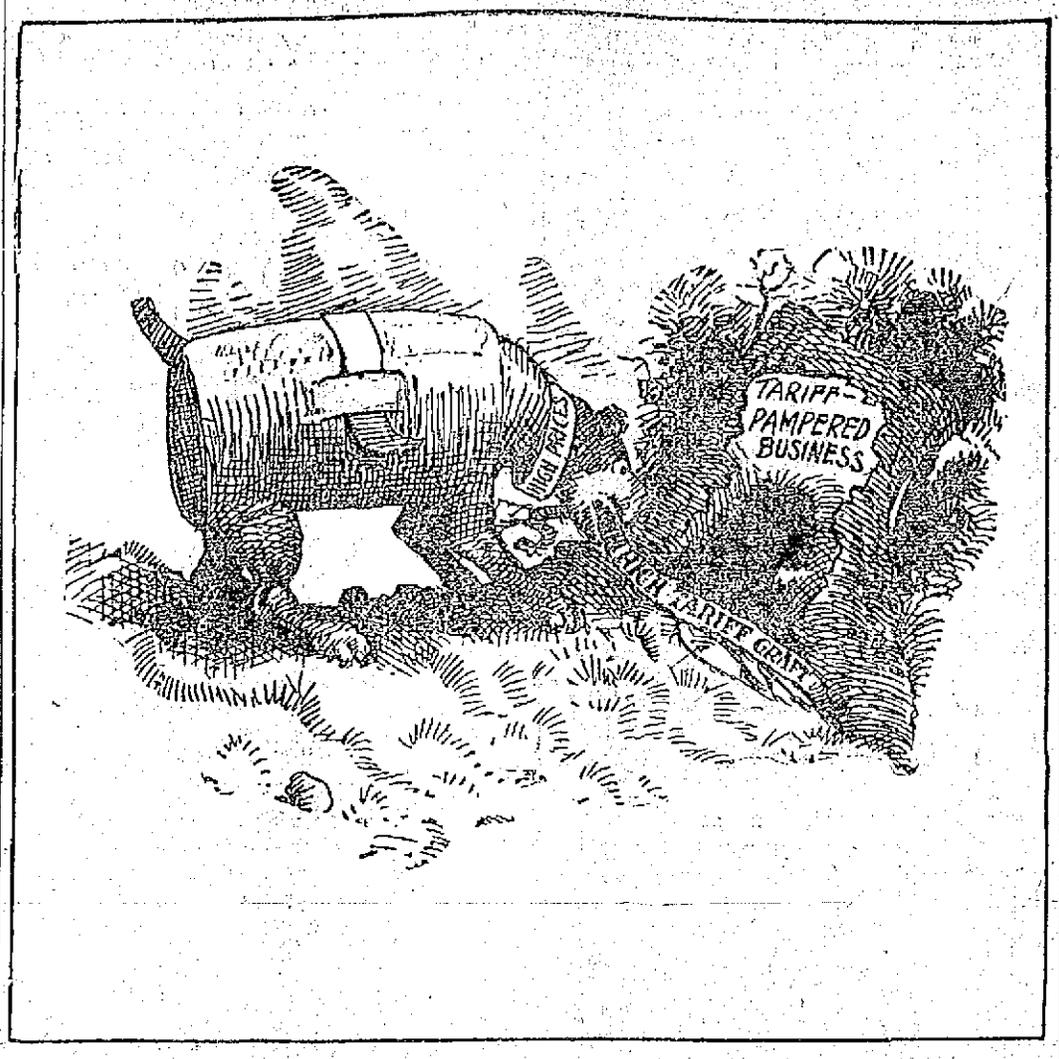

CHIEF JUSTICE RUGG

While the appointment of a chief justice of the supreme court is probably the most important that Governor Foss will have to make while in office, it is highly gratifying that his choice has met the practically unanimous endorsement of the press and what is of greater weight in this case, the endorsement of highest legal authorities of the state including bar associations and Judge Knowlton, the former chief justice.

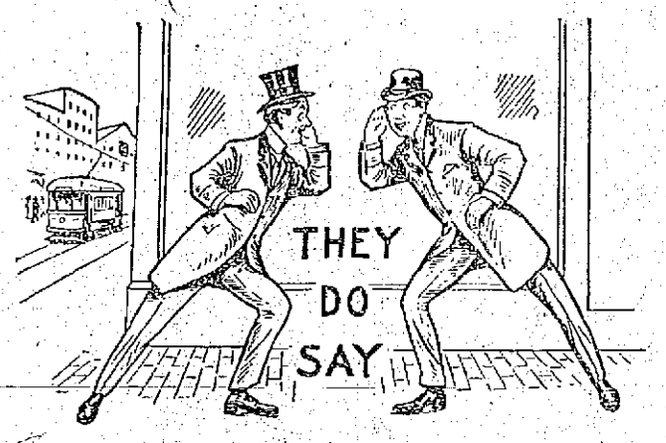

The governor is justly commended for two things in connection with this appointment; first, for having selected the judge who beyond all question is best fitted for the place, and second, for refusing to consider party claims that might dictate an appointment upon grounds other than pre-eminent fitness.

Justice Rugg, although the junior member of the supreme bench, has distinguished himself by writing the court's decisions in some of the most important and complicated cases passed upon during the last five years. In all his decisions touching corporate interests, Justice Rugg has shown a recondite knowledge of the legal principles involved, as of precedents bearing upon the cases and he has endeavored to hold these interests up to the highest standards of law. That the other members of the supreme court assigned to Justice Rugg the work of writing such important decisions proves that they recognized his special ability to frame decisions of the highest order on questions calling for a profound knowledge of the law.

That Governor Foss has risen above party and political considerations in this as in his other judicial appointments should be appreciated by the people of the state. Justice Rugg is recognized as progressive, liberal, fair-minded and profoundly learned in the law. A republican in politics he does not allow his decisions or his opinions to be colored in the slightest degree by partisan feeling. He is too broad minded for that. Amherst college is proud of him as one of its graduates and the Boston University law school gave him his degree. His success as a lawyer in Worcester was rapidly attained and it was his brilliancy as a lawyer that first led Governor Guild to select him for the bench as it has caused the present governor to name him for chief justice. It is doubtful if at either time a better choice could have been made. The high office to which he has been elevated will lose none of its dignity at the hands of Justice Rugg who is a worthy successor of the eminent jurists who have filled the position in the past. He will make a chief justice of whom Massachusetts may well be proud.

THE TARIFF GRAFT SHOULD BE CUT OFF

That there will be warm weather yet.

That the campaign so slow at starting will boom next week.

That Achin and Jewett have the pole in the 17th district.

That the hay fever victims have been having their troubles for the past week.

That Governor Foss' remarks at the Middlesex North Fair made the farmers sit up and take notice.

That the hustling services of Constable "Ed." Livingston were greatly missed at the fair.

That Henry Livingston is slated to succeed his father as constable at Billerica.

That Merrimack Square will have a continuous pyrotechnic display when Keith's new sign is finished.

That the police ball team is dead game and is going to play the Cambridge cops.

That the campaign for the new charter will soon start up and it promises to be lively.

That the Middlesex North would have to seek far to get a man to run affairs as well as George Trull does.

That De Lacy Corkum had a heart-to-heart talk with Governor Foss, and that he is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the governor.

That the democratic politicians are giving out a lot of misleading statements about the new charter in order to have the present charter retained.

That with Keith's and the Merrimack Square theatres and the street car centre permanently located in Merrimack Square, the vicinity of the Square needs only a public hall to complete it.

That there'll be great waiting for the country towns to send in their returns as the result of the direct nomination law. In days gone by the number of delegates were figured upon without waiting for the vote.

That the democrats will make the greatest mistake of their lives if they do not vote solidly for the new charter that will put them on an equal footing with republicans in the city council and the school board.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Wool and Cotton Reporter: Manufacturers who have recently traveled through the south say there is nothing at all the matter with the cotton crop, but of course they see it as they would like to see it, and their views must also be accepted with some mental reservations. It is hardly worth while to pay too much attention to what the cotton exchanges say about it, for all of their talk is handed out for speculative purposes only.

MELLEN HAS DONE BIG THINGS

Providence Bulletin: If not a railroad demi-god Mr. Mellen is a strong executive. He is reported as having said that he came east to run a railroad and found that his task was to build one. That is true. He has begun to do for New Haven what Harriman had to do for Alton and for Union Pacific. Mr. Mellen has not been afraid to change policies when he has tried them out. Thus he has increased service and reduced it later; he has lowered rates and then has raised them. He has promised great things and has—well, delayed fulfilment. But truly after all is said, great things have been done; and his seeming lust for a monopolist's power has been justified, very likely, by a taste of what ruin in profits would be otherwise likely from trolley extension, independent water lines, and ever auto-truck development. All these threats have come along with insistent, costly and not always reasonable demands of the public, the employes and the developing law of the land. It is hard to believe that J. Pierpont Morgan is not satisfied, even although many railroad men in different parts of the country believe Mr. Mellen's road is shouldering too much.

HAUNTED BY A "DEFICIT"

Springfield Republican: It is not impossible that the report of President Mellen's resignation flew out of the window into the ears of an unsympathetic world at about the time the directors and heavy stockholders of the New Haven system learned of the $1,602,382 deficit on the "B. & M." The coming annual "B. & A." deficit—assuming that there will be one—would be another plume in his cap not altogether to the taste of those who care more for their 8 per cent dividends than for the Mellen system. All of which may be unjust to Mr. Mellen, but deficits are deficits, whatever else may be read into them.

WOMAN SUSPECT

BELIEVED TO BE SCOUT OF SECOND-STORY WORKERS

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—A fashionably gowned woman, a brunette, apparently about 27 years of age, is the "scout" of a gang of second-story workers who have been working in Ashmont several weeks, according to the opinion of realty owners whose property has been broken into.

A full list of the dwellings entered could not be learned yesterday because of the secrecy of the police, but among the houses burglarized were those of Charles V. W. Marcy of 281 Ashmont street, Mrs. Charles Doherty of 127 Ashmont street, and the Rev. Simon Elliot Blunt, rector of All Saints' church, Peabody square.

Within the past three weeks the mysterious woman has visited several real estate agents' offices and asked for keys of flats, explaining that she wished to look over a suite with the intention of hiring it. It was supposed that after entering the house she drew plans of the building, ascertained the easiest methods of entrance and learned when the families in the house were wont to leave.

GREAT WELCOME

RABBI MARGOLIES WAS PRESENTED A HOUSE

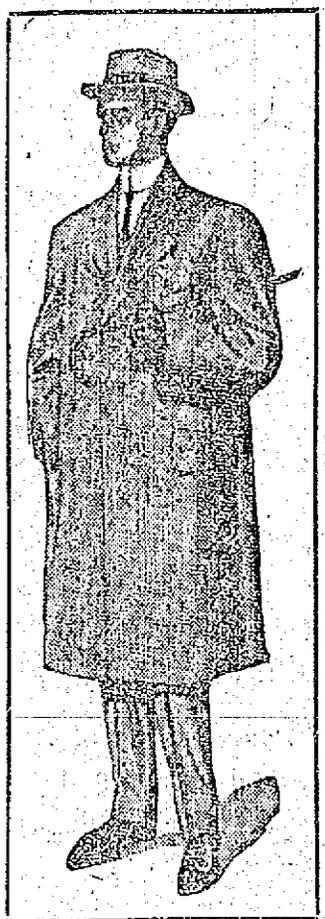

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The greatest event in orthodox Jewish religious circles in New York for years was the arrival here last night of Wolf Margolies, who for the last five years has been chief rabbi of the united Jewish congregations of Boston and came here to become rabbi of the United Hebrew community, which has its headquarters at 183 East Broadway. The orthodox quarters of the East Side were in a state of excitement all evening, and it was estimated that over 5000 persons called at night and shook the hands of the patriarch who is to be a source of law and justice as well as religion to the 7000 members of the United Hebrew community.

As he stepped off he was embraced by all the members of the reception committee and then conducted to one of the eight automobiles in which the members of the committee had gone to the train.

The greatest surprise of the evening for the rabbi came when the eight automobiles stopped at 203 East Broadway while on the way to the headquarters of the community. Rabbi Margolies was conducted into a three-story house and told that it had been purchased by the community on Wednesday and was to be his home as long as he remained in the city.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Had a Narrow Escape From Death

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 16.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., escaped death by inches, one may die and four others were terribly injured in an accident which occurred at Mr. Rockefeller's father's house at 4.30 yesterday afternoon. The accident threw a gloom over the Rockefeller estate.

Mr. Rockefeller, Jr. was visibly affected, but he hastened to give first aid to the men while he dispatched others to get doctors and nurses to the Rockefeller estate with all possible speed.

The garage in the stable was turned into a temporary hospital and it is there that three doctors and five nurses are working to save the lives of the injured men with Mr. Rockefeller, Jr. superintending everything.

Mr. Rockefeller and his family only returned from Seal Harbor, Me., yesterday and Mr. Rockefeller after a hasty lunch went up to the hill to see how the addition of 10 rooms to his father's house was progressing. The roof of the house has been torn off and it is being shoved up into the air to add 10 bedrooms at a cost of about $1,000,000.

Mowed Down by Beams

Mr. Rockefeller watching the work carefully had just passed around to the west side of the building as some men were hoisting a bundle of steel up to the roof. The derrick, which is located on the roof had raised the steel to the second story when one end caught on the cornice.

The tie rope broke and the steel tipped up in the air on end and slipped through the noose. Mr. Rockefeller saw what had happened and instantly realized the danger.

He yelled "Jump for your lives, men!" and then sprang back as the bundle of steel came crashing to the ground. A large number of Italian laborers were at work on the ground helping some stone masons; they did not realize the danger and failed to grasp Mr. Rockefeller's warning.

The bundle of steel broke and the beams scattered and as they struck the ground they mowed the men down like a scythe. Mr. Rockfeller and others who saw the accident turned their heads at the horror of the sight, for they believed every man would be cut to pieces.

After the crash, Mr. Rockefeller rushed in to pull out the injured men from under the pile of stee, all the while calling for the other workmen to come to his aid. Nearly all the men had been hit on the head and one man's head lay open with an awful gash.

Hurry Call for Aid

The sight was pitiful and tears were in Mr. Rockefeller's eyes as he realized the awfulness of the catastrophe. He never thought of himself and his hands and clothing were soon bathed in blood as he helped and directed the work of relief.

Men rushed into the house and the telephones were busy calling help. Dr. A. C. Chace was soon in his way in his automobile and others quickly followed. The Tarrytown hospital was called up and asked for aid, but word came back that it was filled up and could not take the men.

Mr. Rockefeller was equal to the emergency and ordered the garage in the stable made ready for a hospital, and cots were rushed to the stable, while the Rockefeller automobile was sent to a local drug store for all kinds of bandages and medicines.

Five trained nurses were telephoned for and hustled to Pocantico Hills in automobiles ready to take charge. It was feared that the men would die from loss of blood. Nearly all were unconscious.

EVERETT EGGLESON

Had a Narrow Escape From Drowning

Everett Eggleson had narrow escapes from being burned and drowned while ploughing through the waters of the Merrimack river in his motor boat Thursday night. He had just left the boat house and was a few hundred yards up the river, when what he thought was water in the boat caught fire. It seems that instead of being water it was gasoline which had leaked from the tank and became ignited by the flame from a lantern.

Eggleson overturned the boat to put out the flames and then started to right it but in spite of his efforts the boat sank in about 20 feet of water. Eggleson started for shore, but did not know exactly where he was, and shouted for help. Martin Hiltz, in the Pawtucket boat house, heard the cries and went to his rescue and brought him to the boat house.

PRESENTED A PEN

WARREN T. SHAW TO GO TO DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

Warren T. Shaw, a former teacher at the Lowell High school, who recently resigned his position to accept one as instructor in English at Dartmouth college, was feted by the members of the "Get Together" club last night at the Y. M. C. A. and was presented with a costly fountain pen.

The members of the club and their friends gathered at the rooms at six o'clock at which time a dainty supper was served by a committee of ladies consisting of Mrs. F. M. Perkins chairman, Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. D. E. Yarnell and Mrs. Roberts.

After the meal, an interesting talk on "Does a college education help a man who intends to live a commercial life?" was given by Mr. Shaw, who began by saying he was sorry to leave his associates of the club, but said there was some pleasure in knowing that he would return occasionally to mingle with them now and then.

The presentation of the pen was made by Mr. John Williams in behalf of the members, who wished to express their esteem to an ex-president of the club.

CLERK IS ACCUSED

Is Charged With Robbing the Mails

BOSTON, Sept. 16.— Clarence R. MacCarrick, about 30 years of age, married, and living at 7 Salem place, Maldon, who for four years has been employed as a clerk in the North postal station, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal James Ruhl, charged with embezzling letters from the mail.

The defendant was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes, and in default of $500 sureties was remanded to the East Cambridge jail for a hearing on Sept. 18. MacCarrick has a wife and two small children.

For several weeks complaints have been coming to Supt. E. P. Lincoln of the North postal station of letters and packages missing from the special delivery pouches which came over the four lines of the Boston & Maine railroad and were dumped at the station for distribution.

It was MacCarrick's duty to dump this mail between 5.45 a. m. and 2 p. m., and 3 p. m. and 11.30 p. m. on alternate weeks.

Supt. Lincoln notified Chief Postoffice Inspector Letherman, and Inspectors C. E. Jennings and J. M. White were detailed. They watched MacCarrick, and ...ge they saw him take letters from the mail and open them, after which he tore up the envelopes and deposited any valuables or money in his pocket.

Jennings and White claim that thousands of letters were stolen. They found one letter sent by Anna Braley to her brother in this city and containing $4. The letter was sent from the Crowningshield hotel, Clifton. Inspector Jennings communicated with the woman yesterday after MacCarricks' arrest, and she stated she had sent $4 by special delivery to her brother. She will appear as a government witness.

MISSING WOMAN

WAS FOUND IN A HOME IN FRANKLIN PARK

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 16.— Mrs. John Massie, the aged woman who mysteriously disappeared from her home at 33 Dutton street Tuesday night, was found yesterday in a home at Franklin park, about two miles from the residence of Henry Chatel, where she was stopping.

Mrs. Massie I sunable to give a connected account of her wanderings. She says she remembers seeing a large body of water and a railroad station. The water is believed to have been Lake Massabesic, which is some five miles from the Chatel home.

She was found on the steps of a Franklin park residence in an exhausted condition with her clothing wet through. Her identity was disclosed by articles giving a description of her which had been published in the newspapers.

HELD FOR ASSAULT

Man Used a Crutch as a Club

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., Sept. 16.— A fight at the gravel bank, which may prove fatal, occurred yesterday afternoon. Four or five men who had been drinking and were in a cave near the gravel bank got into a fight among themselves which resulted in a probable fatal ending.

Cornelius Doyle had one arm broken in two places and his head pounded by a man who gave his name as John Henderson, a needle peddler, a man with one leg, and who used the crutch he carried to fight with as a weapon knocking down Doyle, breaking his arm and pounding his head to a jelly. The policemen prevented further injuries. Doyle was taken to a nearby house, but his recovery is extremely doubtful.

GIRL WAS MANGLED

She Was Attacked by a Huge Lion

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Clawed and bitten by a huge lion in a side show at the State fair yesterday afternoon, Laura Burns, 7, of Morrisville is hovering between life and death at a Syracuse hospital. The girl was frightfully mangled and may not recover.

Cages of lions were roped off with clothes line so that spectators were not supposed to get nearer than four or five feet of the cage. The little girl climbed under the rope barrier.

The lion reached out its paw and fastened its claws in her head. The animal drew the child to the cage, while her screams rang through the tent.

With his other paw he clawed at the child's face and tried to draw her through the bars. Attendants rushed to the child's aid but the animal had her fast in his grasp.

The screams of terror of the child attracted throngs to the tent. People crowded through the entrance and jammed against the cage. Attendants beat the lion with bars and prodded the infuriated animal until the child was released.

When the little girl had been finally freed it was found that the lion had torn out one of her eyes, torn off an ear and lacerated her face and the upper part of her body.

BILLERICA

Tomorrow will be observed as Labor Sunday at the North Billerica Baptist church. A special labor service will be held at 7 o'clock in the evening when Rev. Charles H. Williams, Ph.D., the pastor, will deliver a sermon on "What the Workingman Needs."

NAVY DEPARTMENT

To Investigate Cause of Sailor's Death

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—An investigation into the cause of the death of one sailor and the sudden illness of seventy-one other bluejackets on the battleship Michigan, believed to have been due to cold storage chicken, while the ship was at the Southern drill grounds ten days ago, will be made by the navy department.

Although Capt. Usher of the ship will not state what he considers caused the sickness, many chickens kept in the refrigerators were thrown overboard soon after the illness developed.

The battleship Michigan arrived at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday for a few days' stay. Her hull will be scraped and a few minor repairs made. Immediately after the arrival Capt. Nathaniel Usher stated that on Labor day some seventy sailors on the ship complained of feeling ill. They were treated in the ship's hospital, recovering in a few days. Two days later William Starkweather of Franklin Springs, N. Y., complained of the same trouble. Although everything possible was done for him, he died five days later.

A week ago Sunday the chickens were taken from the ship's refrigerator and showed no signs of taint. They were not canned.

All the men, save Starkweather, recovered and were able to be about when the battleship docked at Charlestown. Funeral services for Starkweather were held on the Michigan Sunday. The body was transferred to the hospital ship Solace and sent to his home.

Capt. Usher yesterday afternoon in a report to the navy department forwarded without comment the report of a board of survey, composed of officers of the Michigan.

MAIL CARRYING

BY AEROPLANE TO BE TESTED BY HITCHCOCK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Not to be outdone by the British postal authorities in the carrying of mails through the air, the latest method of letter transportation, Postmaster-General Hitchcock last night gave his consent to the establishment of an experimental aeroplane mail route between one of the outlying branches of the Brooklyn, N. Y., postoffice and the aerodrome at Nassau boulevard, Long Island, during the international aviation meet, which will be held there from Sept. 23 to Oct. 1.

It is probable that a special postal station will be established at the aviation field and a temporary postmaster appointed by the department to conduct the business of receiving and dispatching mails and selling postage stamps. The postoffice department will watch with interest the experiments of carrying mail by aeroplanes.

The first successful official aeroplane letter route was opened last Saturday by the British postal administration, which began a series of experiments in the carrying of mails by aeroplanes from Hendon, Eng., to Windsor castle, a distance of almost 20 miles. Four aviators, with two biplanes and two monoplanes, were engaged in the work and about 100,000 letters constituted the first delivery.

These experiments have been watched with considerable interest by the U. S. postal authorities, who are of the opinion that the day when letters will be forwarded from city to city by airships is not far distant.

FATE OF RECIPROCITY

Will Depend Largely on the Verdict of Province of Quebec

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—It is now conceded by both sides that the result of the election will largely, if not entirely, depend on the verdict of the Province of Quebec. As a result this province is now a maelstrom of political activity, the campaign being marked by an intensity and bitterness never before equaled in its history.

While the Liberal leaders continue to insist that reciprocity is the paramount issue, yet the Nationalists treat reciprocity as a side issue, and insist upon forcing the naval issue to the front. So energetic has been this attack on the naval policy that the Liberals are compelled to spend much of their time in defensive argument.

The prestige of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name is being employed more widely than ever before, the example being set by the premier himself, who at Victoriaville, the little village in which Sir Wilfrid began his career as a lawyer, made a personal plea that his countrymen should not desert him at this supreme hour of his career.

That Sir Wilfrid's appeal will be effective is not doubted. But whether it is sufficient to counteract the inroads made by Mr. Bourassa is questioned. Without Bourassa and the naval specter, Sir Wilfrid would go back to Ottawa with practically the same strength behind him from his native province as he had before dissolution. As it is, the conservatives claim they will carry 37 seats out of the 65 in Quebec province. The Liberals will not be surprised at slight conservative gains in Quebec, although not sufficient to alter the general result of a victory for the country at large.

The government expects to sweep the entire belt of countries along Lake Ontario, which would mean a net gain of five seats to the Liberals from the Conservatives, as a result of the strong feeling among farmers in that section over the barley provision in the reciprocity agreement.

In their efforts to offset the favor which reciprocity meets, the Conservatives contend that if the Canadian market is opened to the United States Canada will be compelled to extend similar privileges to other countries under the so-called "favored" nation" clause.

Meantime the betting still favors the return of the Laurier government.

The annexation issue is still being urged upon the numerous natives of Great Britain who have come to Ontario in the past four or five years.

BOSTON LETTER USED

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 16.—The campaign in eastern Canada continued with vigor yesterday and all sorts of arguments are being advanced to bolster up their cause by Liberals and Conservatives alike.

A Boston fish commission house is receiving some gratuitous advertising in bold type on the first page of Conservative newspapers and at public meetings because of a letter written to a firm in Richibucto, which ships thousands of tons of smelts each fall and winter to the New York and Boston markets.

The letter is quoted in an attempt to show that reciprocity will not benefit shippers.

THE HUNTING SEASON OPENS

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The members of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men met in regular weekly session last night in Odd Fellows temple, Senior Sagamore Edmond Whitney on the stump. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. One application was received and referred to a committee for investigation. The committee on ways and means made many good recommendations for the welfare of the tribe, and the report was unanimously accepted.

The entertainment committee expects to get busy next month. The degree staff will organize at the next meeting for the season's work.

Remarks on the tribe's welfare were made by Brothers George Houle, Frank Riney, George A. Frost and Frank Gray.

Foresters of America

The deputy grand chief rangers of the different courts of Foresters of America organized Thursday night for the years 1911-12 and elected the following officers: D. G. C. R. John Barrett of Court City of Lowell, chairman; D. G. C. R. David Gerow of Court Wamesit, vice chairman; D. G. C. R. Albert McDougall of Court Middlesex, secretary. The object of the deputies is to visit all the courts in a body and help them to build up, and also to try and bring the members closer together. The following are the deputies of courts of Lowell: Michael McMullen, Court Merrimack; Albert McDougall, Court Middlesex; Nerlve Gadbois, Court Champlain; John Barrett, Court City of Lowell; David Gerow, Court Wamesit; William Martin, Court Gen. Shields; James St. Hilaire, Court Garin; John W. Downing, Court Dinon; John F. Connelly, Court Centralville; James Dunn, Court Scandia; Frank McCormack, Court Columbus.

Knights of Pythias

The regular meeting of Wamesit lodge No. 25, Knights of Pythias, was held last night and the newly elected officers of the lodge were installed by Deputy Grand Chancellor Isaac W. McArthur and suite, as follows: Grand vice chancellor, Fred W. Ireland; grand prelate, Ezra W. Mansur; grand master-at-arms, Robert J. Fullerton.

The officers were elected and installed as follows: Chancellor commander, Adelbert H. Abbott; vice chancellor, Charles J. Shaw; prelate, Clarence H. Bachelder; master-at-arms, Eugene L. Brierly. After remarks by different members, all adjourned to the banquet hall to partake of the good things prepared by Chef Batchelder.

A Wonderful Discovery Which Practically Eliminates the Dangers of Death by Catarrh or Diseases Which Originate with Catarrh

(From the Paterson, N. J., Guardian)

Ninety-four per cent of all the diseases with which the human system is afflicted, originate or turn into catarrh; assuring himself of this fact, Dr. Barker gave the matter of catarrh his entire time and study, and after several years of most thorough research for a remedy which would positively cure catarrh in any form, he prepared a prescription which he used in his private practice without a single failure of any case of catarrh he treated. After a considerable amount of persuasion he consented to put the prescription up in convenient form, so that sufferers from this terrible disease could purchase the treatment at a nominal cost. The prescription will be found in most any drug store in the United States under the label bloodine. In a recent introductory sale in the city of New York, more than 20,000 bottles were sold in a single week.

"I am so confident that bloodine will cure anyone afflicted with catarrh that I will gladly supply it to any patient on a positive guarantee to cure or money will be as cheerfully refunded as it is taken. If your druggist does not keep bloodine you can be supplied by The Bloodine Laboratories, Boston, Mass. at 50c a bottle, or six bottles for $2.50.

CHARTER BOARD

SAYS MAYOR HAS NO PART IN LOW TAX RATE

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The Cambridge Charter association has issued a reply to a local challenge that information be furnished showing that the adoption of a commission charter in other cities has resulted in a decreased tax rate. It says that a low tax rate is not an indication of efficient municipal conduct and in proof instances the reductions in the Cambridge tax rate this year and last, when, the association declares, the efficiency of local administration had no contributory part.

"The real test of the efficiency of commission government," the association declares, "is whether it responds to the demands of the people, whether for retrenchment or expansion or for better moral and physical conditions."

Letters from several prominent citizens of Des Moines are added, testifying to such a result following the adoption of a commission in their city in 1908.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

At the second regular meeting of the Chelmsford board of trade, Thursday evening a large attendance listened to an interesting talk on the provisions of the contract between the town and the Lowell Electric Light company, by Royal Parkinson, representing the Lowell Electric Light company. Carl M. Pihl of Lowell spoke in a humorous vein.

The reports of the several committees were presented, among which was an important recommendation with regard to the odors emanating through existing conditions at the plant of the Whitman & Pratt Rendering Co. The board of directors was instructed to take the necessary steps to have the nuisance abated. The grade crossings and the street railway were also touched upon in the course of the various reports.

The members then went in to consider the principal business of the evening, which was made in the form of a motion that, "It be the sense of the meeting that a five-year contract should be entered into with the Lowell Electric Light Corporation." A general discussion of this important proposition followed in which a large number of the members took part, the general sentiment being expressed that the terms offered by the corporation were not attractive enough to enter into a contract for so long a time.

A Hint to Brown-tail Sufferers

If you happen to be one of our many readers who are suffering the torments of Brown-tail poison, here is welcome news for you.

The best remedy known for Brown-tail poison is Tollotine. Get it at your druggist's today. You will find that the first application will bring relief and the terrible irritation will soon cease. Tollotine is an old reliable New England remedy that has a score of summer uses. There is nothing like it for sunburn, tired aching feet, mosquito and insect bites, etc. In fact, irritation and inflammation of every kind yield to it very quickly.

STOCK MARKET

WAS BUOYANT AT THE CLOSE TODAY

Scarcity of Stocks Made the Shorts Nervous.—General Sentiment Improved by Action of the Market.—The National Biscuit Co. made an Improvement

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—On a light volume of trading prices rose in the stock market today. Canadian Pacific made the best gain, amounting to 1¼. Union Pacific, Reading, N. P., Missouri Pacific and National Biscuit advanced a point, Lehigh Valley and Southern Pacific ¾ and Atchison ⅝. Atchison pfd. moved against the market, losing a point.

Prices made further progress upward but after the list generally had scored advances of from 1 to 1½ the demand dwindled so rapidly that speculation became almost stagnant. National Biscuit advanced 4 points.

The market closed buoyant. The scarcity of stocks, despite the vigorous rise in prices, made the shorts nervous and they bid freely against themselves for large blocks, forcing the list to a much higher level. General sentiment was much improved by the action of the market, but the dealings were largely confined to the professional element. National Biscuit got up 6½. Canadian Pacific 5¼, Federal Mining pfd. 3, Lehigh Valley 2¾, U. P. and Amal. Copper 2⅝, Reading 2⅛ and U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel pfd. and Gt. Northern pfd. 2 points.

FUNERALS

YOUNG—All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Ann Young was tenderly consigned to the final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The cortege left the house of mourning, 163 Crosby street, at 8.30 o'clock, and wended its way to the Sacred Heart church, where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Franklin T. Wood, O. M. I. The sanctuary choir under the direction of Mr. John J. Kelty sang the Gregorian mass. Mr. Kelty presided at the organ.

The bearers were Messrs. Thomas R. Lane, John H. Cull, William Ashworth, Frank Donnelly, William Cowbray and John Halloran.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes laid upon the grave were a mammoth pillow of roses, lilies and ferns, with the inscription "Sister," from the bereaved sisters; large wreath of roses, asters and lilies, sympathy of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powers of Lynn, Mass.; large spray of lilies and palms tied with chiffon ribbon and inscribed "Auntie," sympathy of Mrs. Dolansky of Lynn, also many wreaths and sprays from other friends.

The funeral was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends, including many from New York city, Boston, Hyde Park, Lynn and Gleasondale, Mass.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the last sad rites of the Catholic church were read by Rev. Fr. Wood, O. M. I.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott.

SPARKS—The imposing funeral of the late Mrs. James Sparks took place this morning from her late home, 172 Pleasant street, Dracut and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege left the house at 9 o'clock and wended its way to St. Michael's church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. John Shaw, assisted by the Rev. Francis Mullin and the Rev. Thomas Walsh, the latter pastor of St. Mary's church, Collinsville, as deacon and sub deacon. The choir under the direction of Thomas P. Boulger rendered the Gregorian chant, Miss Margaret Griffin and Mr. Boulger sustaining the solos. The bearers were James H., John T. and George F. Sparks, sons of deceased and William O'Brien.

There was a profusion of rich flowers deposited on the grave as a token of esteem from the relatives and friends of deceased. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by the Rev. Francis Mullin. Funeral arrangements were in charge of B. F. Welch, Undertaker P. H. Savage in charge.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 16.—The directors of the Maine Central railroad have declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent., payable Oct. 1, the dividend representing a reduction from an eight to a six per cent. annual basis, in accordance with the recent announcement made in connection with the doubling of the road's capital.

The Maine Central is controlled by the New York, New Haven & Hartford, through the Boston & Maine holdings.

MANY SALES MADE

Real Estate Dealers Were Kept Quite Busy

The real estate transactions have been numerous in this city during the past month, and a large number of them have been closed through the agencies of Eugene G. Russell and Abel R. Campbell.

Among the most important sales recorded at Mr. Russell's office during the past month are the following: To John R. Sargent, a house lot on Wedge street, on which Mr. Sargent is building; to Auburn Taylor, a lot on Highland avenue, on which the purchaser will build; to Charles A. Morton, a house lot in the district, on which the purchaser will build; to Mrs. Delia McAndrews, a lot near the new St. Margaret's church. Lots were also sold in the Highlands for Abel R. Campbell and Ray S. Byam, for Peter J. Hanson, Herbert Varney and many others.

Report of sales made by Abel R. Campbell for week ending Sept. 15, 1911: A lot of land was sold last week to a well known business man of this city, who purchased for investment. The lot is nicely situated in the Highlands, at the corner of two accepted streets. Full details will be given when deeds are placed on record.

Deeds will be placed on record today, conveying a double house situated at 27-29 Fifth street. The house contains seven rooms and bath to each tenement. This house was purchased by Miss Annie T. Carroll of this city. The grantor in this sale was Mrs. Leroy M. Turner of Florence avenue.

FIRM OWES $703,700

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 16.—The report of the receiver of the late banking firm of Tyler, Fogg and Co. of this city, which has been filed in the supreme court, shows the total indebtness of that firm to be $703,700, of which $227,283 is unsecured. The net assets of the firm are given as $26,987. A summary of the inventory of the assets shows goods and chattels to the amount of $111,725.21.

MAYOR GAYNOR

SAYS WOMEN ARE TOO GOOD FOR MEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—"Most any woman a man happens to meet is too good for him," wrote Mayor Gaynor yesterday, replying to a letter from a resident of Arkansas City, Kan., who had asked the mayor to find him a wife. "Do you not know the proverb that he who goes far away from home for a wife is apt to be fooled? And then again, how could I recommend any good girl here to you? You may not be so attractive as you think you are."

The mayor also answered yesterday a letter from a little girl who complained that when she tried to play on the streets "the police chased her."

"I receive letters daily from men and women who hate to see children play in the streets," wrote Mayor Gaynor, "but on inquiry I always find that they are people who have no children of their own."

A LITTLE NONSENSE

DOWN BELOW.

"So Mr. Lobster is going to run for Congress, eh? Whom has he engaged as his political workers?"

"Why, the Whale brothers. They're the boss spouters."

HIS MISTAKE.

"What's the matter with Bugs that he looks so sour?"

"He got too hungry last night to be particular, and bit an old maid who was at a lawn party."

SAFE.

"Nibble quietly and you can steal their bait."

"But there are a man and girl up there holding the lines."

"Oh! they'll never bother you. I just heard him say for the twentieth time, 'Do you love your tootsie-wootsie?' and she said, 'Yum-yum!'"

QUITE POSSIBLE.

"Why did Mrs. Flamingo refuse to take Mr. Kangaroo into her boarding-house?"

"Why, she was afraid he'd jump his board, I understand."

DEEP DOINGS.

"What's ailing Mr. Trout."

"He suffers from sunstroke."

"Go on! Whoever heard of a fish with a sunstroke?"

"Well, you see, a sunfish bumped into him."

POINT OF VIEW.

"An awfully nice man lives in that house."

"Is that so?"

"Yes; he's a vegetarian."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

PILGRIMS LEAVE ENGLAND

SEPT. 16.—September 16 is the date on which the Pilgrims set sail from Plymouth, England. Escaping from their native land they spent 11 years in Holland but could not reconcile themselves to the customs of the Dutch. Hearing of the colony of Virginia they decided to sail for the new world and religious freedom. Buying the Speedwell and hiring the Mayflower they set sail, but the Speedwell proved unseaworthy and the little band used the Mayflower alone. The "Pilgrim Fathers" with their wives and children numbered 102, one died on the voyage and one was born. The voyage lasted 67 days, and instead of landing in Virginia they "blew" into Cape Cod. They chose Plymouth harbor as a landing place, and Plymouth Rock was given a place in history. If the good old "Fathers" had known the frills that were to be put on by some of their "descendants" it is probable that they would have kept on sailing just to keep a lot of otherwise sane people from making monkeys of themselves.

CIRCULAR ON REQUEST

THE MAINE VOTE

Should be Recounted, Says Gov. Plaisted

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 16.—Belief that the ballots cast at Monday's election may be recounted is entertained by Governor Plaisted. He said last night:

"We want to know how the people of Maine voted, not what some town clerks set down as a wrong record. I don't believe this government is so impotent as to be unable to ascertain how the voters registered their choice. For instance, in precinct 2 of ward 9, Portland, the record was false and the return was false. It is claimed there were 59 more ballots deposited there than the returns show.

"I believe there is plenty of law to allow these to be recounted. This is one case where a recount should be made."

Gov. Plaisted has called a special meeting of the council for Monday at 4 p. m. The official returns, all of which have been received except from six places, will be opened and canvassed.

The figures of Secretary of State Davis were completed today, when the clerk's return from the city of Old Town was received. Last night Mr. Davis announced that the majority for repeal was 136. His compilations showed the vote to have been as follows: For repeal, 60,514; against 60,378.

Unofficial figures received in Portland show no change from a majority against repeal of 369 votes.

SPECIAL SESSION

OF THE MAINE LEGISLATURE MAY BE CALLED

AUGUSTA Me., Sept. 18.—There appears to be reason to believe that Governor Plaisted may call a special session of the legislature to receive the returns from last Monday's special election and in the opinion of some of the final decision as to whether or not prohibition is retained in the constitution may not be settled until that time.

Chaper 35 of the resolves of 1911, under the terms of which the question was placed before the people, provides in part:

"—lists of votes so received shall be made and returned to the secretary of state in the same manner as votes for governor and members of the legislature and the governor and council shall count the same and make return to the legislature and if a majority of the votes are in favor of said amendment the constitution shall be amended acordingly."

In the case of the other constitutional amendments which were voted upon at the special election the resolves read, in each case; that the governor and council shall make returns to the "next" legislature and if it shall "appear" that a majority or voters are in favor.

It is pointed out in these latter instances that the word next appears before legislature while chapter 35 does not designate any particular legislature.

It is also contended that Governor Plaisted might well base his expressed belief in the possibility of a recount on the wording of this chapter, because of the use of the words "if a majority of the voters are in favor." This, it is declared, indicates that the framers of the resolve intended to constitute the legislature a board of review of the ballots themselves, if necessity for such a recount arose.

Gov. Plaisted is the sole judge of what constitutes an occasion that is sufficiently extraordinary to warrant the convening of the legislature in special session. If he believes the situation demands immediate action he can call the members and officers together by telegraph and have the machinery of state working within a week. He has declined as yet to make a statement as to his probable course of action, stating that he preferred to await for the occasion to arise before making his decision.

Major Charles House, who tabulated and made the computations of the state house returns for 13 consecutive elections, is authority for the statement that the clerks returns and the official returns to the governor and council almost always vary by 100 or more votes but such mistakes have never been so vital before.

The use of the Morey ballot booths was supposed to be universal throughout the state in the election Monday, but it has been found that some town officials were not conversant with the law in the case and so the booths were not used. Attorneys who have expressed an opinion on the subject generally agree that the failure to comply with this law does not disfranchise the voters.

EXCUSE ME!

MORRIS WAS DEFEATED

Jim Flynn Proved Too Much for the "White Hope"

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, fought a winning bout 10 hot rounds with Carl Morris, the big heavyweight of Oklahoma, in Madison Square Garden last night. At the end, the Oklahoma man's face was badly battered, while Flynn was unmarked save for a lump over the left eye.

As a possible "white hope" for championship class recognition, Morris is now considered a failure. He had the advantage of nearly 50 pounds in weight and five inches in height, but he failed to daze Flynn at any stage.

Morris really had only one round, the third. In all the others, Flynn was his master in ring work.

In the infighting Flynn's left hooks and jabs soon set the blood flowing, and at all times he was willing to take punishment to send back worse than he got.

Morris landed many hard lefts and rights in every round, but Flynn seemed to be impervious to them.

It was the bloodiest fight ever seen in this city and many of the spectators were astonished at the stamina of both men and the wonderfully fast pace maintained through the half score of rounds. There was no denying the verdict of the onlookers as to who had won, for Flynn was cheered vociferously as he followed his seconds to the dressing room after the bout.

The Battle by Rounds

Round 1—Morris led for head, but missed. Morris was cautioned for holding. Morris sent in a right uppercut and Flynn hooked left to body. The big man once again drove Flynn to the ropes, but Flynn came back with lefts to the jaw. They clinched frequently, but Flynn put right and left to body, with Morris throwing his weight on him. Flynn's left hand hooks drew the blood from Morris' mouth. Morris in all landed three right-hand uppercuts before the bell.

Round 2—They went to close quarters at once, with Flynn uppercutting with lefts on body and neck. Morris sent right and left to body. Flynn tried right swing and slipped to floor. He slipped again the same way, and then they fought at close quarters, with Flynn keeping his left working up to the face. Morris' right eye was closed at the bell.

Round 3—Morris landed four short rights to head without a return. Then Flynn forced the big fellow to his knees with left and right to body and a right over to the jaw. Flynn kept working in to the body with both hands and Morris sent back three short right hand punches to head. Morris forced Flynn to the ropes at the bell.

Round 4—Flynn, at close quarters, kept digging both hands to the body and got over a right hook to the left eye. Morris laid on the smaller man, fighting hard for the body and neck. Flynn, with a left hook and right upper cut, opened a gash over the right eye. Morris forced Flynn around with his weight and Flynn was bleeding from the mouth at the bell. Morris' face was marked up and he bled profusely.

Round 5—Morris put four lefts and rights to the head, but Flynn hooked and uppercut on the body and head with good effect. Flynn drove two straight lefts to the nose. Morris held and Flynn fell in close. He drove Morris back with two lefts and a right to the face. Flynn had Morris bleeding freely at the call of time.

Round 6—Flynn kept tearing at the face with left uppercuts and just missed a right swing for the jaw. Morris landed heavy short-arm blows on body and head. Then Flynn opened up and took an awful right wallop in order to get in a hard left hook. Both of Morris' eyes were almost closed when he went to his corner.

Round 7—The men fought at close range again and Flynn took a lot of punishment in order to get in his hooks. Both men were covered with blood from Morris' face. Flynn let Morris beat him on the head and face, but sent back some facers with both hands. Both men were weak at the bell.

Round 9—Both tried long-range work with little effect, but soon resumed the infighting. Morris jabbed his right and Flynn hooked his left to the head, being willing to take a punch in order to send one back. They were fighting hard at the bell.

Round 10—After shaking hands they exchanged heavy body blows. Flynn sent his right to the jaw and Morris clinched. Flynn forced matters, landing two left-hand uppercuts. Morris was hanging on, using his weight, but Flynn kept boring in, hooking hard lefts. The men were locked in a hard mix-up when the gong ended the bout.

The popular opinion was that Flynn had won handily, and, considering the difference in size and weight, had fought a wonderfully clever battle. Morris' face was badly cut and battered, while Flynn only showed a bump over the left eye. Flynn was loudly cheered as he left the ring.

162 MARKET STREET, LOWELL, MASS.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL ESTATE AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Wednesday, Sept. 20, 1911, at 3 P. M.

One 2-tenement house, Nos. 88 and 90 Perry street. Two one-family houses, Nos. 94 and 102 Perry street and nine lots of land adjoining, all situated on Perry street and two lots of land on Concord street.

To settle the estate of the late E. A. Smith, I shall sell at public auction to the person who will bid the highest, the following described real estate: Lot No. 1 consists of a 2 1-2 story, 2-tenement slate roof house and 3000 square feet of land with a frontage of 50 feet on Perry street. There are two tenements, 4 rooms downstairs and 4 rooms and two attic rooms upstairs. Each has city water, gas separate toilets, separate front and back entrances and rents for $17 per month. Has concrete walks and the buildings are in good condition. All you need would be a little paint.

Lots Nos. 2 and 3 consist of two one-family houses, being Nos. 94 and 102 Perry street. Each house is 2 1-2 stories, slated roofs, of 8 rooms each and two attics, and about 3000 feet of land, with a frontage of 50 feet, very conveniently arranged, has city water, gas, good sewerage, has concrete walks and rents for $13 per month each. The present tenants have been in the tenement nine years and want to stay.

Lots 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, are lots adjoining Lot No. 3 on Perry street and contain from 3000 to 3400 square feet each, having a 50 foot frontage. Lots Nos. 13 and 14 are situated on Concord street and contain 2400 square feet 40x60 and 4950 square feet, 55x90. This property is situated within 10 minutes' walk of the centre of the city, close to many workshops and mills so that it ought to appeal to any person who wants a home that is all built, or a piece of land that you could build on to suit your own taste. Don't fail to attend this sale as you may lose your opportunity.

Terms of sale: $200 in cash must be paid as a deposit to the auctioneer on each of the lots, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 as soon as they are struck off; $50 in cash on each of the lots of land.

Per order H. P. BEALS, and D. H. DEWAR, Trustees.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY, TUESDAY, SEPT. 19, 1911, AT 2 O'CLOCK P. M., AT THE KOLAS FARM ON THE LITTLETON ROAD, CHELMSFORD, MASS.

To reach the sale take the Littleton road from Chelmsford Centre.

I shall sell without limit at public auction 18 young cows, one bull and one horse; 18 young cows that are in various stages of milk, some that are fresh and others that are soon to come in. One bull and one chestnut horse, that is a good worker and driver. This is a very nice lot of cows that are young, extra good milkers and good size. Come and look them over.

Terms—Cash.

Manchester Unity Lodge, I. O. O. F., M. U., and Its History

Merrimack Valley Lodge 7196, I. O. O. F. M. U. was Instituted Oct. 20, 1892 in what was then Manchester Unity hall on Central street. There were 87 charter members, the initiation work being performed by degree staff of Excelsior lodge. Merrimack Valley lodge was the last of the Manchester Unity lodges instituted in this city and it has since its inception given the older lodges a hard race for supremacy, having now 250 members and a cash balance of over $4000 deposited in local banks. Of the original charter members only 11 remain, the other members having died or removed from the city. The remaining charter members are William H. Holgate, James R. Greenwood, William Hodgson, Frank Wilkinson, Wm. H. Wilkinson, Douglas Firth, Charles Hills, A. W. Black, W. G. Porter, William Haslam, Alexander Mack. The first board of officers were as follows: William Holgate, N. G., T. F. Hourihan, V. G., Jas. R. Greenwood, secretary, Thomas Steel, treasurer.

The lodge early removed from Central street to the old Odd Fellows hall, Merrimack street where the meetings were held until the fire of Jan. 1904, which seriously damaged the building. Quite a loss was sustained by this fire, all the regalias and degree paraphernalia being destroyed. Temporary quarters were obtained in other halls until the building was repaired, when meetings were resumed at the old quarters which have since been the lodge home.

Although a number of the members have removed from the city since joining, the majority of them retain their interest and membership in the lodge and at the present time there are members in Florida, Maine, Rhode Island, Canada, Washington and other parts of the country who still keep their membership.

The following members are past grands of the lodge:

WILLIAM HOLGATE,
JAMES R. GREENWOOD
A. GORDON
F. E. ONGLEY
A. W. BLACK
CHAS. W. CULLUM
FRANK WILKINSON

J. R. McLEAN
EDGAR W. DERMAN
J. E. BUCHANAN
V. J. MASON
CHARLES T. NEILD
WILLIAM HOWARTH
M. K. JOHNSON
JAMES EVERETT

During the 19 years of the lodge's existence, $2300 has been paid out for funeral claims, of which $600 was for the loss by death, of member's wives. The sum of $7377 has been disbursed to sick brothers and $2475 paid to the district office for levies on account of deaths of members.

The present board of officers are:

JAMES EVERETT, G. M.
J. E. RICHARDSON, N. G.
FRED PRESTON, V. G.
ARTHUR JUDD, Rec. Sec.
FRED CHAPMAN, P. S.
EDWARD FIELDING, Treas.
C. W. CULLUM, F. WALKER, W. BOSTWICK, trustees.

The regular meetings of the lodge are held on the first and third Fridays of the month in Grafton hall, Old Odd Fellows hall on Merrimack street.

On Friday evening, Oct. 20th, just 19 years since the inception of the lodge, the anniversary will be observed by a ladies' night and elaborate arrangements are being made to have the occasion a memorable one in the annals of the organization.

Mr. George W. Ingalls, the past secretary of the lodge, retired at the last election after serving as such in a faithful way for 11 consecutive years, and it was with deep sorrow that the members of the organization agreed to accept his resignation.
